COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1945. 136th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 29. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 14, 1945. No. 29.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, March 14, 1945.

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock a. m., Eastern War Time.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (John M. Walker) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

O Thou who inhabitest eternity and who hast planted eternity in our hearts, enable us to take the long view that we may see our lives not limited by the few years of our earthly existence, but as co-existent with Thee. We are the children of a day, but we are the heirs of eternity. May we not lose our heritage through indifference or unbelief.

We pray Thee to inspire us with the desire to serve God and our fellow-men, and for the strength and courage that will cause desire to be expressed in righteous conduct and Christly deeds.

To the men of this legislative body, called by the people to serve the interests of the state, grant the long view that they may see beyond the immediate present to the horizons of the future and work with Thee to bring in the kingdom wherein dwelleth righteousness. Let no bigotry, no intolerance, no narrow-mindedness, no hatred be in our hearts.

A special prayer we now offer for the President, the Governor and the Lieutenant-Governor. The Lord bless them and equip them to meet all responsibilities with honor to God and to themselves.

In the name of Christ our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. MALLERY, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

SUMMARY REPORT OF THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY, 1943-1945

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate Summary Report of the Joint State Government Commission to the General Assembly, 1943-1945, receipt of which was noted in the Legislative Journal.

Mr. EALY. I have been asked to submit a report of the Joint State Government Commission.

I herewith submit to the Senate the Biennial Report of the Joint State Government Commission for the biennium 1943-45. This report is in summary form, as the individual reports of the several committees of the Commission are being submitted separately as they become available. However, I believe that it will be of value to the Members of the General Assembly to comment briefly upon the contents of this report.

The Commission was charged with the study of seven subjects:

Taxes
Strip Mining
Municipal Authorities
Legislative Apportionment
Unemployment Compensation Benefits
State-Local Sharing of Liquid Fuel Taxes
Penal Code, Juvenile Delinquency and Penal Institutions

Each of these studies entailed considerable investigation and study. Much time was contributed by the members of the several committees of the Commission to complete the studies and make recommendations. By examination of this report it will be obvious that the Committee on Continuation of the Tax Study has made no recommendations because it had not completed the study of considerable basic data until January of this year and it also desired to await proposals from an independent citizens' group known as the Tax Advisory Committee. These proposals reached the Committee only the latter part of January of this year and therefore did not afford the Tax Committee an opportunity to give it any study. However, if the Tax Committee of the Commission should be continued, it will proceed immediately to undertake the study of the proposals. In the meantime, it is urged that the Members of the Senate study the summary of proposals of this independent Tax Advisory Committee as contained in this report and the full report to be released shortly and then make its opinions and views available to the Joint State Government Commission for reference to the Tax Committee should it be authorized to proceed further with the study of the State tax structure.

The other six subjects, Strip Mining, Municipal Authorities, and so forth, are all vital to the welfare of the Commonwealth. They are subjects of current importance and interest. The subjects were carefully studied by the respective committees of the Commission and I am sure that you will concur from a reading of the report of the Commission that much time and study has been given by the committees to the studies with which they were charged.

You will find at the end of each of the "review of activities" of each of the committees, the recommendations made by the committees, and the list of bills drafted to incorporate the proposals, and introduced. The individual reports of the several committees of the Commission are also being drafted and some have either reached the members already or will in the very near future. However, the summaries of the reports appear in this report of the Commission handed you today.

I trust that this report will, in your opinion, justify the existence of the Joint State Government Commission and that ample financial provision will be made to continue its work, so that in the interim between legislative sessions the Members of the General Assembly can be afforded an opportunity to give impartial and full study to the many problems confronting the Commonwealth. For I believe that through an interim legislative fact-finding commission of this kind, the members of the General Assembly can better study and consider fully many of the urgent problems requiring solution, and make recommendations and submit legislation to the General Assembly when it convenes in Session.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. EDMONDS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, this bill provides for the extension of the Educational Commission, whose reports have already been placed on our desk—we have received three of them and I think we have recognized that the committee has done its work with a great deal of skill and with a great deal of patriotism.

Now the proposition is that the commission should be continued for two years, with an appropriation of $50,000, and it seems to me that those of us who have profited by their study can not do more than ask for more along the same lines.

I therefore present this bill in the hope it will appeal to the Senate.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BECKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BECKER. Lebanon County, Pennsylvania, is one of five counties that has never been obliged to ask for aid for a distressed school district. It so happens that I also, in connection with Senator Homsher, represent a part of Lancaster County, and Lancaster County is one of five counties in Pennsylvania that has never been obliged to ask for such aid for a distressed school district.

In behalf of Senator Homsher and myself I offer the following resolution.

RESOLUTIONS

URGING THE DEPARTMENT OF PROPERTY AND SUPPLIES NOT TO REVIEW APPLICATIONS FOR SPECIAL AID AFTER THE FIRST MONDAY OF JULY FROM THE SCHOOL DISTRICTS

Messrs. BECKER and HOMSHER offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Education:

In the Senate, March 14, 1945.

Whereas, Because of economic conditions existing in a number of school districts, it has become necessary for the Commonwealth to provide additional financial assistance and to make appropriations for this purpose; and

Whereas, It is important that the money so appropriated shall be distributed among only the school districts where there is an actual need for such assistance and that the moneys appropriated be allocated in such amounts as will most equitably meet the actual needs of these school districts; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly hereby directs the Department of Public Instruction not to review applications for special aid after the first Monday of July, one thousand nine hundred forty-five, unless the petitioning school district submits evidence showing that the petitioning district has levied a school tax at the maximum rate permitted under the law, but not in any case to exceed thirty-five mills, upon the taxable real property in the district, and the maximum school per capita tax permitted by law upon every taxable inhabitant of the district; and that the General Assembly hereby directs the Department of Public Instruction not to pay any special aid moneys to any school district unless the district gives evidence satisfactory to the Department that it has enforced the collection of per capita school taxes in accordance with all the provisions of existing law; and be it further

Resolved, That the General Assembly hereby directs the Department of Public Instruction to investigate all school districts whose financial condition warrants special attention and consideration. The financial condition of a school district shall be presumed to warrant special attention if, and when, upon termination of any school year the district's temporary loans, including book credits, exceed twenty per centum of the district's tax collection for that year. However, the Superintendent of Public Instruction may authorize an investigation of any school district even though the above presumption is not established if in his judgment such an investigation is necessary or desirable.

Upon completion of the investigation of any school district, the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall submit the findings of such investigation together with his recommendations regarding changes in finance and tax practice, curricula, and teaching and supervisory staffs of the Board of School Directors of the district concerned.

Failure of any school district to act in accordance with the recommendations of the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall make it mandatory upon the Superintendent to refuse the district any grants from any appropriation made for special aid.

TIME EXTENDED FOR THE REPORT OF THE JOINT LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE TO STUDY THE NECESSITY FOR A NEW GOVERNOR'S MANSION

Mr. TALLMAN offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, March 14, 1945.

Whereas, By Resolution No. 2, Serial No. 4, Printer's No. 5, of the General Assembly, a Committee was created to study the matter of a new Executive Mansion, and inasmuch as the Committee has been unable to complete its work, therefore be it Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), that the time for reporting be extended to April 4, 1945.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

URGING MAY FIRST AS AMERICANISM DAY

Mr. BOWERS offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, March 14, 1945.

For many years this country and the world-at-large has observed May first as May Day, and at different places the observance has been marked by various kinds of celebrations.

At times these celebrations have resulted in demonstrations against organized government.

In 1932 the American Legion in Fayette County inaugurated a new kind of observance of the day by staging a parade of Americanism which has grown each year into an event of first importance.

The participation in the celebration of this day by patriotic societies, veterans' organizations, and other organizations, cannot help but make it throughout the Commonwealth a day to awaken new pride in our American institutions; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania urges the setting aside of May first as Americanism Day, and urges upon all patriotic veteran, fraternal and civic organizations the planning of its celebration in such a manner as will bring to the people of the Commonwealth a full realization of the benefits and privileges and blessings that come to them through the continuance of our American form of government; and be it further

Resolved, That the Governor of the Commonwealth is hereby urged to issue his proclamation further urging the people of the Commonwealth to join in a real American celebration of Americanism Day.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

URGING CONGRESS TO PASS "VETERANS READJUSTMENT ACT OF 1945"

Messrs. DENT and McCREESH offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, March 14, 1945.

Whereas, The tide of victory on the far flung battle fronts of the world brings hope of an early termination of hostilities, and

Whereas, The end of the war will present to our United States, its government, its industries, its laboring people, complex problems of readjustment and reconversion, and

Whereas, In this period of transition, with its dislocation of business, resettlement of workers and readjustment of returning veterans, will result in a lack of immediate employment opportunity to millions of returning veterans; now therefore be it

Resolved, That it is the sense of this Senate that we memorialize the Congress of the United States, to pass a "Veterans Readjustment Act of 1945" to provide a continuation of pay to returning veterans, as a matter of right, for a period up to twelve months, to aid in the trying period of readjustment; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the President, to the Senate and to the House of Representatives at Washington, D. C.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. LEVY. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 39.

In the House of Representatives, March 12, 1945.

Whereas, in certain areas in counties, cities and other municipalities and incorporated districts, boroughs and townships of this Commonwealth there exist insanitary and substandard housing conditions owing to overcrowding and concentration of the population, improper planning, excessive land coverage, lack of proper light, air and space, insanitary design and arrangement, or lack of proper sanitary facilities; that these conditions are chiefly in areas where low rent dwellings prevail and that such conditions and dwellings are a menace to the health, safety, morale, welfare, and reasonable comfort of the citizens of this state; that there is not an adequate supply of adequate, safe, and sanitary dwelling accommodations for persons of low income; that these conditions cause an increase and spread of disease and crime and constitute a menace to the health, safety, morale, welfare, and comfort of the citizens of this State; that these conditions inflict blight upon the economic value of large areas, impair private investments and the source of public revenues; that all of these conditions have become intensified and aggravated by the present war which has caused an influx of people to our larger congested areas, while at the same time causing a cessation of new construction for housing; that these conditions cannot be remedied by the ordinary operation of private enterprise, but require government participation on Federal, State and local levels; that these conditions require that provisions be made for the investment of public and private funds at low interest rates in low rent housing and the acquisition at fair prices of adequate parcels of property, the gradual demolition of existing insanitary and unsafe housing and the construction of new housing facilities, under public supervision in accord with proper standards of sanitation and safety and at a cost which will permit monthly rentals which persons of low income can afford to pay; that loans and subsidies by the State and its subdivisions are necessary for such purposes; that the clearance, replanning, reconstruction and rehabilitation of substandard and insanitary areas or the providing of adequate, safe and sanitary low rent housing accommodations in these areas and elsewhere for persons and families of low income, or both of these, are public uses and purposes for which public money may be spent and private property acquired; and

Whereas, it is in consonance with the great democratic traditions of this Commonwealth and its Constitution and of the democratic principles for which Americans are at present shedding their blood overseas, for this General Assembly to state that it is its fixed legislative policy to guarantee the right of every Pennsylvania family to a safe and decent home, and that since the building of homes necessary to realize this guarantee will provide jobs to Pennsylvanians which in turn will help to realize a goal of full employment and domestic tranquility in Pennsylvania in the post war period; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concurs), That the Senate and House of Representatives, in the name of the people of Pennsylvania, do hereby memorialize the Congress of the United States of America and urge it to allocate for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, its counties, cities and other municipalities and incorporated districts, boroughs and townships, from any and all funds that the Congress may hereafter appropriate for low cost, low rent public housing and for the demolition of existing, unsafe housing, adequate funds to help realize the goal of full employment in Pennsylvania and a decent safe home for every Pennsylvania family. This General Assembly pledges its full support and cooperation to the Congress and all Federal, and State government agencies and instrumentalities engaged in administering this important work; that it will accept all Federal funds so allocated, supplement such funds with State and other local funds, and put such funds to work to provide a minimum of 35,000 new low cost, low rent homes annually and otherwise carry out the purpose and ends herein recited; and be it further

Resolved, That the Governor be requested to join in this memorialization to the United States Congress; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be presented on behalf of the people of Pennsylvania to the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, to the President of the United States Senate, to President Franklin Delano Roosecelt, to the Director of the Federal Housing Agency, and to all Chairmen of local housing authorities; and be it finally

Resolved, That the members of the Pennsylvania delegation in the United States Congress all receive copies of this resolution and they are hereby memorialized to lend their efforts towards the obtaining of Federal appropriations of adequate funds to carry out the purposes and ends recited in this resolution.

Referred to the Committee on State Government.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. It gives me pleasure to submit to the House of Representatives the Biennial Report of the Joint State Government Commission for the biennium 1943-45. This report is in summary form as the individual reports of the several committees of the Commission are being submitted separately as they become available. However, I believe that it will be of value to the Members of the General Assembly to comment briefly upon the contents of the report.

The Commission was charged with the study of seven subjects:

Taxes
Strip Mining
Municipal Authorities
Legislative Apportionment
Unemployment Compensation Benefits
State-Local Sharing of Liquid Fuel Taxes
Penal Code, Juvenile Delinquency and Penal Institutions

Each one of these studies entailed considerable investigation and study. Much time was contributed by the members of the several committees of the Commission to complete the studies and make recommendations. If you will examine this report you will find that each committee has completed its work, made its recommendations, and had legislation drafted for introduction, with the exception of one committee, and that is the Committee on Continuation of the Tax Study. Before the Tax Committee would be in a position to make recommendations it was necessary to prepare, assemble and submit in the form of reports, a considerable amount of basic data. This was not completed until January of this year and it was necessary to wait until it would receive recommendations from an independent group of citizens, many of whom are tax experts, who are also studying the tax structure of the Commonwealth and is known as the Tax Advisory Committee. The recommendations of the Tax Advisory Committee did not reach the Tax Committee of the Commission until the latter part of January and therefore the Committee on Continuation of the Tax Study of the Commission has requested that it be continued in its study.

I urge the members of the General Assembly to go through this report because it presents considerable valuable data, not only from the Tax Advisory Committee, but from all the committees of the Commission, and sets forth this data in clear and simple language. A full report containing proposals of the independent Tax Advisory Committee will be submitted later. It is my humble opinion that the Joint State Government Commission has justified its existence, and I might say, should be furnished with sufficient funds so that the excellent work it is doing will be continued and expanded.

(Signed) IRA T. FISS, Chairman, Joint State Government Commission of the General Assembly.

The SPEAKER. The report will be noted in the Journals of the House and printed in the Appendix to the Legislative Journal.

SENATE MESSAGE

The Clerk of the Senate, Mr. Steinfeld, being introduced, presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate which were laid on the table.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. O'Connor, to preside during the first reading calendar.

MR. O'CONNOR IN THE CHAIR

ABSENCE FROM HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to absent myself from the Hall of the House for a brief period. If during that time any matters should come up that require the attention of the Minority Leader I ask the Chair to recognize the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen.

The SPEAKER Pro Tempore. The request of the gentleman from Cambria will be granted.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 283, entitled:

An Act to add clause XLVIII to section one thousand five hundred two of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 1206) entitled "An act concerning townships of the first class amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" authorizing purchase of real property and construction of garbage disposal plants.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on first reading?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER Pro Tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, is House Bill No. 283, Printer's No. 257, on file?

The SPEAKER Pro Tempore. The Chair is advised that there is an understanding between the Minority and the Majority Floor Leaders that first reading bills not amended are to be considered even though they are not on file.

The Chair further advises the gentleman from Philadelphia. The objection should have been raised before the Minority Floor Leader left the floor of the House.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER Pro Tempore. The Chair would inquire whether there are any objections to the consideration of the first reading bills at this time?

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. I object, Mr. Speaker. I am a Member of the House and I want to know about these agreements. Are the bills on first reading on file?

The SPEAKER Pro Tempore. If the gentleman from Allegheny had been paying attention he would have heard the Chair announce that they were not. We are proceeding under the agreement between the Floor Leaders.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, do you have to have unanimous consent to pass these bills on first reading?

The SPEAKER Pro Tempore. You do not.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Unless they are on file?

The SPEAKER Pro Tempore. For the information of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Heatherington, as well as the information of the other Members of the House, the Chair states that the bills on first reading, pages one to seven inclusive of today's calendar, are not on file on the desks of the Members. However, these bills are in print in pink. In considering these bills at this time we are keeping within the provisions of our Constitution and the rules of this House.

The Chair is about to resume today's calendar, if there is no objection.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, I understand and I know that these bills are not in print. That is on account of the situation of the printing, is that right?

The SPEAKER Pro Tempore. That is correct so far as the white bills are concerned. However, the bills are printed in pink.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Well, Mr. Speaker, is this just for today or is this going to go on every Wednesday from now until the end of the Session?

The SPEAKER Pro Tempore. I believe that will depend upon the attitude of the gentleman from Allegheny and the Members of the House.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Or do you think it depends on the Printer, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER Pro Tempore. The Chair will state for the information of the gentleman from Allegheny and the Members of the House that if we hope to have Wednesday sessions before noon it will be necessary to follow the established procedure of this House. Otherwise we will have to wait until the afternoon to have these bills filed, and we will then be drifting into a Thursday session before they are filed.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. The only reason I ask that question, Mr. Speaker, is, if I thought there was going to be an agreement on account of the printing situation and they were going to push through these bills on first reading, we could all go home on Wednesday and just leave the Floor leaders right here and let them push them over.

INTERROGATION

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. For the gentleman's information, I am referring to House Bill 5 which appears on page 12 of today's calendar, and I should like to ask the gentleman if he knows whether or not the appearance of the bill on the calendar on second reading, probably in faster time than any bill on second reading on the calendar in this session, has any implication of unanimous support by the other side when the bill comes up for third reading?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I have no information and no indication whatsoever.

Mr. COHEN. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. James.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JAMES. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, in addition to the question propounded to Mr. Lichtenwalter, can the gentleman from Delaware tell me whether or not he has any information which might indicate unanimity of support for the bill when it comes up for third reading?

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I very naturally would not have information that the bill will be supported unanimously. I hope it will.

Mr. COHEN. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection Senate Bill No. 243, Printer's No. 113, was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I am merely calling the attention of the House to the fact that had we chosen to take that position, House Bill 5 could have been defeated on second reading today, because you do not have a constitutional majority, and you could not have passed House Bill 5 on second reading.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I am at a loss to know why the question should arise at this time on House Bill 5. I have to assume that House Bill 5 is connected in the minds of a great many of the members of the House with the bill which we dealt with yesterday, House Bill 726. Both bills are related to the Philadelphia wage tax situation. The question of who will and who will not support either one of these bills I think will have to be left to the time when they are up for third reading and final passage.

However, I think I ought to make my own position clear. I most certainly have not receded from the position I originally took on House Bill 726. I do not want any misunderstanding about that. I am not receding from the position I originally took with respect to House Bill 5. I can support both of these bills and intend to, because they do different things. While they both have an effect on the wage tax as levied in Philadelphia, nevertheless both these bills have merit that are not related between the two bills. I want it clearly understood that I am supporting both these bills.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the reason the point was raised at this time was that there seems to have been an impression in various quarters that House Bill 5 appears upon the calendar as the result of some exceedingly clever, cute parliamentary maneuvers, and I just wanted to call the attention of the House to the fact that if House Bill 5 had been placed upon the calendar as the result of a clever parliamentary maneuver, that we could have knocked House Bill 5 off the calendar today.

L. 504) entitled "An act to ascertain and appoint the fees to be received by the several prothonotaries of the courts of common pleas of the Commonwealth in counties having a population of less than one hundred fifty thousand and to provide the time for paying the same"

All other acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to call the attention of the Members of the House to the fact that there are five bills on the calendar today which affect seventh class counties and each one of those bills is a salary raiser or a fee raiser. In other words, the bill that we just passed raises the salary or the payment to the auditor from five dollars to seven dollars per day, which is a thirty-three percent increase. The next bill is also a salary raiser or a fee raiser.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. DIX. Can I speak on this bill, House Bill No. 340, and also House bills 607 and 608 at the present time?

The SPEAKER. That may only be done by unanimous consent of the House.

Mr. DIX. I would like to ask unanimous consent of the House, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to the gentleman to speak on the related bills?

Is there objection?

The Chair hears none and consent is granted.

Mr. DIX. I do not wish to debate these bills, Mr. Speaker, I simply wish to call to the attention of the Members of the House that every one of these bills is a salary raiser or fee raiser, and some of them, as I said before, raise the fees or salaries thirty-three and one-third percent.

It seems to me that at the present time it is unfair to increase these salaries to such an extent. I know that I have no requests from my county from the Prothonotary, from the Clerk of Courts of the Auditor or anybody else for an increase in fees or compensation. The compensation of some of those officials in the court house is perfectly satisfactory to them, and I cannot understand why bills of this kind should be brought in at the present time. All I wish to do is call the attention of the Members of the House to these bills on the calendar, that they all affect seventh class counties, and each one increases fees or salaries.

Mr. BARTON. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 332 provides the same fees for Prothonotaries in the fifth, sixth and seventh class counties as they now receive in the fourth class counties. Now, I have seen the county officials, commissioners, sheriffs, district attorneys and a lot of other county officials have their salaries as much as doubled in the last several years while the Prothonotary has received no increase. I live in a seventh class county, and the Prothonotary scarcely makes enough to live on. He has received no increase, and this bill makes a very small increase for the Prothonotaries of these counties, and while it is a fee raiser, the fee is so small and the Prothonotaries are deserving of it, and I ask the Members of this House to go along and give the Prothonotaries a small increase, as they have done for most of the other county officers.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 607, as follows:

An Act to amend section seven of the act approved the second day of April one thousand eight hundred sixty-eight (P. L. 3) entitled "An act to ascertain and appoint the fees to be received by the several officers of this Commonwealth" by changing the fees of Register of Wills

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill, or rather to have the sponsor of House Bill 607, Printer's No. 234, tell what changes are made in the present setup and why the changes are made and whether the changes that have been made are equitable and in line with themselves.

Mr. BRICE. Mr. Speaker, to the best of my knowledge I will. According to the information I received, this law of 1868 is outmoded very far. In the Clerk of Court's office and the Registrar of Wills and some of those places they have not been getting enough to keep them going. Now, in order to meet the requirements of today and the expenses of today it is our idea that this be changed and they be given an increase, and while some are increased and some are not increased, yet they claim they cannot keep their offices up to date if they do not get this increase.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like particularly to inquire what the significance is of the schedule on page 3 of the bill:

"Accounts Filing advertising and recording accounts of executors administrators guardians and trustees including transmission of same to orphans' court and confirmation:

First page, double space	$10.00
And for each additional page	.50
First page single space	10.00
And each additional page	1.00"

I would like to inquire what those charges involve, Mr. Speaker, what the difference is between the first page and the other pages, and the difference between single page and double page and who gets the $10.

Mr. BRICE. Mr. Speaker, that is a long question that the gentleman has put to me here, but it is the routine collection and has been the routine of collection, and inasmuch as I did not write this bill of course I wouldn't know exactly, but it has been the routine method of collection. I suppose it is the same, as I understand, but they want an increase in rates for collection. This double space and single space, that has been their routine, and that is all I know about it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman be averse to having the two bills go over until he has been more accurately informed as to their import.

Mr. BRICE. I will let it go over, Mr. Speaker, it is all right with me.

REPORT OF ST. PATRICK'S DAY COMMITTEE

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, because we are inclined to measure the passage of time here in the House by weeks rather than days, I thought I would like to remind the Members of the House before they overlook the 17th of March that that date marks the anniversary on which many, many, of our people celebrate joyously and in pleasant ways.

The 17th day of March is the day on which our people traditionally plant the first peas, and so a committee has been formed in the House to properly celebrate the date on which we traditionally plant the first peas in Pennsylvania.

A great banquet will be held on the 20th of March to celebrate this traditional festival because we will not be here on the 17th. We expect to have entertainers of note to make it very well worth your while to cough up the six bucks that will be necessary to be in attendance on that occasion, but I am sure, knowing what the committee has planned, that you will never, never regret the loss or the giving away of that six dollars. Tickets are available in the House; many Members are on the committee,—you probably know them. I want to advise you to get your tickets early because they are running out.

Mr. Speaker, I forgot to mention also that the 17th of March is St. Patrick's birthday.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Mr. BAKER offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 14, 1945.

On March 14, 1901 a great Arab was added to the population of good old Basin Alley in the Hill District of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

There was a lot of excitement that day, the Irish, Italians, Syrians and Jews all ran to help Mrs. Sarraf give birth to a baby boy whom she named George.

George later grew, as most children do, and graduated from the Fifth Avenue High School in the city of Pittsburg. He later attended the University of Pittsburgh as a pre-medical student and graduated from the same University eight years later with a degree of Doctor of Medicine.

The now Dr. Sarraf, worked his way through college as a cab driver in Pittsburgh, and as an all-round athlete at the University where he starred in all sports.

He entered the first World War as a buck private and is now a Captain in the Medical Corps of a United States Infantry Division stationed at Camp Hood, Texas; therefore be it, Resolved, By this House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that as a tribute to one of our esteemed colleagues on his birthday, the Chief Clerk of this House is directed to forward a copy of this resolution to Captain Sarraf, at Camp Hood, Texas.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TURNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I am reminded by this resolution that I am derelict in a duty. I received a letter from Doctor Sarraf during the past week from down in Texas in which he asked me to be remembered to all the Members of the House. It was a very interesting letter in reference to the medical work that was going on, and I am sorry that I do not have it at hand to read it to the Members. I do feel that Doc charged me with the duty of remembering him to the House, and I take this occasion to do so.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I hesitate to offend a rule or rather a custom we have been following to ask for immediate consideration of resolutions which are not in the privileged class, but I ask it in this case for two reasons: one is that it has to do with service men and I believe the other night we passed a resolution according immediate consideration to a resolution referring to service men.

Second, the Senate today by unanimous action approved an identical resolution.

I, therefore, offer the following resolution and ask that it be read for the information of the House, and ask for unanimous consent to have it considered at this time.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent for the resolution to be read and for immediate consideration? Is there objection?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia spoke to me about the resolution and said it was a nonprivileged resolution. I requested at that time that it be filed in the usual way. Therefore, I object.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objection and consent is not granted.

The resolution will lie filed with the Clerk.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. COHEN. Did I understand, Mr. Speaker, that the objection to the consideration of the resolution carries with it objection to having it read for the information of the members?

The SPEAKER. The Chair understood the objection was to having it read as well as to its consideration.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

RESOLUTIONS

Mr. GOODLING offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. WACHHAUS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, March 19, 1945, at 9 p. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 1:19 p. m.) the House adjourned.

Vol. 29. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, MARCH 19, 1945. No. 30.

SENATE

MONDAY, March 19, 1945.

The Senate met at 4:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Our Heavenly Father, in conformity with the hallowed customs of the fathers of our state, we begin the week's Session of the Senate with prayer to Thee, the God of nations, under whose sustaining grace and guidance our nation has been led, preserved and prospered. May we who have entered into a national inheritance greater than the fathers dreamed of, be as faithful in honoring and praising Thee for all Thy favors to us. No less than they do we need divine guidance and help.

Through a war for freedom and human rights the founding fathers sought and received the help of God. At a similar crisis we must have similar help. May we have the faith that will warrant Thy help.

Be with us now—all of us—but specially with those who are suffering and dying that our nation may continue to live free and independent. Bring to those whose hearts are burdened with anxiety over danger to loved ones, and to those who mourn loved ones who will not return, the comfort of Thy presence.

By our acts today may we honor Thee and do good to many. In Jesus' Name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. SCARLETT, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

Mr. Wade asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. WALKER, temporarily.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Chairman of the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Monroe permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. CROWE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I have been requested by different organizations in western Pennsylvania, which are interested in Pymatuning Lake, especially in opposition to allowing putt-putt boats to destroy the peace and quiet of Lake Pymatuning, as well as killing fish in the lake, to ascertain: is it the intention of the Chairman of the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish to hold a public hearing on this bill.

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, we have set March 27 as the date to hold a public hearing, in the Senate Caucus room, at 10 a. m., or the public hearing will be held here in the Senate Chamber if the crowd is too large to be accommodated in the Senate Caucus room.

Mr. HOLLAND. I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Monroe.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Monroe permit himself to be further interrogated.

Mr. CROWE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HOLLAND. We all realize that in these times all of us have been obliged to do as little travelling on trains as possible. To have the hearing that you suggest will necessitate the transporting of hundreds of people from western Pennsylvania into Harrisburg in order to attend such a hearing. In view of that fact, people who are interested, both pro and con, in this bill from western Pennsylvania have requested that I ask that this hearing be held in the city of Pittsburgh, instead, which would make it easy for them to attend and also not necessitate the travelling which we all feel we should not do in this time of war. I think all of us who travel on trains realize that the trains today are very much crowded and to bring two or three hundred people here would inconvenience hundreds and perhaps thousands of soldiers going back and forth to and from their camps.

Would the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Crowe, kindly consent to have this meeting held in the city of Pittsburgh, or any place in western Pennsylvania, which would not necessitate this undue travelling.

Mr. CROWE. In answer to the interrogation of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, Harrisburg is the Capital of Pennsylvania and the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish has committee rooms here at Harrisburg. I think, if the gentleman from Allegheny wants to save transportation, each of these factions in western Pennsylvania should appoint personal representatives and consolidate their evidence and come down here and have three or four people testify on each side, and they will be able to accomplish much more, rather than have a mob come down here—I am never in favor of mobs—and on the other hand we would like to stay here in Harrisburg and finish up the business of this session so that we can get back to our businesses.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I think it is fine that the gentleman hopes to end the affairs of the Session and I am awfully glad to know that we are getting worried about our do nothing attitude in this Session.

Mr. President, there are hundreds of organizations interested in this bill and each organization should be represented by at least one person. I think the place to hold the hearing is a place that would be accessible to the people who are interested. This is of vital concern to the people of western Pennsylvania. They, of course, would like to attend a public hearing and be heard, and we can not take those people even from the organizations away from their work and I would therefore suggest that the public hearing be held in the city of Pittsburgh so that men would not be taken away from work in order to appear before the committee.

I believe it is foolish for the Senate, if the Senate is really sincere, to even consider the desecration of this great wild life paradise—and I really wonder why we should have a meeting—but since we must have a meeting, let us take it some place where all the people can appear before the committee and have a hearing which can be complete, in Pittsburgh, and then the members of the committee, after hearing the different witnesses, can come back and report to the Senate. I think that is economically sound and in time of war it should be done.

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, I want to say to the gentleman from Allegheny that I think this whole problem is much ado about nothing. Up in the Poconos we have Lake Wallenpaupak, which is comparable to Pymatuning Lake, and we have had motor boats on Lake Wallenpaupak for years and I have seen no ill effects on the different fishes or wild life of any kind up there. In fact, you can pick up "Pennsylvania Angler," almost every issue, and see a picture of a string of fish someone caught in Lake Wallenpaupak.

Mr. HOLLAND. Will the gentleman from Monroe agree on Mr. John Phillips being the father of conservation of wild life in Pennsylvania?

Mr. CROWE. I do, Mr. President.

Mr. HOLLAND. Will the gentleman from Monroe say Mr. Phillips is an authority?

Mr. CROWE. I would say he ought to be.

Mr. HOLLAND. Does the gentleman from Monroe think that ex-Governor Tener and ex-Governor Fisher of Pennsylvania would be considered as authorities on Pymatuning Lake?

Mr. CROWE. They ought to be.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, all three of those gentlemen are unanimous in saying that putt-putt boats should not be put on Pymatuning Lake.

Therefore, Mr. President, I hope the gentleman from Monroe will agree with me that this is a question that should be studied and that the bill should be held in committee. I would like to have him agree on that.

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, that is the purpose of holding a public hearing, to decide on the merits of the bill, whether it should be brought out from committee or held there.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, which does the gentleman from Monroe think would be better, to take ten members of the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish into Allegheny county or to bring a few hundred people from western Pennsylvania to Harrisburg? Which would be the most economical and the wisest thing to do today?

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, I still do not think it is necessary to bring a few hundred people here, or any large number. I suggest that a small delegation be appointed to represent each side and let them come here and say their piece.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, the Chairman of the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish will not agree that the hearing be held in Pittsburgh?

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, we have set March 27, at ten a. m., in the Senate Caucus Room, as the time and place for a public hearing.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, the gentleman will not agree that the meeting be transferred to Pittsburgh?

Mr. CROWE. I will not agree that the meeting be transferred to Pittsburgh.

Mr. HOLLAND. Will the Chairman of the Committee take it up with the members of the committee and see if the meeting can not be transferred to Pittsburgh?

Mr. CROWE. I will be glad to do so, Mr. President.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, stated former Governor Fisher was opposed to putt-putt boats on Pymatuning Lake. I am sorry to have to state that I attended the funeral of former Governor Fisher six or seven years ago. Former Governor Fisher is no longer alive.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I may add that if he were alive, he would be against it, because he was a great fighter against putt-putt boats and in sacredness to his memory we should not destroy the things he fought for.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. GOURLEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. GOURLEY. Mr. President, we all realize that every person in the Commonwealth at one time or another, as a result of circumstances arising over which they have no control, such as sickness, death, financial reverses or other unexpected events, have had occasion to borrow money in order to tide them through or over the situation which might exist. We also realize that if a person has real estate or has government bonds or gilt edge securities, they can very easily go to a bank or to a lending agency and secure what money they might need. We are also aware of the fact that if that individual does not have any of the securities that I have enumerated, or is not the owner of real estate, the bank or the lending agencies generally turn their backs on the individual who needs the loan or the money.

We have on our statute books an act which I believe has passed this Senate this session, which states in substance that the State Banking Department will cooperate in every way whatsoever with the federal government, in connection with G. I. Bill, in order to make money or funds available for the men and women who are discharged from the military service, and that will be very well and good where the individual is going to enter business or is going to enter a profession, where he has something that he can give as collateral security for his loan, but in most instances when that individual goes to a bank he will not have any collateral which he can give as security for his loan.

We also have on our statute books legislation which permits steel companies, steamboat companies, granaries and farmers to mortgage their personal property or their equipment or their stock or their crops, in order to borrow money.

We also have on our statute books an Act of 1936, which gives individuals or corporate interests the right to borrow money from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation or any other similar governmental agency.

But, Mr. President, the average man in the average walk of life has no place to turn in order to secure those funds that he needs, unless he has security or unless he goes to a finance company and pays forty-two per cent interest, three and one half per cent a month.

I have introduced two previous chattel mortgage bills this session—I was somewhat blazing the trail. I have conferred with many men who I believe are well informed as to the lending of money; I have conferred with bankers in my own county, and on the basis of the conferences which I have had, and through the aid of their legal counsel, I have prepared a chattel mortgage bill which I believe will extend and afford the relief that I have in mind; it is therefore a pleasure for me to read in place and to present to the Chair a chattel mortgage bill which will apply equally to any person or corporation in the Commonwealth, regardless of the nature or form of the personal property they may have to give as collateral security for a loan.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. GOURLEY read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 548, entitled:

An Act relating to chattel mortgages on any chattel or chattels of any kind or description, including among other things livestock, poultry, farm machinery, farm equipment and crops grown, growing or to be grown; designating the operation and effect of the lien of such mortgage; providing for the filing, indexing and docketing of such mortgages and related instruments in prothonotaries' offices, and prescribing prothonotaries' fees; providing for the filing in Pennsylvania of similar lien instruments originally filed or recorded in other states; regulating the assignment, release, satisfaction and extension of the lien of such mortages; prescribing methods of foreclosure; defining defaults and violations; and fixing penalties.

Mr. WOODRING read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 553, entitled:

L. 1043), entitled "An act establishing a public school employes' retirement system, and creating a retirement board for the administration thereof; establishing certain funds from contributions by the Commonwealth and contributing employes, defining the uses and purposes thereof and the manner of payments therefrom, and providing for the guaranty by the Commonwealth of certain of said funds; imposing powers and duties upon boards having the employment of public school employes; exempting annuities, allowances, returns, benefits, and rights from taxation and judicial process; and providing penalties," by permitting certain employes to contribute on the basis of salary previously received, and requiring the Commonwealth to contribute on the same basis in such cases.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. CROWE, from the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish, reported as committed, House Bill No. 552, entitled:

An Act to further amend section two hundred twenty of the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-five (P. L. 448) entitled "An act relating to fish and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating to fish in the inland waters and the boundary lakes and boundary rivers of the Commonwealth" authorizing the use of eel chutes in the Delaware River above Easton.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President and membes of the Senate, I would like first to quote from a statement by the Republican State Chairman, as appearing in the Pittsburgh Post Gazette, with a Harrisburg date line of March 9, which is headed "GOP Slush Fund Charge Denied." The article is as follows:

"GOP SLUSH FUND CHARGE DENIED

"Harrisburg, March 9.—(AP)—Republican Chairman M. Harvey Taylor today termed 'ridiculous' a charge of United States Senator Joseph F. Guffey that the Pennsylvania GOP had accumulated a slush fund of $875,000 and is 'Preparing to buy or steal the election in 1946.'

"'I wish it were true that we had $875,000,' said Taylor. 'I don't know anything about it. He must be getting jittery already about his candidacy.'"

Now, Mr. President, I have here figures of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, Mr. Charles Morrison—I think everybody in this Senate knows that Mr. Charles Morrison in a staunch Republican and a great friend of the Republican State Chairman. His figures are these:

The Republican State Committee as of December 8 had on hand $137,082.79.

The Republican Finance Committee of the state of Pennsylvania had on hand, when they filed with the Secretary of the Commonwealth, thirty days after the last election, on December 8, $313,648.16.

Mr. President, I do not think the Secretary of the Commonwealth is doing his duty because eight of the Republican county committees have not yet filed—but for the 59 that did file according to the election code, they showed a balance of $147,574.46.

Then there are various state organizations which collected money and had balances on hand as of December 8, and their balances were $277,403.23.

Mr. President, those four figures total $875,708.64. That is one reason why we see some of these special bills, I think, going through the mill here in the legislature.

These state organizations, and I think it might be well to make a record of who they are, some of their names I will say are misleading, I do not know who they are or their names are not on file as treasurers of these committees over in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

There is the Republican Central Campaign Committee, and in round figures they had a balance of $23,528.39.

The Harold V. Hughes Committee of Allegheny County only had a balance of $403.63.

The Allegheny County Republican Congressional Committee had a balance left of $1,058.96.

The Republican Finance Committee of Allegheny—where those names were missing so mysteriously for several months but somehow after my resolution was introduced in the Senate they have shown up in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth—and their account shows a balance of $242,855.82. That is not the Allegheny County Republican Committee, it is another committee The Allegheny County Republican Committee also has a balance.

Then the Oakmont Republican Committee, Senator Walker's home town, he succeeded in spending most of their money, but they have a balance of $87.51.

The Bellevue Republican Committee had a balance of $847.74, that is Mr. Geltz's district. That is a small borough.

The Republican Committee of Mt. Lebanon Township, the citadel of Republicanism in Allegheny County, had a balance of $315.27.

The Republican Finance Committee of Lebanon County—I do not mean the Lebanon County Republican Committee, that is another committee—they had a balance of $4,379.10.

The Republican City Committee of Johnstown had a balance of $400.40.

The Republican Finance Committee and Thomas E. Dewey Campaign—I do not know what kind of committee that one was or what it is—but they had a balance of $4,482.74.

The Political League for Small Business—I do not think a small business could have given much to the Republican campaign the last time, because they have a balance only of $95.68.

Mr. President, I am not going to take the time to read all of these figures to the members of the Senate, I am going to ask to have this list inserted into the Legislative Journal—but I do want to call attention to a rather singular thing.

I notice that the political bosses of the Republican Party, M. Harvey Taylor and the Chairman of the Republican Caucus, Senator Tallman, the man who runs the Governor's office, Mr. Bloom, I would just like to call to your attention the balances they have in those counties, which are not very large counties, yet they have more money than it takes to run the usual campaign in those counties.

Dauphin County has a balance of $26,914.27. That is in addition to the Central Campaign Committee, the State Finance Committee and the various other committees I have mentioned.

In Lehigh County, which is not a very large county, they had a balance of $13,440.57. In little Tioga County, where I do not think there were over 7,000 votes for Tom Dewey, they had a balance of $3,223.57.

Then there is Washington County, where they spent a terriffic amount of money and still lost that county by 22,000 and they still have a balance in little Washington County of $18,177.29.

Now, Mr. President, my reason for making this statement is that I do not think the Chairman of the Republican Party should make a quotation in a newspaper that he wished it were true that they had a balance of $875,000 and that the charges are ridiculous. These are the figures from the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth. I hereby charge now that the figures are true and correct because each one is sworn to by the treasurer of that particular Republican committee.

I also think some legislation should be put in here in the state of Pennsylvania wherein only a certain amount of money should be allowed to be spent for elections. I saw last week where the Green committee in the Senate at Washington had recommended some 23 changes. I think we in Pennsylvania, if we want to have honest, true elections, we ought to do something about these terriffic political expenditures.

As I told you last week or the week before last, in the state of Pennsylvania there was $3,274,000 collected by the Republican Party in this state. I claim that is not a healthy condition. If you come up to my county, as I say, the Republicans raised $505,000 in one committee and I think $198,000 in another committee, and still we carried the election by eighty-nine thousand nine hundred and some votes, but there are only a certain percentage of the votes that can be bought.

The only reason the Republicans got these terriffic campaign contributions was for the special privilege of too many to sit in this Chamber and serve.

I would like to present one copy of this memoranda to the Republican State Chairman so that he will know where the $875,000 is.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I think that an explanation of this is in order simply because the fair name of Oakmont has been run up and down these legislative halls and the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, pointed out that we only had $87.51 in the Republican treasury in Oakmont and he intimated by his threshold remarks and in his concluding remarks that the State Chairman of the Republican Party of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania controlled that $87.

I want to say, Mr. President, directly to the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, and indirectly to our distinguished State Chairman, that the Republican Borough Committee of Oakmont Borough controls that $87 and neither Senator Guffey or M. Harvey Taylor controls it or can spend it.

When the distinguished State Chairman of the Republican Party said that the statements of Senator Guffey were ridiculous, I think the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, has just proved that what the State Chairman said is absolutely true.

Senator Guffey said we are prepared to buy or steal the election in 1946. Mr. President, if we figured on buying an election we would have tried it out in 1944 and would not have all these balances.

I want to congratulate the Chairman of Lehigh County on having a balance like that; that shows practical, thrifty politics. I think what hurts the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, just a little, he has something to do in an indirect way with the Democratic Headquarters in Allegheny county and perhaps he would like to get up and discuss the balances that they wish they had in their various treasuries.

We tried back a long time ago to spend a lot of money to win elections and we found out, Senator Barr, you can not buy elections, no matter how much you advertise or how many parades you hold or how many brass bands you hire, and therefore there is no attempt on the part of all these independent groups who have small campaign funds laid away to buy or steal an election, which is the red herring that Senator Guffey drags across the newspaper releases.

To the groups in Allegheny County that he pointed out very carefully have balances, the story becomes doubly amusing when you realize that he read off a list of balances held by practically every Republican faction that ever existed or does exist in Allegheny County. Surely the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, is not going to suggest that M. Harvey Taylor has the power of life or death over all the funds controlled by the various factions of the Republican Party in Allegheny County. Senator Taylor said that the statements were ridiculous, and with that I agree.

The Republican Party does not need to buy or steal elections in Pennsylvania. The Republican Party does not always win elections in Pennsylvania but the Republican Party up to this time has always been willing to meet their common enemy on the issues that are framed, and we know they know they can not buy votes away from us, and we know that they can not scare away or intimidate the people that believe in the Republican philosophy of government and so, when Mr. Guffey says that we are prepared to buy or steal an election, I want to say that I think his alibi is just a little premature.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I do not like to get into this quarrel about campaign expenditures, because I get confused when I get over $5,000, because up until a few years ago that represented as much money as I ever knew was in the world, but when you get into the figures announced by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, and when you stop to consider that we are supposed to have free elections in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, no amount of ridicule from the gentleman from Oakmont can take away from the seriousness of the situation as we find it.

For the information of the gentleman from Oakmont, he stated that the Republican Party does not have to buy or steal elections. We know that the courts decide whether elections are stolen, and we know, most of us, being practical politicians, or we would not be here, we know full well there is a little bit of buying going on; because if there was not a little buying going on you would not need to spend in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania last year $2.397,000 to carry on the state-wide campaign; you would not have had to spend approximately two dollars for every vote as compared to thirty cents for every vote spent by the so-called Minority Party, which carried Pennsylvania last year.

We know, gentlemen, when the issues are clearly defined, because they stand out in the minds of the people, such as in a year when they are electing the leader of the federal government, the President of the United States, that the people have demonstrated that they vote for the best person, but I say, without reservation, that in the off-year elections, too many citizens who ought to make it a part of their duty to go to the polls and vote, stay home and are disinterested in the results of the election, that that year is a ripe year for the big money bags to be opened up in order that those who do take part in a political campaign for financial return can best sell their wares.

I say that without hesitation, and I say it very kindly to the gentlemen on the other side; I say to you that there are other methods of stealing elections besides stealing them at the election polls.

A perfect demonstration of that, gentlemen, was in 1943 when this group passed a Congressional reapportionment bill that gave to the Republican Party three seats in Congress in Allegheny County and two seats to the Democratic Party, and yet the Democratic Party carried that county by 90,000 votes. And I say that right now the gentleman from Oakmont and the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Farrell—whose last elections, if not so questionable were too uncomfortably close for the gentlemen's comfort—have a bill now in the Senate of Pennsylvania, in Committee, that provides another steal, one that will not be taken to court because it is not within the jurisdiction of the court to pass upon this bill, and that is a steal in order to gerrymander districts in order to elect Senators into the Senate of Pennsylvania, or members into the House of Representatives, simply because you have enough to vote to gerrymander a district and place your men into seats of elected representatives, only by the simple action of passing a bill in the Legislature.

I asked the gentleman from Philadelphia whether he was serious in this steal that he is trying to perpetuate, and in all probability will, and he said, "Why certainly, we have the votes, why should we not pass this bill."

Well, I can give you many reasons why you should not pass a bill like that. You should not pass a bill like that because you are destroying the very things the boys are fighting for, you are destroying representative government, as intended by a majority of the people of this Commonwealth who are entitled to representation.

If this legislative body was not gerrymandering in the early days, when it was completely controlled by the Republican Party, the legislature in this state today would represent the now minority party, because the minority party as it is represented here is the majority party in the nation and it is the party that carried the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and yet failed to carry the legislative branches in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I ask you if that is representative government. I ask you are you responsible to the people to carry out the policies of the leader of the nation No, you are not responsible, because your opinions and your philosophies of government are diametrically opposed to the philosophies of government that the people voted for, and so you do it by two methods; you do it by raising so much money that you should hang your heads in shame to say that you spent $2,300,000 and did not carry the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, but you did spend the money to some good advantage, and that is represented in the legislation that we have upon the books here today and have had during this session and during the past three legislative sessions under Republican governors.

The Democratic Party can not raise money to that extent; it can not because it does not play up to persons who have that kind of money. There is an old saying "you get nothing for nothing; you must give something to get something." I say that $3,274,000 raised by the Republican Party last year for campaign purposes is something, and something has to be delivered for that money. That is a simple equasion. You do things because they helped you raise the money that keeps you back in power. I say to you that it is not worth it. I would forever, as long as I live, rather be defeated as a member of the minority party and do the things I know to be right for the majority of the people, than sell my American heritage to those few who would by the use of money and by the use of gerrymandering legislation remain in control of the government they do not control by the largest vote.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. TALLMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I must confess that all of the oratory of the gentleman from Westmoreland leaves me a little bit cold. I remember very distinctly that in 1937, when the now minority party was in control, they were not averse to passing bills to gerrymander the Senate of this Commonwealth. They did pass one, but they were not very careful about how they did it. They were just as anxious to elect Democratic members to the Senate of Pennsylvania as it is now charged the Republicans are interested, and they very neatly and not too coyly eliminated my senatorial district and joined it with that of Bucks County. It happened, as they will well remember on the other side, that that bill was declared unconstitutional by the courts.

I have a great deal, too, of coldness about the charge that is being made with regard to money, and it seems to me that the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, if he wanted to be fair about the situation, if he wanted to give a picture of the true state of affairs, he would not hurl charges at the Republican Party because some people have been sensible enough to spend their money carefully in the counties, but he would give the picture in its true light and that is not to make charges on the basis of what has been saved but by presenting the picture on the basis of what has been spent.

I want to suggest to the gentleman, now that he brings my county into the picture, if he were to examine the record and find out what we have spent and how we have spent it, I will be glad to have his most careful scrutiny on that subject.

I have to remined him too, that the state chairman of the Republican Party has no more control over those funds than I have control over the funds of the state committee, and so far as we are concerned in Lehigh County we propose to spend that money as we see fit and how we see fit.

I suggest to the gentleman what he has said in his remarks about some of the rural districts in Lehigh County he will find true generally, that is, that the rural districts raise their own money and they spend their own money for the most part. I think he will find, if he scrutinizes the record carefully, that those moneys have been expended with care and with decency.

I want to suggest to the gentleman, too, that if he can find a method by which either the Democratic Party or the Republican Party can buy an election in Lehigh County, I would like to have him put it on the record now, and I would like to know about it, and I suggest that while there may be a lot of skullduggery that he does not like, and while there may be some things which are severally critical in some places, the blanket charges he has hurled at some of the people in this Commonwealth are unwarranted, particularly to those of us in the rural districts of this state, on both sides, not only on the Republican side but on the Democratic side as well, who are trying to do conscientiously a proper job in dealing with politics, and certainly he ought to be careful of the charges that he hurls.

I suggest to him that it is untimely and I suggest to him that his remarks are completely unwarranted.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, the gentleman from Westmoreland brought out a very unhappy chapter in my political life when he talked about close elections. Of course I have had some close elections. When I came into this Senate, I was a champion, I won by 161 votes, and he pointed the finger of suspicion at my election. I want to say that when the ballot boxes were closed and they counted the votes, by an unofficial newspaper tally, I was 151 votes ahead; when the official count was over I was 154 votes ahead; they opened 25 ballot boxes in my Senatorial District—I mean my opponent, helped and aided by the local democratic chieftains, and when they got through recounting the votes cast in those 25 ballot boxes, I was 161 votes ahead. Four years later, Mr. President, I doubled by plurality, and that is a record to shoot at.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I am probably not as naive as the gentleman from Lehigh, Senator Tallman, because I can read between his statements, and I want to refresh his mind, as to Article II, Section 18, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, which calls for reapportionment of senatorial districts.

In Allegheny County, Mr. Tallman, give us reapportionment where we get seven Senators, according to Article II, Section 18, of the Constitution, where we are allowed one for every 200,000 population, and where we have 1,500,000 persons residing in that county.

The gentleman from Lehigh said I only stated the balances on hand in the various Republican Committees, and I want to say I have in my office all the moneys that were contributed by the counties and I will gladly put that in the record, if the gentleman from Lehigh thinks the way I have done this, by just showing balances, is not a real and true statement.

Furthermore, Mr. President, I am not so naive as to think Mr. Tallman, Mr. Walker, and some of the other Republican members of the Senate are so far away from Mr. Taylor that he has nothing to say about county committees in the various counties, because I have been in state and county politics.

The question I want to have answered, Mr. President, is why did it cost the Republicans about two dollars a vote to lose Pennsylvania and the Democrats only thirty cents a vote to win it.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr EALY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I am not a politician and I have had nothing to do with the disbursement of money. However, it comes with bad grace from the Democratic side to charge the Republican Party with the spending of so many millions of dollars, when it is a matter of knowledge to everyone who is interested that the Democratic Party used the whole treasury of the United States to secure their election.

The election of 1936 was an election which was purchased, completely and thoroughly, from one end of the country to the other. We all recall such things as the Florida ship canal and the Pasmaquoddy dam, boondoggling of all kinds, money sent to farmers for killing sheep, hogs and cattle, and a thousand and one things as disreputable, and it cannot be denied that the treasury of the United States has been used since 1936 to purchase the elections for the Democratic Party.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would like to say to the gentleman from Somerset that I am not a politician, in the same sense he is not a politician, and I just want to say to him that it has been openly charged many times upon the floor of this Senate—I remember one memorable night when the young lad from Schuylkill County, ex-Senator Watkins, protested then that the United States treasury had been opened and the President of the United States had used that money for political purposes.

I will tell you gentlemen now why the treasury of the United States was opened and the money was spent; it was spent to save starving Americans, after the policy of the Republican Party had thrown thousands upon the streets without jobs, without incomes, without any means of support; we opened up the treasury of the United States to fight a war, the same as we have opened it up now. We fought a war against an internal enemy, one that was destroying the foundation of American independence—American democracy. We are now fighting a war to establish all over the world, if you please, a system of free government, where everybody will have an equal chance and equal opportunity to succeed.

We spent the treasury's money, yes, we spent it, and I will repeat as long as I live that it was probably the best money ever spent. We could have kept the money and lost American souls, very easily, and perhaps it would have pleased the gentleman from Somerset to have had it that way, but deep in my own heart I know he knows that public charity had broken down in those days and that it was no longer possible for neighbor to take care of neighbor; the old system of aiding their neighbor could no longer take care of the problem; the state and the various subdivisions of the state government did not have the money to feed their peoples, and we had to reach into the federal treasury.

Yes, we made blunders with the WPA; we built a lot bridges and we built dams and we paved a lot of streets that no one in this room can say would be better unpaved. Maybe we did waste effort, but no more so than there is in many industrial plants. I have worked in industry. I started out to work in industry; I have worked in the mines and I have seen loafers on industrial jobs and mining jobs; you can not make everybody work, because we are not all constituted that way. Even as members of this Senate many of you would not earn as much as some people think you should; it is a matter of conjecture or opinion.

When you charge that the Democratic Party spent United States treasury money for elections, that is not a true statement. The people were grateful to the man then in power, for accepting them as human beings and part of this government, for seeing to it that their bodies and souls were held together and that their children were no longer undernourished, that schools were opened up that had been closed, when banks were being closed and homes were being broken up in America.

If you take the acts of the New Deal which you so loudly condemn, and which saved so many of your industries and which saved so many of your businesses, if you call that spending money out of the United States Treasury for political purposes, then thank God for somebody having the courage to use it that way. But I say to you that it must not have been so bad, because a majority of the people of this nation have not only once but four times accepted the leadership of our federal leader of today.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, in answer to the statement made by the gentleman from Somerset, Senator Ealy, I just want to remind him that Mr. Roosevelt is now in his thirteenth year as president, and there has not been a scandal in a Roosevelt administration and I recall to him the Teapot Dome scandal, which came in a Republican administration.

Furthermore, I want to call to his attention the fact that the gentleman who is now vice-president of the United States, Senator Truman, in February of 1944, the editorials in every paper in this country were booming Truman as being the greatest man in Washington because he was investigating many of those contracts held by those donors who donated money to the Republican Party, when it was claimed that he would save the government millions of dollars and then, several months later at Chicago, when Mr. Truman's name came up as vice-president on the Democratic ticket, and I have never seen editorial policy change so quickly—he became a villian instead of a hero.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. WOODWARD asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I am only going to take about two minutes. I have listened so long and so often to Senator Barr and Senator Cox—on Monday, Barr, on Tuesday, Cox—I am beginning to wish I lived in Allegheny County, it is so exciting.

I could not help remembering, when they were talking about shuffling districts around, gerrymandering, I can remember distinctly that the most dramatic gerrymandering ever performed was perfomed in Allegheny county, there was quite a bit of oasis in the desert—that is where there are no Democrats—it was called Sewickley and there were no Democrats, a very intelligent community—and when the Democrats gerrymandered Allegheny county they ran up against Sewickley and so they cut out Sewickley entirely, so that no one in Sewickley would have a vote at all.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. CARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, I would like to say, in reply to the statement made by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, that there has never been a scandal in connection with the Democratic Administration, that he had better wait until history has finally revealed everything going on in this administration before asserting there will not be any scandal.

When the facts are known about what has been going on down there in Washington for the last thirteen years, perhaps the story will be just a little bit different than it is now, when everything possible has been done to conceal the workings of the present administration from the public.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. JASPAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. JASPAN. I charge that the rate-payers in Pennsylvania are being overcharged $50,000,000 annually by the private utilities.

I charge that the rates in Pennsylvania are practically the highest in United States, notwithstanding the natural facilities afforded the private utilities in the States and the populous centers.

I charge that the said milking of the utility-user is rendered possible by connivance between the private utilities and a majority of the members of the Public Utility Commission.

I charge that some utilities have deliberately juggled their accounts, withheld valuable information in proceedings, issued stocks that are highly watered, and have in fact resorted to every trick, artifice, and stratagem to deceive the public, the Public Utility Commission and governmental agencies.

I charge that some utilities particularly the Penn-Power and Light Co., have been deliberately blocking the Rural Electrification Program in the State of Pennsylvania, and have recently been called to task by Federal Agencies for their misconduct. For the information of the Senate the Penn-Power and Light Co. recently has erected spite lines to prevent the further growth of electrification among the farmers, and has increased the electric rates without permission of governmental agencies.

I further state that the many utilities throughout the State have been requested by the Federal Power Commission and the Securities & Exchange Commission to put their houses in order, but as was to be expected the private utilities have been stalling, using the old Waiting and Delaying game, hoping for a change in Administration at Washington.

I maintain that the present Public Utility Commission has blinded itself to the needs and wants of the rate-payers, notwithstanding numerous complaints by patrons as to poor, inadequate service and exorbitant rates. On the contrary, the majority of the present Commission have rubber-stamped the actions of the utilities. Recently a ruling by the Public Utility Commission in favor of the Penn Power and Light Co. has been denounced as a utility steal, and its decision on rates called brutal politics. Throughout the breadth of our land, this decision and the conduct of the Public Utility Commission in this case have been the target of criticism.

Under all of the circumstances, the present Public Utility Commission should be forced to resign, and make way for men who will truly serve the people.

The utility user is very much disturbed and alarmed over the appalling situation. They are being let down by their representatives in the Legislature. The Legislature in turn is being ignored by its agent, the Public Utility Commission. The private utilities, realizing that the present Commission is overfriendly, are doing very much as they please, fattening their calves and filling their coffers at the expense of the rate-payers. It is our duty to call a halt to these nefarious practices indulged in by many utilities in the States.

Many years ago, an investigation by this body brought to light conditions that were scandalous in nature and it resulted in the disgracing of members of the then Commission. The situation today is even worse, and calls for a similar investigation. If Governor Martin is sincere, he would unhesitatingly lend his good offices and encourage an investigation of this character. Frankly, I have my doubts. However, I call on him to publicly make his position clear with respect to the recent activities of the Private Utilities and the Public Utility Commission.

Be that as it may, I myself am proceeding with the introduction of a joint resolution designed to investigate the acts of both the private utilities and the Public Utility Commission, calling for an appointment of a committee of seven, 3 Senators and 4 Representatives with full authority to act. Said resolution carries with it an appropriation of $50,000.

RESOLUTIONS

URGING AN INVESTIGATION OF THE CONDUCT AND ACTIVITIES OF THE PRIVATE UTILITY COMPANIES

Messrs. JASPAN and HOLLAND offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Public Utilities:

In the Senate, March 19, 1945.

Whereas, The private utility companies throughout the State of Pennsylvania have been and are now furnishing poor and inadequate service to their patrons;; and

Whereas, The private utility companies are now charging exorbitant rates; and

Whereas, In several communities in this State the rates are the highest of any in the United States, notwithstanding the natural advantages afforded them; and

Whereas, Some private utility companies in this State have resorted to sharp practices in order to deceive and defraud the rate-payer, and

Whereas, Investigation and examination by Federal Bureas indicate deliberate write-ups by the private utility companies, and

Whereas, Complaints have been made to the present

Public Utility Commission concerning poor service and exorbitant rates; and

Whereas, The Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission has shown little or no regard for the rate-payer, ignoring complaints by the rate-payer; and

Whereas, the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission in recent decisions has displayed an utter disregard for the needs and wants of the consumer; and

Whereas, The members of the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission by their conduct and activities have violated their oaths of office by first ignoring the legislature whom they represent and then the mandates of the people and that they are definitely leaning towards the private utility companies without any basis in law or in fact; and

Whereas, They have conducted themselves in an arbitrary and capricious manner; and

Whereas, As a result of their conduct, the public has lost confidence in the Public Utility Commission; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That a committee of seven be appointed to investigate the conduct and activities of the private utility companies and the present Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission, three members of the Senate to be appointed by the President of the Senate and four members of the House to be appointed by the Speaker, with power of subpoena as to witnesses and documents, and to report back to the Legislature with recommendations and suggestions; and be it further

Resolved, That the sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000.00) is hereby appropriated for carrying out the purposes of this resolution.

CONDOLENCE TO SONS AND DAUGHTER OF FORMER SENATOR HARRY B. SCOTT

Mr. LETZLER offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, March 19, 1945.

The Honorable Harry B. Scott, Philipsburg industrialist, banker, newspaper publisher, civic leader, and statesman, a former member of this Senate, quietly passed into the great beyond on Sunday, March 4th.

He was born at Eagle Hill, Schuylkill County, September 17, 1878, a son of George and Catherine (Patten) Scott, both natives of that county. His early education was received in the schools of his home community. Before he was 21 he had successfully engaged in contracting and actively conducted that business for several years. He came to Philipsburg in 1900 to become affiliated with his father in the coal business.

Senator Scott's capacity for leadership was recognized by his fellow citizens and in 1914 he was elected to represent Centre County Republicans on the State Committee. He also served as a member of the Boro Council. In 1915 he was elected to the State House of Representatives where he served two terms. During the first World War he was appointed by President Wilson as District Fuel Administrator, serving in this capacity without compensation. In 1927 he was elected to the State Senate where he served with distinction for eight years. He was twice Chairman of the Appropriations Committee and in 1933 was elected President Pro-Tempore of the Senate. In 1934 he was the Republican Party's candidate for Lieutenant-Governor.

The real heart of Senator Scott was revealed in his devotion to the needs of those who were sick or handicapped by physical infirmities. The Philipsburg Hospital and its staff were the objects of his generosity on many occasions. He supplied equipment and many other needs out of his private funds. He undertook the building of an addition, and, with the assistance of a few of his friends, advanced the money to pay for it. The Philipsburg State Hospital with its modern buildings and facilities is a monument to the memory of the untiring efforts put forth by Senator Scott. He served three terms as president of the Pennsylvania Society for Crippled Children. He also headed the Clearfield-Centre Crippled Children's Society.

He retired from business in 1939. His generosity of heart proved him to be a man who would always respond to an appeal for a worthy object and who lived to be helpful, Therefore Be It

Resolved, by the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that with the death of the Honorable Harry B. Scott there has passed a man who was given to noble expressions of heart in behalf of his fellow men; a man who had served his community and State with distinction; And Be It Further Resolved, that in evidence of the deep sympathy of this Senate, the Secretary thereof shall transmit a copy of this resolution to the sons. George Scott and Captain James P. Scott, and the daughter, Miss Laura Scott.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. THOMAS offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, March 19, 1945.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, March 26, 1945, at four o'clock p. m.; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, March 26, 1945, at nine o'clock p. m.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (M. Harvey Taylor). Before proceeding to the next order of business, since the three-ring circus is over, I want to say to the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, that I will take this up with Senator Guffey when he and I get together—I think we can settle all of these affairs.

So that this proceedings may be sure of being a bipartisan proceeding, I do not think a politican should preside over the Senate so at this time I am going to call Senator Ealy to preside over the Senate.

Section 2 This reenacting and amending act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and members of the Senate, in opposing House Bill No. 80, I do so because of the policy adopted by our party that tax bills should be more closely related to the amount of expenditures recommended by the Governor; we disagree with the amounts predicted by the Governor's Budget Director as revenues which will be returned, and therefore, we oppose the bills at this time.

However, to make it clearly understood, we led our fight against the tax bills a few weeks ago, and the reason that this bill particularly has not passed the Senate finally is because the majority party itself became confused over their own amendments—there are no amendments in the bill that were suggested by the minority, by the Democratic Party. The amendments that we suggested were rejected.

However, if you will follow me, we have on pages two and three amendments inserted in the Senate, and later removed by the Senate. In trying to understand the purposes for this action, finally we believe we discovered the fly in the ointment.

To amend the title, which I will read to you, page two, top of the page, as the amendment appeared upon its introduction it read "by specifically imposing tax on corporations receiving rent or other income from property in Pennsylvania by providing that a report of change of income becomes part of the original report in certain instances by changing the gross receipts fraction and by specifically providing for the computing of interest on increases of income indicated by reports of change and by exempting cooperative agricultural associations.

On page three, line 24, as the amendment originally appeared, it read: "or a corporation having capital stock, joint-stock, association, or limited partnership, either organized under the laws of this Commonwealth, the United States, or any other state, territory, or foreign country, or dependency holding property employed or used in this Commonweath and receiving rent or income therefrom." Under its original intent, this amendment would have made available for tax purposes income producing properties that are now tax free and will continue to be because this amendment will be stricken from the bill.

If you will all remember when the amendment was first introduced it caused quite a bit of confusion on the floor of the Senate because the proposal was not clearly understood. Or maybe it was too clearly understood by some of the members of the majority party.

Let us see what would happen if this amendment were left in the bill. You would be taxing for net income tax purposes properties owned or rented by lessor companies, such as utilities, the Pennsylvania Railroad, and so forth.

Let us take a hypothetical case. I think the Senate ought to know these things because it is important to every taxpayer. The Dauphin county courts have held, in the Delaware River Bridge and Railroad Company versus the Commonwealth, under the terms of the 1935 act, it is not subject to the tax imposed by this bill.

Under the amendment introduced by Senator Geltz, Chairman of the Finance Committee, this company would have been liable for the tax other corporations are liable for. Here is exactly the situation. This company, owned and operated, leased by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, which we will call company "a"; the Delaware River Bridge and Railway Company we will call company "b"; company "a" is a public utility that owns a hundred per cent of the stock of the former operating utility company "b," now leasing under long term contract all of its tangible properties and franchises to company "a," which in turn operates these franchises and properties for a stipulated rental over a period of time. Under this act, as it now appears, this rental income is exempt from the net income tax.

Company "b" in turn returns its total back to company "a" in the form of dividends; under the provisions provided for, the income received as dividend income from another corporation is exempt from taxes, so this particular income is not paid for in either instance.

The framer of the amendment had in mind the taxing of these tangible assets which produced income, and under a broad sense interpretation of the net income tax law they ought to rightfully pay their tax, but when he introduced the amendment the purpose was not backed up by a complete agreement of his colleagues and so, as a practical demonstration of what I talked about a few minutes ago, we find another amendment which strikes out this very desirable feature in the bill and allows this income to go tax free. You can draw your own conclusions as to what purposes some of the money could be put to, if a person wanted to contribute to political parties, and so forth—I do not say they did, but $3,274,000, in the terms of the hicks back where I live, they say it ain't hay, and it comes from some place.

Why was this amendment first introduced on the part of the man responsible for the revenue bills, and later stricken from the bill? These are questions which are important.

On page 4 also you have a strike-out amendment which removes cooperative agricultural associations from exemption under this tax law. Cooperative agricultural associations in most instances are made up of food producing groups of farmers, dirt farmers, or persons engaged in selling the products of the farmers. It was never the intention, to my mind or any person that I have ever talked to, to tax those worthwhile associations, because in their practical administration they have upped the income of the dirt farmer and they should be left without any tax of this nature imposed upon them.

A third inequity that we find in the bill is on pages 8 and 9. Those of you who have read the bill probably need no explanation, and those of you who have not read it probably do not care, but in carrying out my duties to the people of this Commonwealth I think you ought to know how we feel about the amendments that are inserted here.

Beginning with line 23 the amendment reads in part: "in the case of construction contract negotiated or effected at an office in the state of Pennsylvania but performed outside the state the gross receipts under such contracts shall be assignable outside the state, except that if the activities under any such contract to which the gross receipts are attributable shall occur partly within the state and partly outside the state, such proportion of the gross receipts under said contract shall be assignable to Pennsylvania as the direct and indirect costs incurred in Pennsylvania under the contract for the taxable year bear to the total costs incurred thereunder . . ."

If you will carefully analyze that particular amendment you will find that it is a special amendment, giving to a special activity in Pennsylvania special consideration.

To me there is not much difference in a company that manufactures in Pennsylvania, as an agency outside of the state, that sells million upon milions of dollars of goods produced in Pennsylvania, which in turn produce a profit that add up to the net income of the manufacturing company residing in the Commonwealth upon which they pay a net income tax.

Under this amendment construction companies may take contracts totaling millions of dollars, selling services instead of goods, and that portion of their income derived from contracts outside of the state are no longer taxable under the net income tax law of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Now I ask whether that is not discriminatory legislation, in that it takes one special interest in Pennsylvania and gives it a special boom, and yet manufacturing companies which carry a greater share of the burden of carrying on federal government are not exempt to the same extent. We say that this is special taxation or, rather, special privileges for special persons. We do not believe that under a strict interpretation of the Constitution that it is constitutional. However, that remains for the courts to decide. We do know that the courts have upheld the theory that the so-called double tax that may be imposed upon a construction company doing business outside the state, with main offices in Pennsylvania, is not necessarily double taxation in the sense of its constitutionality, and therefore we believe that this is another reason for the defeat of this particular tax bill at this time.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, before answering the questions of my colleague, Senator Dent, in order as he has raised them, I wonder why he did not give you his real objection to the bill, or his real purpose in taking the floor on this bill and that, as I followed what was done over in the House is just a part of the game of the democratic minority to raise some smoke and raise a little bit of dust to try to get some publicity and so attract a little attention.

Insofar as the objections are concerned, I will try to take them up in the order in which he presented them.

Insofar as the first objection is concerned, that applied to an amendment which was put into this bill some two or three weeks ago and was then taken out, and that is the so-called lessor or lessee amendment. I will admit that when the amendment was put in, its significance was not fully appreciated, and by its significance I mean this, it would result in a duplicate taxation if the lessor company had to pay a corporate net income tax. It amounts to the same thing as the money paid to bondholders or the interest paid on bonds In other words, an operating company under the act as it now is and under the act by the way, Mr. President, as it was passed twice during the Earle Administration, by the now minority party, the operating or lessee company pays its corporate net income tax; the rental which it pays to the lessor company amounts to the same thing as the interest that the operating company would pay on bonds to individual bondholders, and if a net income tax were paid on that rent, what would happen in many instances is that the company would be paying in effect two corporate net income taxes, because in many of those instances there is an affiliation, insofar as ownership is concerned, between the lessor company and the lessee company.

When this amendment was first presented to me, and I questioned it, I was advised that the purpose of the amendment was to get those companies which had been set up in sort of a dummy fashion since the corporate net income tax was first put into effect. In other words, I was led to believe there were certain companies which were using a certain set-up for the purpose of evading the corporate net income tax. Upon subsequent investigation and inquiry those who had first informed me were unable to show me one instance in which such a set-up had been made for the purpose of evading the corporate net income tax.

But in addition to that, Mr. President, it comes to me with a little bit of surprise that the minority party would object to that particular situation because, of course, the state would secure a little bit more money, that is, under the four percent tax on the corporate net income of the lessor company, but then there would be considerably less in dividends to distribute to owners of the stock in the lessor company, and therefore the federal government would be deprived of so much money, that is, the New Deal Federal government would be deprived of its regular income tax that the bondholders, stockholders, and what-not pay, and be in a much higher bracket, so that in effect those individuals are paying little or nothing in taxes, but the Commonwealth is still not guilty of double taxation insofar as the corporate net income tax is concerned.

I referred just briefly to the Earle Administration having passed this tax first, Mr. President; twice, Mr. President, that was done, in 1935 and in 1937, both times during the Earle Administration, and both times, Mr. President, in the same form, insofar as that part of the bill is concerned, as the bill is now passing the Senate and passed the House, so that if what Mr. Dent said insofar as maybe helping to get some campaign funds is true, probably the idea was first put in his mind when the New Deal passed the bill in this form in 1935 and in 1937, and possibly at that time they were hopeful, because they passed the bill in this form that same thing might happen.

Of course, I do not know what has changed their position or opinions so far as this is concerned, but something apparently has, unless, as I said in starting, all they are doing in the Senate is a repetition of what they did in the House, to try to raise a little smoke and a little dust and to try to get a little publicity, or, in other words, to see if they can not find something to hang their hats on.

In so far as his second objection to this bill is concerned, the fact that we take out the provision exempting cooperative agricultural associations, of course, it is so easy and so plain to understand the Minority Party's raising an objection to that, because they would so like to cut in on our Republican rural Pennsylvania, and they would so like to make a little play for the farm votes, and so I do not doubt that the only reason they have raised any question about that is because they would like to make a little play for the vote of the little farmer.

Unfortunately, Mr President, for them, and I suppose they did not know this, the farmers have agreed on a program in so far as taxation is concerned; they are satisfied with a program of some four bills which are now in the House and which will set up agricultural cooperative associations in a separate classification, as distinguished from cooperative consumer associations and by which they will be taxed under a bill which will be known as the cooperative agricultural associations and corporate net income bill. So that is the reason the exemption was taken out of here, because it was necessary to have a series of four bills repealing the old net earnings tax, I believe, of 1889 or 1899—I am not sure, but it was before the turn of the century—as well as enacting the other form of tax.

In so far as the third objection raised by Mr. Dent is concerned, I must frankly admit that I can not understand what was his point. It seems to me that he should have been able to explain that well, because I see here in the Senate his instructor, who is an excellent instructor, by the way, but apparently his pupil did not learn his lesson well. I will be very glad to try to explain it if my colleague, Mr. Dent, will once again state the third objection which he has to the bill because, as I read this bill, Mr. President, there is no special class set up; it is putting all receipts from contracts in exactly the same position as the allocations made in so far as the receipts of other corporations are concerned.

In other words, without amendment to the bill in this session, contractors, or those having receipts from contracts in Pennsylvania, would have paid no tax whatsoever under the Rust Engineering case decision of the Dauphin County Court. Therefore an amendment was put in to bring them within the tax. The amendment which now exists in the bill taxes contractors, or those receiving money on contracts, on the same basis, that is, the money that they derive in Pennsylvania, they pay on; the money that they do not get in Pennsylvania but which is for contracts outside of Pennsylvania, in other states or elsewhere, they do not have to pay any corporate net income tax on, and that puts them exactly in line with the others, because on all corporations, in their allocation fractions, there are set up the receipts which they receive in Pennsylvania and their total receipts as received from Pennsylvania and elsewhere in the country.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I have listened very carefully to the explanation made by may colleague and, like the Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Tallman, I remain very cold. I know that I am not a very good student and probably will never learn too much about taxes. I know that they are inevitable, I learned that when I was a kid—something like death; but you do not have to like them any more than you have to like death. The gentleman from Allegheny leaves me somewhat in the same position as the Swede who was on a horse that was bucking rather roughly and he wanted to get off of it and he hollered to a bystander, what will I do, and the bystander said jump, and he said, how in the devil will I yump when I have no place to yump onto. I am in the same position as the Swede on the horse because the last thing my colleague talked about was the bill; he talked more about what was in my mind behind the scenes. I know Senator Haluska is pretty good at mind reading and doing tricks of magic and I will say to the gentleman from Allegheny if he finds anything good in this bill it will be as has been stated by the newspaper men, purely coincidental. It would be a good piece of magic if he could bring anything good out of the amendment, and then take it out.

The gentleman said the amendments were handed to him. Maybe I have an instructor who teaches me something about taxes, and maybe I did not learn well, but certainly the gentleman did not learn too much from the amendment, by his own admission, so maybe the two of us should go back to school and learn a little more.

Seriously, Mr. President, I do say this, if you were so well satisfed with the acts of 1935 and 1937, and the provisions they made, why then did you, going back to pages eight and nine, exempt contracting firms from certain features of the bill; if you thought they were good you should have left them in.

You know, the peculiar thing about the other side is, if I remember rightly, in 1938 all of the tax bills of the Earle administration were to be destroyed; they were inequitable, they were not fair, they were vicious, they were burdensome, they were everything to all peoples.

What happened was that we found ourselves at that time with a problem, there was a crisis in the state, and we had to raise money to take care of it; now the problem is gone but the tax is still here. Of course we object to it.

Frankly I know about your program for the agricultural associations; because I too read my mail, but I am not going to base my vote in this Senate upon some future actions that the House may take on some legislation that is now in a House Committee. I think we ought to pass good bills here and then let the House work their own salvation or solution out on the legislation that is presented in the House. I do not propose to speak for the House, as my colleague from Allegheny does, but if he says bills will pass, no doubt they will pass, because they have some means to controlling House votes, but we do not and never did have

I specifically want to call to your attention, on pages eight and nine, that the gentleman from Allegheny said he did not understand what I was talking about—I can not help that; I can easily understand he did not understand it, because he did not understand the amendments and he had them in front of him.

Mr. GELTZ. Just to be fair about this Mr. President, I was referring to the amendments at the bottom of page eight and at the top of page nine, when I tried to explain to the gentleman from Westmoreland, as well as the rest of my colleagues, that under the Rust Engineering Company decision, none of the receipts from contractors were taxable, so an amendment was put in to make them taxable for the part of their receipts which they received in Pennsylvania. In other words, we have something more now than we had before, but maybe he did not understand that.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Geltz.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, am I right that dividends are not taxable under this act?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, this tax is a corporate net income tax and the tax is based on corporate net income. After the tax is paid out of corporate net income, I imagine—not being on board of directors—that what can safely be spared is declared in dividends.

Mr. BARR. In other words, Mr. President, what I am trying to get at is this, the lessor under the original amendment that was put in by Senator Geltz would have had to pay the tax, this lessor, at the end of the year, when he shows a profit, and there are other ways, other than the rental and lines and so forth, they can get these profits from other securities, and so forth, in many instances, and many we know in this state, they return their profits to the company which holds the contract as dividends. Senator Dent gave an example of company "a." I am talking about a lessor company "b", and they give it back in the form of dividends. In other words company "b" under this take-out amendment pays no corporate net income tax and gives it back to company "a" in the form of dividends and they pay no corporate net income tax. In other words, they are out of it twice.

Mr. ROSENFELD. I know the hour is growing late and I do not want to take up the time of the Senate too long, but I do think, if there is any question or any doubt regarding the pattern shown by the two sets of amendments that have been introduced to Senate Bill No. 80, we ought to set the record straight now.

I recall very distinctly 1935 and 1937, when funds were needed for relief purposes, the Democratic administration passed these emergency tax bills and they affected not only corporations, they affected the general public.

There were three taxes in the nature of sales taxes, those affecting the tax on cigarettes, the tax on liquor, and the one cent emergency tax on gasoline. Five, six or seven sessions have passed since that time, the last four under Republican administrations, and what has been done with those emergency taxes? The state personal property tax, which was a four mills emergency tax, was repealed outright. I know it affected a lot of poor widows and orphans but the tax was on stocks, bonds and mortgages.

The second one was the corporate loans tax, an emergency tax which was repealed outright.

The third was a tax on shares of national banks and trust companies and that was repealed outright.

And then the Republican majority went beyond the emergency taxes and repealed the mercantile license tax, which netted the Commonwealth seven or eight million dollars a year, and on top of the repeal of this tax, they in the meantime reduced the corporate net income tax, and reduced the gross receipts tax, and they have not done in all of those six years anything for the general public which pays for the liquor tax and the cigarette tax and the one cent gasoline tax.

I know we can argue for a long time about the effect of the amendment on the corporate net income tax, but I think if it shows any pattern at all, it shows a pattern of an attempt to do something to lessen the burden of the corporation, when no effort has as yet been made to lessen the burden on the general public.

I have heard it said before, and I have said it myself, that the basic idealogical difference between the two parties, at least in Pennsylvania, is that the Republican Party favors property rights over personal rights, and if there is anything that indicates that any more clearly than the method pursued by the Republican Party on the emergency taxes in this state I would like to be told about it.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, we have had notice served on us this afternoon that the program of the Democratic Party, which was evidenced in the House when these bills were before the House, and again in the Senate, is going to be carried out to its final conclusion on the final bill, and that is, the Democratic Party has criticized this program and has refused to vote for any one of these tax measures. Their excuse to the public is that the budget is byguessing; their excuse is that no one has said to them specifically enough where these moneys are to go, and because of those two things generally the Democratic Party has taken the position that it will not vote for any of these tax measures, and up to this time has stood fast on that program and apparently intends to follow it out with this remaining bill.

During all of the time that the gentlemen on the other side have refused to raise one penny for the use of this state government, they have repeatedly been taking the floor and asking that money be spent on hospitals, that moneys be appropriated to their own districts for the use of institutions in their own districts, and day after day they have repeatedly requested that money be appropriated for things that they say are necessary and needful, and at the same time they have refused to raise one penny of the money to spend for the very purposes that they say are necessary.

I say, Mr. President, that it is very necessary for the gentlemen on the other side to take the position that they need to amend bills, that they need to raise a smokescreen back of which to hide and I say, Mr. President, that the Democratic Party in Pennsylvania has refused to meet the obligation of a major political party, not only because it says it dislikes a group of tax bills but besides it will not help to raise one penny of the money that is to go to help the people of Pennsylvania in running this government and the necessary parts of it.

I say that these gentlemen on the other side, when they return to their own districts and when they need to face their own constituents, will do well to look back upon the days when they refused to help Pennsylvania raise the necessary money to conduct its business.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, as a representative of the party that is accused of refusing to vote for tax bills and voting for all appropriations, I might say if we were doing this we would be following the pattern set up by the entire majority party when they were the minority, when we were raising money to feed people. If you will remember and recollect, you will find you voted against these bills when there was an emergency, and now, when there is no longer an emergency and the treasury is fat, the cupboard is no longer bare and there are all kinds of staples in the cupboard, we have sufficient money in Pennsylvania, I predict now and say again and again and again, that the surplus will be more than double the amount predicted by the Budget Director of the Commonwealth, and you could even do without some of the taxes, if you are not going to appropriate any more money than you have indicated to us you are going to appropriate.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Haluska,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, House Bill No. 342 attempts to amend the act of 1903 (P. L. 14). The act of 1903 laid down the requirements of corporate proxies for absentee voting at corporate meetings. The Act of 1903 has been superseded by the act of 1933, the corporation code, which by section 1202 expressly repeals this particular act of 1903, which is sought to be amended by this bill.

I think, therefore, that this bill should not be read for the first time but rather it ought to be dropped from the calendar.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 342, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the fifth day of March one thousand nine hundred and three (P. L. 14) entitled "An act concerning proxies authorizing representation and voting of shares of capital stock of corporations at meetings and elections thereof" by further regulating the execution of proxies

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 382, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend section seven hundred two of the act, approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 444, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the first day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1168), entitled "An act to protect the right of employes to organize and bargain collectively; creating the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board, officers of the State government, and courts, providing for the right of employes to organize and bargain collectively; declaring certain labor practices by employers to be unfair; further providing that representatives of a majority of the employes be the exclusive representatives of all the employes; authorizing the board to conduct hearings and elections, and certify as to representatives of employes for purposes of collective bargaining; empowering the board to prevent any person from engaging in any unfair labor practice, and providing a procedure for such cases, including the issuance of a complaint, the conducting of a hearing, and the making of an order; empowering the board to petition a court of common pleas for the enforcement of its order, and providing a procedure for such cases; providing for the review of an order of the board by a court of common pleas on petition of any person aggrieved by such order, and establishing a procedure for such cases; providing for an appeal from the common pleas court to the Supreme Court; providing the board with investigatory powers, including the power to issue subpoenas and the compelling of obedience to them through application to the proper court; providing for service of papers and process of the board; prescribing certain penalties," by guaranteeing to employes equal employment opportunity and full membership rights in labor organizations, without discrimination on account of race, creed, color, national origin or political affiliation, and by making any such discrimination an unfair labor practice.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, this bill as I understand, was to be the subject of a public hearing. I suggest that the bill remain on second reading. I do not believe, Mr. President, it is proper legislative action to pass a bill simply because another branch of the legislature wants to hold a public hearing on it. We do not believe this bill does the job it intends to do.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I understand that an agreement was made that this bill was left out of committee and that it was to be returned back to committee.

I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Potter.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the gentleman from Potter permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. BERGER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Berger, as Chairman of the committee on Labor and Industry, am I not right? Is that the statement you made?

Mr. BERGER. At the time the bill was reported out of committee it was understood there was to be a public hearing held on the bill and on House Bill No. 364.

Mr. HOLLAND. Will the Chairman of the Committee on Labor and Industry permit himself to be further interrogated.

Mr. BERGER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HOLLAND. Will the Chairman of the Committee on Labor and Industry tell me, did he not tell me, when I came over and asked him, that this bill was to be returned to committee for a public hearing.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I do not believe I said returned to committee. I said there would be a public hearing upon this bill

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, you could not very well have a public hearing while the bill is on the Calendar.

Mr. BERGER. The meeting is to be held by a House committee.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, that is not the information given to the newspapers. The information given to the papers was that there would be a joint hearing conducted by the House and Senate.

MOTION THAT SENATE BILL No. 444 BE RECOMMITTED TO THE COMMITTEE ON LABOR AND INDUSTRY

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I now move that Senate Bill No. 444, on second reading, be recommitted to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

Mr. JASPAN. I second the motion, Mr. President.

On the question.

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I second that motion because it was my distinct understanding this bill would only be reported out for printing, in order that publicity might be directed towards the bill, and in order that a public hearing could be held. To my knowledge I have never had any other understanding from any other member of the Senate, that the bill was to be considered seriously by the Members of the Senate at this particular time.

I therefore second the motion that Senate Bill No. 444 be returned to the Committee on Labor and Industry because that was our understanding at the time it was put out, that it was put out for the specific purpose so that the newspapers could give it publicity that there was to be a hearing on House and Senate bills. The only way I know you can hold a public hearing on a bill is for a committee to have that bill in its possession.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I want to further explain my stand. Inasmuch as there has been no meeting of the Committee on Labor and Industry on this bill, this was a gentleman's agreement, that the bill would come out and then go back to committee, and I am insisting that this agreement be lived up to.

Mr. COLEMAN. May I say in support of the motion, Mr. President, that Senate Bill No. 444 be recommitted, it has been a long established custom in the General Assembly that you can not have a public hearing on a bill before the Senate. This bill is out of the hands of the particular committee to which it was referred and a hearing can not properly be held by that committee, the bill no longer being the property of the committee, and regardless of the understanding with the Chairman of the Committee, if there is to be a public hearing I can not see how we can have a public hearing when the bill is before the Members of the Senate.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, at the time this bill was reported out of Committee, there was an understanding with the members of the committee whom I polled that there would be a joint hearing on this bill and House Bill 364.

Mr. DENT. That is our position.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, may I submit that the gentleman obviously is in agreement with the majority; you can not have a hearing; who is going to hold a hearing if the bill has passed out of the hands of that particular committee, it is now before the Senate, and the only way you can properly hold a hearing is when the bill is back in the hands and possession of the committee.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, a House committee could have a hearing, and will have a hearing on both bills; this bill will be in possession of the House after tomorrow.

Mr. DENT. That puts us in a very peculiar position. Are we to be recorded as voting yes or no on a so-called F.E.P.C. bill, on a question that was never properly taken up in committee? I have yet, with all the sins that we have, I have yet to find any person to break his word, and I know the Chairman of the Committee does not intend to.

I have very good hearing—and I think I have been as lenient as possible on any little matters that might expedite the session—he asked that the bill come out for the purpose of printing and a public hearing. At no time was it intimated to me that I would be asked to vote yes or no on this important piece of legislation at this particular time without committee action upon the bill.

I think you gentlemen, in a sense of fairness, must understand our position in the matter. We do not think it is fair. We, as members of the committee in the Senate want to sit in on the public hearing, not as guests of the house but as members of the committee here, not only with reference to this bill but also other F.E.P.C. bills that are in the committee. I do not think it is fair; it is not a decent thing to do.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Holland and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—16

Barr,	DiSilvestro,	Leader,	Rosenfeld,
Coleman,	Gourley,	Margie,	Ruth,
Cox,	Holland,	McCreesh,	Stiefel,
Dent,	Jaspan,	McGinnis,	Woodring,

NAYS—27

Becker,	Crowe,	Letzler,	Troutman,
Berger,	Farrell,	Mallery,	Tyler,
Blass,	Geltz,	Snowden,	Wagner,
Bowers,	Heyburn,	Stevenson,	Walker,
Carr,	Homsher,	Tallman,	Wilson,
Chapman,	Jones,	Taylor,	Ealy,
Crider,	Kephart,	Thomas,	Acting Pres Pro Tem.

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. DENT. I do not want to be difficult, but we have not studied this bill because it was our understanding that it would not be taken up for second reading, only for printing, in order to have a public hearing and have the searchlight of public opinion directed towards it. So, inasmuch as we have not read the bill thoroughly, I ask that the bill be read for our information.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Clerk will again read the first section of the bill.

The first, second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth sections and title were read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. HEYBURN. We are going to send it back to committee.

Mr. DENT. That still does not take away the onus of having broken your word, regardless.

I ask for a roll call.

During the calling of the roll the following occurred:

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I made a motion—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I rise on a point of order.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of order.

Mr. FARRELL. I submit, Mr. President, that nothing can stop a roll call.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise on a matter of information.

Mr. FARRELL. Mr. President, I have raised a point of order.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Westmoreland rises on a point of information. In the opinion of the Chair, the gentleman from Westmoreland is in order.

Mr. DENT. Thank you very kindly.

Mr. President, what are we voting upon, which motion, my motion or the motion of the gentleman from Delaware.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Delaware had not completed his motion. The request of the gentleman from Westmoreland was that the roll be called on the question would the Senate agree to the bill on second reading. If there was a request that the bill go over in its order, the Chair did not hear it.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, the roll call had started and it will have to continue. I rose to move to send the bill back to committee, as per agreement, after second reading, but the gentleman from Westmoreland required a roll call, and the voting having started, it will have to be completed.

Mr. DENT. That is all I wanted to know, Mr. President, what I am voting upon. Are we voting upon a motion to send the bill back to committee or are we voting upon the bill on second reading.

Mr. HEYBURN. We are voting upon the bill on second reading.

Mr. DENT. Then I ask my colleagues on this side to vote "present"; that is all there is to it.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I do not think a group of members may vote "present" without giving reasons.

Mr. BARR. I will give mine, Mr. President.

Mr. HEYBURN. Under the Constitution, Mr. President, a member must have some special interest in order to vote "present".

Mr. BARR. Each member will give this reason as his name is called.

Mr. DENT. The reason is that the bill was not considered by the committee.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, each member on our side will give his reason as his name is called. We will all give our reasons when our names are called, or if you desire us to wait until after the roll is completed we will give our reasons then.

(The Clerk again proceeded to call the roll.)

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I vote "present" for the reason that the Chairman of the Committee on Labor and Industry told the members on this side, when the bill was reported out for printing, that it would be re-referred when the bill came up for second reading.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, the Chairman of the Committee on Labor and Industry did not say this bill would be on the Calendar, be printed, and referred back to committee; he said there would be a joint hearing on the bill, and there was no time specified when it would be returned to committee.

Mr. HOLLAND. For the information of the Chairman of the Committee on Labor and Industry, he being a new Member of the Senate, you have to have a bill in committee in order to have a public hearing.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Chair calls to the attention of the Senators we are past that point and there is nothing before the Senate excepting the calling of the roll.

(The Clerk again proceeded with the calling of the roll.)

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am voting "present" and my colleagues are voting "present" because under the rules of the Senate a bill must be considered in committee before it can be presented for a vote of the Senate and this bill was never considered in committee.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I am voting "present" because I honestly believe that I should first hear the arguments pro and con on this bill, because I happen to have a bill of the same nature in one of the committees, and I might vote for this bill if I am convinced after listening to arguments, and that is the reason I am voting "present."

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Chair suggests that the roll be proceeded with. The Senators will all be given an opportunity to express their feelings.

(The Clerk again proceeded with the calling of the roll.)

Mr. GOURLEY. Mr. President, I am voting "present," and the reason I am doing so is I understand there will be a public hearing held and I desire to inform myself of the pros and cons at this public hearing before voting "aye" or "nay."

Mr. LEADER. I vote "present." I feel, as does Senator Gourley, that only after a public hearing will I be in a position to vote intelligently on the measures that are being proposed.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I am voting "aye" for the same reason given by the gentleman from Washington, Senator Gourley.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. DENT, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—28

Becker,	Farrell,	Scarlett,	Tyler,
Berger,	Geltz,	Snowden,	Wagner,
Blass,	Heyburn,	Stevenson,	Walker,
Bowers,	Homsher,	Tallman,	Wilson,

PRESENT—14

Barr,	Gourley,	McCreesh,	Ruth,
Coleman,	Holland,	McGinnis,	Stiefel,
Dent,	Jaspan,	Rosenfeld,	Woodring,
DiSilvestro,	Leader,

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President—

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President—

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The bill has now passed second reading.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President—

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Does the gentleman from Westmoreland wish to talk on this bill.

Mr. DENT. I do not, Mr. President; if the Chair will recognize me I will tell him.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland.

Mr. DENT. I ask unanimous consent at this time to introduce a companion bill.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection?

Mr. HEYBURN. There is, Mr. President; we are not in that order of business. I am about to make a motion.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 444, the bill just read, be recommitted to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

Mr. LETZLER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. GELTZ and Mr. WALKER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—44

Barr,	DiSilvestro,	Letzler,	Tallman,
Becker,	Farrell,	Mallery,	Taylor,
Berger,	Geltz,	Margie,	Thomas,
Blass,	Gourley,	McCreesh,	Troutman,

Dent,			Pres. Pro. Tem.

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

O God, unashamed, we ask of Thee who givest liberally and upbraideth not, the deep wisdom of patience which springs from faith. Grant unto every legislator and citizen, in these days of stress and strain, the victory that overcometh the world even our faith in Thee. Help all people throughout the world to keep close to the Carpenter of Nazareth who, in the midst of rugged simplicity, found the way to the grand life nor counted any price too great to pay for it. And now as we raise these petitions in His name may we ask also His Spirit. Amen.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. GOODLING and TURBETT.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 40.

In the House of Representatives, March 14, 1945.

Since the organization of this General Assembly, the Game Commission and the Fish Commission have been the objects of adverse criticism and various resolutions have been introduced requesting investigations of the conduct of their work.

In his address to the General Assembly at the time of the convening of this session, his Excellency the Governor stated that the idea of "combining the two commissions had been suggested" which leads to the conclusion that others think that the game and fish situation in Pennsylvania could be improved.

The criticism of, and the abuse directed at these two commissions must have some basis, and even though the facts upon which that basis is constructed may be erroneous, it is still sufficient to raise a doubt as to the efficiency of these two very important parts of the State Government.

If the criticisms are justifiable, a change should be made. If they are not, then both commissions are entitled to the support of the General Assembly and to its stamp of approval.

For their protection and for a renewal of the faith of the people in the efficiency of the administration of these important commissions, a full investigation should be made; therefore be it

Resolved, That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby requests the Joint State Government Commission to make a thorough investigation of the Game Commission and the Fish Commission of the Commonwealth, and of their manner of administering the laws of the Commonwealth relating to game and fish, of the manner of re-stocking the game and fish life, and of the establishing of closed seasons, and to study and make a comparison of the work and conduct of similar commissions or departments in other states, and to make a full and complete report of their study and investigation to the General Assembly not later than March 1, 1947, accompanied by such recommendations concerning any change in the administration of the matters now under the supervision and control of the Game Commission and the Fish Commission that they decide should be made.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. COHEN. RESOLUTION No. 41.

In the House of Representatives, March 14, 1945.

Whereas, The tide of victory on the far flung battle fronts of the world brings hope of an early termination of hostilities, and

Whereas, The end of the war will present to our United States, its government, its industries, its laboring people, complex problems of readjustment and reconversion, and

Whereas, In this period of transition, with its dislocation of business, resettlement of workers and readjustment of returning veterans, will result in a lack of immediate employment opportunity to millions of returning veterans; now therefore be it

Resolved, That it is the sense of this House, that we memorialize the Congress of the United States, to pass the "Veterans Readjustment Act of 1945" to provide a continuation of pay to returning veterans, as a matter of right, for a period up to twelve months, to aid in the trying period of readjustment; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the President, to the Senate and to the House of Representatives at Washington, D. C.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair welcomes to the House this evening a former Member, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Lawrence P. Keenan.

SPECIAL ORDER ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE HOUSE BILL No. 726

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House the special order of business fixed for this hour, House Bill 726, Printer's No. 208, bill on third reading and final passage.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 726, as follows:

An Act prohibiting any city borough or town from imposing a tax on wages

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 On and after January first one thousand nine hundred forty-six it shall be unlawful for any city borough or town to impose a tax on wages

Section 2 The act approved the fifth day of August one thousand nine hundred thirty-two (P. L. 45) entitled "An act empowering cities of the first and second classes to levy assess and collect or to provide for the levying assessment and collection of certain additional taxes for general revenue purposes authorizing the establishment of bureaus and the appointment and compensation of officers and employes to assess and collect such taxes and permitting penalties to be imposed and enforced" is hereby repealed absolutely

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, last Wednesday when it appeared that House Bill 726 and House Bill 5 would be on today's calendar together for third reading and final passage, I feel sure the membership of this House was well satisfied that the decision of the House on House Bill 726 was well taken. At this time we have the opportunity to give the widest possible hearing to the whole question of taxes on wages, not within the confines of a committee and before a few officials and other interested groups, but before the entire membership of this House and within the hearing of the entire citizenry of the Commonwealth.

It has been suggested, unofficially of course, that House Bill 726 and House Bill 5 might be debated together. I believe that it should not be considered a violation of the rules of order if reference is made in the debate of either bill to the other bill. Both bills deal directly with the same subject but they deal with that subject in very different ways.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to debate both bills?

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I believe it would be proper to refer to either bill in debating either bill, but I do not believe it entirely practical to fully debate both bills at the same time.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objections. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, may I know what the objection is?

The SPEAKER. The objection, the Chair takes it, is from the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. James.

Mr. JAMES. That there be no reference to the one bill in debating the other, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. There is one bill before the House, House Bill 726, Printer's No. 208, and the question is on that bill.

Mr. JAMES. Is objection raised to referring in any degree to House Bill 5 in debating House Bill 726?

The SPEAKER. If the Chair hears no objection the gentleman may proceed.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker, I object.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objection.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman be estopped until he has committed some breach of parliamentary procedure to which objection can possibly be filed?

The SPEAKER. The Chair was extending the courtesy of the House. The Chair was under the impression that the gentleman asked for and desired consent to debate both bills. The gentleman may proceed.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 726 does two things. It prohibits any city, borough or town from imposing a tax on wages. That, of course, is absolute and means that those political subdivisions could not impose a tax on wages under any circumstance. Further, House Bill 726 repeals an Act of 1932 which is known as the Sterling Act, under which Act the city of Philadelphia has been enabled to levy taxes on a number of subjects, among them apparently the wages of persons who work in the city of Philadelphia. But the city ordinance has carried the levying of these taxes far beyond those persons who live in the city of Philadelphia. It has carried these taxes into another state of the United States, and it has carried them into any county, of course, in Pennsylvania where persons might reside, who nevertheless work in Philadelphia.

Now, those persons who believe a wage tax is a sound tax are of course entitled to debate here and give their reasons. There are a number of us who are supporting House Bill 726 because we do not believe, and we do not believe sincerely that a wage tax in any form is a proper tax, and that we believe sincerely that a wage tax in any form is a proper tax, and that we believe that the wage tax in Philadelphia in its present form is a decidedly vicious tax, and from the standpoint that it levies a tax on people who have no opportunity to vote for it, it is an immoral tax.

We believe, of course, that Philadelphia has the right to run its own business. We believe thoroughly in the principle of home rule, but we do not believe that the state of Pennsylvania can allow a statute to stand on the books here in this state which would permit Philadelphia and subsequently other communities in this state to levy a tax on persons equally throughout. It is a tax on income in the best sense of the term, because it is a tax on income from earnings. This particular tax in Philadelphia is a one cent tax now, and it is one cent on the man who makes twenty-five dollars a week, and it is one per cent on the man who makes $25,000 a year, and for that reason, Mr. Speaker, I and those who believe with me are opposed to this wage tax in toto, and we ask that the House support House Bill 726.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. James.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JAMES. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman pay a wage tax in Philadelphia?

Mr. JAMES. I do, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SALUS. Does the gentleman have any businesses in Philadelphia, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. JAMES. I do.

Mr. SALUS. How many, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. JAMES. I am at the head of one business in Philadelphia, Mr. Speaker, and I am interested in another business in Philadelphia.

Mr. SALUS. That is all at the present time, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I believe that the gentleman desires to infer that I get great benefits from the city of Philadelphia and therefore I should pay a tax in Philadelphia on the salary that I earn. Mr. Speaker, I pay tribute in Philadelphia. Every suit of clothing that I have on my back I buy in Philadelphia; when I get my hair cut I get it cut in Philadelphia; I eat all of my lunches in Philadelphia; my shoes were bought in Philadelphia, my socks, my watch and chain and my collar button.

I distribute in Philadelphia at least seventy-five per cent of the money that I earn by purchases in the city of Philadelphia, and it is to be assumed that the merchants from whom I purchase pay real estate taxes and other taxes to the city of Philadelphia on my behalf and in my name.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know from the gentleman from Philadelphia what is wrong with the merchants and the other people in Delaware County that he does not patronize his own home people?

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I live in a community that has a large college and one small store. If I wanted to buy a suit of clothes I could not be accommodated; if I wanted to buy a watch, that store would not have it for sale, and therefore I go to a center that by reason of good fortune and size has merchandise in large selection at fair prices where I can take my choice and pay my money and help pay the tax.

Mr. FINNERTY. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 726, Printer's No. 208, is commonly known as the Philadelphia, Bucks, Berks, Chester, Montgomery and Delaware County wage tax law, but what the general public calls it I will not be permitted to mention on this floor. It is the most unpopular tax ever enacted in this state. No one can escape it, from the small newsboy to the banker. Even our boys and girls in the armed forces are not exempt. The only consideration they get, they must pay it six months after the war. Any boy, a resident of Philadelphia, now risking his life twenty-four hours a day, when he comes back must pay a one cent tax on the small pittance that he receives, unless you repeal this act.

Can you picture a law in these days in Pennsylvania as vicious as that? If you are a resident of Philadelphia, no matter where you work, in any part of the four corners of the earth, you must pay a cent tax on every dollar you earn, and as Mr. James said, if you went outside of the city of Philadelphia and you work or do business in Philadelphia you must pay this tax, and so you see it covers every avenue; there is no escape.

One argument that is used against this bill, they say it will repeal the Sterling Act. I am not learned in the law; I do not know, but I attended a conference over the week end, and there were present five lawyers. They discussed the effects of this act on the Sterling Act, and wasn't it strange, five lawyers together and they couldn't agree? That was a very strange thing to me. But I would say, Members of the House, that if this act repeals the Sterling Act, it is not the intention of the sponsors of this bill to wipe out the Sterling Act, and therefore preventing other counties from levying a just tax. Our only intention is to prevent the tax on wages. We feel that when a man earns a dollar he has the right to receive every cent of it, and no one has a right to take a penny of tax from his pay check. We feel it is the American way for him to receive it, and he should decide how he should spend it.

Another argument against this bill was made last Monday night. They said the sponsors of this bill opposed a public hearing on this measure. Ladies and gentlemen of the House, I knew nothing of such an idea of a public hearing until I arrived at Harrisburg that Monday night. No one of the opposition approached me in any way, shape or form to consider a public hearing, so I therefore thought that the movement was not sincere, and it was only made to put this bill back into the pickle where it would die. That is why we opposed a public hearing.

If you pass this bill tonight and send it over to the Senate the bill can be amended and we will ask for a public hearing. Hundreds of bills have been sent from this House to the Senate and have been amended and put in better shape and accepted by this House, and that is the intention of the sponsors. We would like a public hearing so both sides could present their case in front of this committee, and with the cooperation of all those interested we will get a better measure, a more fair measure so that the people of Philadelphia would have a better place and a more satisfactory place to live in.

In conclusion I want to say to those in the counties outside of Philadelphia, you do not now have a wage tax imposed on you, but as long as this tax stays on the law books of Pennsylvania it may crop up on you like a shot out of a cannon, as it did in Philadelphia.

You may elect an administration, any party, Democratic, Republican, Socialist or whatever it may be, and when they find that this wage tax is such a juicy melon they can impose it and you will have no recourse. So we ask you tonight, tonight is your chance, not five years from now, but tonight, to support House Bill 726, have it repealed and then you will never have the danger of a wage tax.

Mr. HOGGARD. Mr. Speaker, we are highly favored in this country in that we have a democratic form of government and not an autocratic nor totalitarian system of government. In America the voice of the people renders the verdict. It was said on the floor of this House last Monday night that a few high officials in Philadelphia were opposed to the passage of this piece of legislation, but they represent the minority, and a very small minority. The masses of the people, the common people,—and Abraham Lincoln said that God must have loved the common people because he made so many of them,—the overwhelming majority of the people of Philadelphia want House Bill 726 passed, and they want it passed at the very earliest possible moment.

It was said also on the floor of this House last Monday night by the gentleman from Delaware that this tax does not only affect the people in Philadelphia, but it affects those who live outside of Philadelphia but work there. Several persons were arrested a few weeks ago at the Navy Yard in Philadelphia. They were taken off their jobs and carried before a magistrate. They were lax in the payment of the wage tax. They did not deliberately and maliciously refuse to pay this tax, but they didn't know it was obligatory upon them as non-residents of Philadelphia to pay such a tax. Nevertheless they were prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law; they were ordered to pay the tax there and then; they were fined one hundred dollars, and the costs of course,—one hundred dollars each, if you please.

Now, Mr. Speaker, these were working men; they were laborers. They were taken off their jobs. They were not the kind that walk the streets with hundreds of dollars of pocket change in their pockets. They did not have the money to pay the fine with, and they were thrown in jail and ordered to be retained there until the tax was paid. This happened at a time when our allied armies were suffering the worst setback of the entire war. General Eisenhower was calling for bombs and ships and planes and guns. Another one of our great generals was saying "Give us the ammunition and we will deliver the victory" but we cannot give them the ammunition when the second largest defense area in the world is snatching from their war jobs men by the scores and throwing them in jail because they ignorantly and unknowingly ignored a nuisance tax law that happened to be untenable.

It was further stated on this floor last Monday night that if this bill is enacted into law Philadelphia will be driven into bankruptcy. In my opinion that is propaganda. Philadelphia went through the major portions of one of the worst depressions ever inflicted on the human race since first the flight of years began without this tax, and by what process of reasoning does the gentleman presume now logically to conclude such a tax is indispensable to the economic welfare of the city of Philadelphia? On the front of one of the seats located outside of this building are these vital and significant words "Dare to do the right and leave the consequences to divine wisdom."

Members of the House, we are challenged tonight, we are called upon by our constituents to dare to do the right. Vote for House Bill 726 and banish this vicious, this obnoxious, this nuisance wage law, this tax law, and leave the consequences to Infinite wisdom.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker, I have the authority here, a letter from the city solicitor of Philadelphia. It is a long, long letter, and I am going to ask permission of the Members to place this letter in the record and make it a part of the argument tonight.

The reason I want to put this letter in the record is that it tells the entire set-up, the financial set-up of the city of Philadelphia, so that many of my misguided friends in their opportune moments may look over the same and be convinced that the city of Philadelphia is asking nothing unreasonable. I do not want to take the time to read about six or eight pages with a lot of statistics.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to extending the remarks of the gentleman on the record?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would object to the filing of the letter unread, because the letter filed unread will appear upon the record as making a statement that was not answered, and we do not know until we know what is in the letter whether the statement should or should not be answered.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objections, and consent is not granted.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker, I will then yield to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Root, who will read the letter. I did not want to keep the Members in their seats and be annoyed. I do not think there is anything in the letter that anybody can object to.

Mr. ROOT. Mr. Speaker, This letter is from the Department of Law and to Honorable Samuel W. Salus, and it says:

Frank F. Truscott — Department of Law
City Solicitor — City Hall Annex
City of Philadelphia

March 12, 1945

House of Representatives,
Honorable Samuel W. Salus, Harrisburg, Penna.

Dear Mr. Salus:—

The City of Philadelphia urges you to oppose vigorously the passage of House Bill 726, entitled "An act prohibiting any city, borough or town from imposing a tax on wages."

Although the title of the proposed Act purports to prohibit a tax on wages, the Bill itself contains a provision for the repeal of the Sterling Act of August 5, 1932, P. L. 45, and the enactment of this Bill would, in the case of Philadelphia, invalidate a large number of taxing Ordinances prepared pursuant to that Act, including taxes on amusements, on documents, on parking lots, and on the premiums of mutual life and mutual fire insurance companies.

To prohibit the collection of these taxes would create a serious financial crisis and would make it virtually impossible to carry on the municipal activities of the City of Philadelphia. The Budget requirements of the City under the most economical program are in the neighborhood of $85,000,000 a year. The result of the enactment of this Bill would be to reduce the annual City income to about $60,000,000, leaving a deficit of about $25,000,000. With this reduced income, the City would be prevented from performing many of the essential functions imposed upon it and could not adequately safeguard the health and welfare of its inhabitants. This reduction in income would prevent the continuance of improvements necessary for the development and growth of the City, and the resulting injury to the great industrial and transportation metropolis of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania would be reflected and felt in all parts of the State.

The repeal of the Act of 1932, which would divest the City of its right to levy and collect these taxes, would necessarily result in a heavy increase in the rate of the tax levied on real estate. At the present time, the real estate tax rate for the City of Philadelphia is $1.70 per $100 of assessed valuation and for the School District of Philadelphia is $1.175 per $100 of assessed valuation. The yield to the City from the real estate tax in 1944 was approximately $40,000,000 and the yield from the other taxes enumerated above was approximately $24,000,000. If these other taxes are eliminated and it is necessary to make up the deficiency by an increase in the rate of tax on real estate, the increase would approximate $1.00 on each $100 of valuation. The resulting rate of $2.70 City tax, when added to the $1.175 for school tax, be burdensome to real estate and harmful to the business and industry of this City, perhaps to such an extent as to have a marked effect on the prosperity of the City and the employment and remuneration of its inhabitants.

As you know, there is a general movement throughout the Commonwealth to find means of relieving real estate from some of the burden of taxation to which it is now subjected for municipal and school purposes. In the case of the City of Philadelphia, the City rate on real estate has been kept within reasonable limits. This has been made possible in part by reason of the revenue obtained by the City from other sources of taxation, under the authority of the Act of 1932 To repeal this Act and to eliminate these other sources, forcing the City to increase the burden on real estate would reverse the modern trend and violate the principles of taxation advocated by the outstanding students of the subjects of taxation and the financing of municipal government. Its injurious effects would be felt in every phase of life in the City, including those which House Bill 726 allegedly seeks to relieve of their share of the cost of carrying on municipal government. It would affect the tenant, to whom the increase in real estate tax would ultimately be passed. In affecting commerce and idustry, it would affect the wage earner and his ability to find gainful employment. It would affect the real estate owner and those who have made investments secured by real estate.

The provisions of the Bill are particularly ill-advised and dangerous at this time in view of the uncertainty of the financial problems that will confront our municipalities at the conclusion of the war, the need for post-war adjustments and the planning of post-war projects to furnish necessary improvements to those municipalities and employment to their people, including those now members of the armed forces of the United States. Under conditions such as these, the ends sought to be accomplished by the Bill might destroy the vital instruments with which municipalities could protect themselves from great injury and harm that might otherwise overtake them.

The earned income tax, sometimes referred to as the "wage tax", and the taxes on amusements, documents, .etc. are fair and just taxes, are moderate in rate and are a proper distribution among the persons taxed of the cost of the administration of the municipal government and the benefits conferred by it on the taxpayers. Real estate is not the only subject matter that is benefited by the expenditures made by a city or borough or town, and there is no just reason why real estate owners should be compelled to bear all, or practically all, of the expenses of government, to the exclusion of others who receive benefits.

The enactment of House Bill 726 would virtually prevent the distribution of the tax burden to others than real estate owners and would in effect deprive a municipality of any power to use discretion in the means of meeting the expenses of government. It would constitute a clear denial of the right of home rule and would deprive those who must meet the problems of local government of the means with which to solve those problems.

I am enclosing for your information a financial statement, showing the receipts by the City of Philadelphia for the years 1943 and 1944 and the respective sources thereof, from which you will note the sums realized by the City from the various revenue sources now available to it and of which the City would be deprived if House Bill 726 were enacted into law.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) FRANK F. TRUSCOTT

FFT:McD:6 City Solicitor

Mr. Speaker, attached to this letter is a statement of the City Treasurer showing the receipts for the years 1943 and 1944 from each source of its revenue. If you desire I will read this in detail, but if I might have unanimous consent to save you a half hour may I ask for permission to have it made a part of the record.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its consent to making the City Treasurer's Statement a part of the record? The Chair hears no objections, and consent is granted.

REPORT OF EDGAR W. BAIRD, JR., CITY TREASURER
143 CITY HALL, PHILADELPHIA

For the year ending, December 31, 1944

With this report the fiscal year of the City of Philadelphia for 1944 comes to an end. The books have been closed and show that the City has a cash balance of $4,621,133.30 and, in addition, holds $5,000,000 U. S. Treasury 7/8% Certificates of Indebtedness. The total of these items makes the cash balance practically the same as it was at the close of 1943.

From total collections for the year, there should be deducted the $16,730.76 for interest paid at time of purchase of U. S. Certificates of Indebtedness and $2,306.02, which represents reimbursement from the Federal Government to cover Council's appropriation for certain prison labor. Making these deductions, excess receipts over budget estimates are $1,603,758.60, as compared with excess receipts of approximately $3,874,000 for 1943. This revenue surplus was increased by $1,428,109.97 in merging balances, which are unexpended sums in the appropriations of the various departments. The net surplus for 1944 therefore amounts to $3,031,868.57, as compared with $4,758,716.18 for 1943.

It will probably be a matter of interest to know that the gross outstanding bonded indebtedness of the City was reduced by $23,983,500 during 1944. The City's debt structure has been showing a steady improvement for a number of years, which is a reflection of the sound fiscal principles that have been followed.

A new item of revenue has appeared for a full year's period for the first time in 1944, namely, the earnings which have accrued to the City through its investment in War Loan securities. The City's actual net earnings during the past twelve months from this source have amounted to $131,134.95. There should be added to this, accrued interest and premium as of December 31, 1944, of $6,346.15 on the $5,000,000 U. S. Treasury 7/8% Certificates of Indebtedness held at the year end, making the gross income from this item $137,481.10 for the year .

Mr. Speaker, practically every newspaper in the city of Philadelphia is opposed to the passage of House Bill No. 726. I have here an editorial from the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin dated Wednesday, March 14, 1945. With the permission of the House I will read the editorial. The heading of the editorial is

Wreckers at Work

This city's income tax is levied by legislative authority, and what the Legislature has given it can take away. Yet if anything can be said for deciding the fate of any city tax at Harrisburg rather than in Philadelphia, the public has every right to demand that legislators who propose to withdraw the power to levy the tax be ready with a constructive plan for making good the ensuing deficiency.

A bill to repeal the Sterling Act of 1932, which empowers the city to tax anything the State does not, and under which the income, the amusement, and several other taxes are levied, has suddenly come to life in the House. It is hard to say whether the strength of its backing or the recklessness of the backers is the more amazing.

This year the city is counting on about $24,000,000 from taxes which would fall if the Sterling Act were repealed. That amount of city income would have to be supplied from another source, and there is no other source but the real estate tax. To raise $24,000,000 through real estate taxation would entail a boost of $1.02 per $100 of assessed valuation, from $2.875 per hundred to $3.895.

Perhaps this is exactly what the supporters of the bill intend; but the indications are that their thoughts have not extended beyond creating a hole in the city income the filling of which, if it can be done, will cause embarrassment to others than themselves.

Mr. FINNERTY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Root.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROOT. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FINNERTY. Mr. Speaker, as I heard the gentleman's voice in reading the letter of His Honor the Mayor, the gentleman said it would put it down to practically sixty million dollars income, is that right?

Mr. ROOT. That is approximately correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FINNERTY. When the controllers certified the receipts of Philadelphia, as I remember, it was something like eighty-nine million dollars.

Mr. ROOT. That includes the twenty-five million, or approximately that amount, from the wage tax, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FINNERTY. That would bring it up to only eighty-five million. What about the other four million, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ROOT. Now, Mr. Speaker, I am giving the gentleman round figures. If he wishes details I am going to refer him to the treasury report. There is about four million dollars of miscellaneous income from other sources such as amusements and various other departments.

Mr. FINNERTY. Well, Mr. Speaker, I will study that in the meeting of the committee on first class cities tomorrow.

I also want to say in reply to that editorial in the Bulletin, I read that editorial, and it said as I understand, that it would raise $1.02 on the hundred dollars, if I recall the statement I read. Now, take a family of two or three wage earners,—I will cite a real case to bring it out. My home is assessed at $2,500; my taxes are $74.50. The wage tax was introduced to save the raising of taxes. Now, we have two workers in the house we pay $53 wage taxes. That would amount, I think, to $99.50 in round figures. Now, if that tax is raised one dollar on the hundred it would raise it $25 a year. Do you see where the wage tax pays the ante?

Mr. ROOT. Mr. Speaker, is that a question?

Mr. FINNERTY. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ROOT. What is the question, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. FINNERTY. My question is, my taxes are $74.50. I pay $53 wage tax for two workers in the family. Now, that would amount to $127.50. If my taxes were raised $25,—and I am paying $74.50 now, I would only be paying $99.50. Where does the wage tax save me any real estate tax?

Mr. ROOT. Of course, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia is fortunate in having two wage earners in his home. With two wage earners in his home the bill is very proper and fair; each one can very easily afford to pay one per cent of its weekly wages towards all the benefits that they get from the city of Philadelphia.

Mr. FINNERTY. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, for his answer, and I will study the financial report.

Mr. ROOT. Mr. Speaker, while I am on this subject, I did not wish to get into this debate, because my colleague from Philadelphia can take them all on and do a very good job, but I have in this morning's mail received a pamphlet issued by the Citizens Business Bureau of Municipal Research, in which it lists the various cities in the Union, showing their tax rates per one hundred dollars. Boston has the highest rate, $39.90 per hundred dollars. Buffalo comes next, Chicago comes next, Pittsburgh is No. 4, Detroit No. 5, Baltimore No. 6, New York No. 7. Philadelphia, the third largest city in the Union, is No. 8. We from Philadelphia on this side of the House are proud of its economical administration.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I for one regret exceedingly that this debate has now degenerated into a question of which tax is more righteous, a city wage levy or an increase in real estate taxes. The record is quite clear, that the Philadelphia Republican Party and its philosophy of taxation is very specific. They believe that taxes should be thrust upon those least able to pay, and that argument, Mr. Speaker, cannot be debated by the Republican Philadelphia spokesmen.

This is not a question of whether we are to abolish the city income tax and increase the real estate levy. That, in my opinion, is just baseless propaganda. The truth of the matter is that the entire tax structure in the city of Philadelphia must be reestablished. No one ever said the City Fathers in Philadelphia knew how to assess taxes, and let me remind the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Root, that when he read the rate of taxation of the large cities in the United States he did not bring to the attention of the House that the assessed valuations in Philadelphia are so outrageously out of place and so definitely against the real estate owner that their rate could be fifty cents lower and still Philadelphia real estate owners would get a very bad deal. That is a matter of record. It is a matter of record, because only a few months ago the Board of Revision of Taxes in the city and county of Philadelphia raised assessments throughout the city and county of Philadelphia, and in their measure of increase in assessments they did not give one reason why such increases were warranted.

The gentleman from Philadelphia knows full well that if the assessments in Philadelphia were levied honestly, then the real estate tax in Philadelphia would have to be comparatively higher than it is today, but this question of the abolition of the city wage tax does not necessarily intertwine with the real estate tax.

The editorial which the gentleman read in the Evening Bulletin of Philadelphia is no less convincing. I have seen the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin one year, prior to a municipal election call the City Fathers of Philadelphia everything in the dictionary, and I have seen the same Evening Bulletin state very clearly that they must in the next few months get their house in order or else that great newspaper institution is going to take away its support. Every time an editorial like that is written, in the very last analysis the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin is back in the same old corner from whence it started, so any editorial in the Evening Bulletin convinces me not.

I want to say to the Members of the House, we have one question before us, are we to permit a vicious tax on the statute books of Philadelphia affecting not only the residents of Philadelphia but non-residents, a tax on those least able to pay, or are we to send back a measure to the City Council of Philadelphia that they had better get their taxing authorities in order, and tax those with ability to pay?

The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Root, read from the Department of Law, and the letter said that this is a fair and just tax. I defy any Member on the Republican side to state,—not read a letter, but state on the floor of this House his reason for calling this tax just and fair. There is nothing just or fair about it. The truth of the matter is that it is a tax on the people least able to pay, which is contrary to democratic principles.

I say, Mr. Speaker, if we cannot get a more convincing argument than a few long drawn out statements from a letter from the Department of Law of the city of Philadelphia, then I say we should vote for this bill and send a message back to City Council that we do not stand for unfair and unjust taxes on the people of Philadelphia and on the nonresidents.

Mr. GRANT. Mr. Speaker, I have listened to this debate very attentively, as I always try to make it my business to do. I listened to the arguments of the gentlemen from Delaware, Mr. James, and I listened to the arguments of Mr. Finnerty, and I in turn listened to the answers that were given by the opposition to this bill.

One of those arguments was that Mr. James earns money, and the other one was that Mr. Finnerty naturally saves money, but at the same time the thought occurred to me that if certain people are relieved from real estate taxes, that those very people work in turn and they hate to pay their taxes indirectly, plus the fact that the Philadelphia men in their arguments on this bill are bragging about the low rate of real estate tax that they have in comparison with other cities, but they do not hesitate to levy a tax upon the people whom I represent, constituents of Berks County, and I have thousands of them who work in Philadelphia. They have their homes in Berks County and are good citizens. Their only purpose in working in Philadelphia in war time is in order to further the war work, because they have the essential industries there, and because the United States government has requested them to volunteer to go to work down there. I think the argument of the champions of this bill from Philadelphia is not well taken when they want to charge a tax on my constituents working in Philadelphia solely from patriotic motives when they are paying their own local taxes.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I just want to reiterate the fact that my motion of last week for the purpose of recommitting this bill for a public hearing was warranted. It needed the hearing and needed some study, and I am still of the same opinion.

Mr. Speaker, the gentleman's arguments are convincing. Taxes are obnoxious, and particularly wage taxes are obnoxious. Certainly if I were a Councilman of a city I would feel that I would not sanction the assessment of a tax on wages. If this were a measure to impose a tax on wages I would not vote for it. If this were only a measure, Mr. Speaker, to abolish a tax on wages, I question whether I would not vote for it, but I find myself in an anomolous position. I find myself without an alternative, because of the way this bill is written. It doesn't stop with wage taxes, it doesn't give me the opportunity to vote squarely on the wage tax issue. It has too many things tacked onto it.

Without raising a constitutional point of order I would like to suggest to the gentlemen who advocate this measure that if it passes here in its present form, if it passes in the Senate in its present form and if it is signed by the Governor in its present form they have nothing. The title of this act, Mr. Speaker, says "An Act prohibiting any city, borough or town from imposing a tax on wages" and section one does just that. But, Mr. Speaker, section two does a lot of things that the title gives no notice of whatever. Section two of the bill repeals the Act of 1932, and in case you have not read it, this is the Act of 1932,

> "The council of any city of the first or second class shall have the authority by ordinance for general revenue purposes to levy, assess and collect or provide for the levying, assessment and collection of such taxes on persons, transactions, occupations, privileges, subjects and personal properties within the limits of such city of the first or second class as it shall determine."

So it goes on, Mr. Speaker, giving authority generally to cities of the first and second classes to tax those things which the Commonwealth would have authority to tax but does not tax.

As it applies to cities of the second class that particular Act expired, but, Mr. Speaker, this proposed bill attempts to do things of which it gives no notice, either by its title or on the calendar, and I submit that they have nothing, because it would fall in any court.

Secondly, Mr. Speaker, on the merits of the measure, I might add that even if this were a measure applying solely and exclusively to Philadelphia I might be inclined to go along with it, but it applies to any municipality. It is not a direct vote on a wage tax, it is merely a direction to those local governments that are affected or that might be affected under necessity of dire circumstances, to take advantage of this provision of the Sterling Act by legislation. It affects all of them, and in particular it affects the cities of the second class and cities of the first class for reasons that I shall not impose upon you, as I feel that could be done so much better by one of the gentlemen from Allegheny County who are vitally affected, and who would find themselves in a much more anomolous position than mine, in that they would directly vote to prohibit the city of Philadelphia from doing exactly that which the city of Pittsburgh has got to do, and that is not just a wage tax.

Mr. Speaker, for the reasons stated, I respectfully ask all the Members of this House to vote against House Bill 726. If I were to decide I would prefer to recommit it to the Committee on Municipal Corporations for further study and possible amendment, but here we are without an alternative, and I ask the Members to vote against the measure.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I had not intended to enter into the debate on this measure, but the matter has been thrust not only upon me but upon every Member of the delegation from Allegheny County, by the remarks of the gentleman just concluded.

It is quite true and it is common knowledge that the tax affairs of the city of Pittsburgh are very frequently embroiled in these discussions of the Philadelphia wage tax. We find ourselves dragged in unwittingly and the remark has been made before it was made tonight, not alone on the floor of the House last Monday night when the motion to recommit was debated, but also in the public press, that we in Pittsburgh are in an anomolous position in voting for the repeal of Philadelphia's wage tax and for the repeal of the Sterling Act and at the same time coming before this legislature for relief. It is common knowledge that the officials of the city of Pittsburgh have been in Harrisburg asking for increased taxing powers.

As I say, it is charged that we are in an anomolous position in voting as I propose to do, and as I believe my colleagues from Allegheny County will do, at least on this side of the House on this bill, but I think that that charge is entirely erroneous. It springs from a failure to understand our position in Allegheny County and in the city of Pittsburgh.

It is quite true as the gentleman has said, that the original Sterling Act provided that the city of Pittsburgh could impose taxes under its provisions. The Sterling Act had a self executing expiration date, and it expired as to the city of Pittsburgh in 1935. The city of Pittsburgh never imposed any taxes under the provisions of the Sterling Act, least of all a wage tax, and we do not appear before this Legislature today nor will we next week, or whenever the matter arises, asking to impose a wage tax. It is true that I have sponsored in this Legislature a bill asking for Sterling Act powers for the city of Pittsburgh but,—and here is the important distinction, Mr.

Speaker, the bill which I have sponsored, and any bill which will be introduced by any representative from the city of Pittsburgh, in asking for an increase in the taxing power does not ask for the permissive power to impose a wage tax.

House Bill 42 which I have introduced and which I would ask the Members of this House to vote for, if it ever appears on the calendar, does grant Sterling Act powers to the city of Pittsburgh, but with an important exception, it provides that there shall be no wage, sale or occupation tax imposed under its provisions. That is the important difference and why we from Pittsburgh can vote against Philadelphia's Sterling Act and at the same time ask for support for ours.

I regret the position in which the city of Philadelphia finds itself, I recognize that real estate should not bear the entire tax burden, but when the city of Philadelphia has the power, the Sterling Act with unlimited powers, and uses it to impose a wage tax, then I feel that I am justified in voting and asking for votes against the Sterling Act. When we ask for votes for the Sterling Act for Pittsburgh we ask for no taxes on wages; we have specifically stated that we propose to impose no such taxes, and for that reason, Mr. Speaker, I want to set on the record here the position of we in Allegheny County in casting our vote tonight and in asking for votes for measures designed to relieve real estate taxation in Pittsburgh in the future.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I did not wish to arise on this measure, but we in Allegheny County have been thrust into it. As the previous speaker has stated, and as Mr. Sorg has already said, the city officials of Pittsburgh, including members of City Council and the Mayor of the city of Pittsburgh did come before the Legislature of Pennsylvania, made trips to Harrisburg, had a conference with the Governor in which they asked for the reenactment of the Sterling Act for the city of Pittsburgh. We in the Republican party in Allegheny County, our Republican organization, took this matter under advisement. We felt that the Republican party has always been the champion of home rule. We felt that certainly those people who were elected by the city of Pittsburgh, and who are answerable to the citizens of that city, should have the right to impose upon the citizens of Pittsburgh any tax that is not now put on them by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. We further believe that those councilmen and that mayor would be answerable to the electorate of Pittsburgh, and if they impose a tax that is unfair to the people, then we felt that the people would soon turn them out and elect new councilmen and a new mayor.

If that be true in the city of Pittsburgh, I would call to the attention of the Members of the House, it is likewise true in Philadelphia. If they have done all the things with which they are charged, if there has been the mismanagement that they are charged with, then I cannot understand why consistently the people of Philadelphia return Republican councilmen and a Republican mayor. Maybe there is something good about them, maybe they have done a good job in Philadelphia, certainly not bad enough to have them thrown out.

As my colleague, Mr. Bentley says, the city of Pittsburgh finds itself in dire circumstances. I sent a bill up to the House, a bill that would give the city of Pittsburgh the right to enact taxes, in other words reenact the old Sterling Act for cities of the second class, which would be the city of Pittsburgh.

Now he arises to tell you that possibly the city of Pittsburgh would not do certain things. We hope they would not. We on the Republican side of the House do not believe that any new taxes are necessary in the city of Pittsburgh. We know they are not necessary, but we still feel that the members of council and the present mayor have the right to enact them if they so see fit. If the people do not believe that the men running the city of Pittsburgh under its present schedule know how to do their business properly, then they have a right to levy increased taxes, and if the people do not like that, I want to say that they are going to have a chance to make a change, because we are going to elect a Republican mayor and a Republican council; we are going to give to them the rights of the Sterling Act, but it is not necessary, we will not have to use it, but they think they may have to.

We, the Republican Members from Allegheny County, certainly arise in opposition to this bill, and for the reasons that we have stated, feel that every Member of this House who believes in the principles of home rule, who believes that the elected officials of the municipality should govern it, certainly they should vote to defeat the enactment of this repealer.

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Root.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROOT. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, in giving the figures about Philadelphia being eighth on the list, does the gentleman wish to leave the impression that we are eighth in paying taxes?

Mr. ROOT. No, Mr. Speaker, among the fourteen cities in the United States that had a population of more than 500,000 in the 1940 census, Philadelphia last year ranked eighth in the total real estate tax rates per thousand of estimated true valuations. In other words, Philadelphia, in spite of the so-called mismanagement as alleged by my friends on the other side, has a lower tax rate than eight other cities in the United States, smaller than Philadelphia, and it includes the famous cities of Chicago and New York.

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman quote the figure of $28.75?

Mr. ROOT. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CULLEN. I am a property owner, Mr. Speaker, and I pay $28.75 per thousand dollars.

Mr. ROOT. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CULLEN. How much wage tax will I pay, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. ROOT. That will depend on how much money the gentleman makes per week.

Mr. CULLEN. I mean per thousand dollars.

Mr. ROOT. Per week, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. CULLEN. No, per thousand dollars.

Mr. ROOT. If the gentleman makes a thousand dollars a year he will pay $10.00.

Mr. CULLEN. And that makes my tax $38.75, total tax.

Mr. ROOT. Yes, total tax, Mr. Speaker, to the city of Philadelphia. Now, you have to add the tax that you pay to the Federal government.

Mr. CULLEN. I am trying to get the overall figure of the taxes I have to pay. I pay $8 water rent, I pay all the amusement taxes in Philadelphia.

Mr. ROOT. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CULLEN. Well then, this pamphlet by the Bureau of Municipal Research is a misnomer insofar as this tax that the people of Philadelphia have to pay is concerned.

Mr. ROOT. I am sorry the gentleman from Philadelphia didn't understand this pamphlet. This pamphlet talks about real estate taxes, and this pamphlet, which is prepared by an independent agency, and God knows they are not Republicans, had to admit that Philadelphia has the eighth lowest tax rate among the large cities.

Mr. CULLEN. Mr. Speaker, the point that I am trying to get at, $28.75 is not the tax that we in Philadelphia have to pay; that is not the limit.

Mr. ROOT. The $28.75 is only a real estate tax.

Mr. CULLEN. It is only the real estate tax?

Mr. ROOT. That is correct.

Mr. CULLEN. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, of course, the pamphlet which brought up this discussion shows that we in Philadelphia pay $28.75 per thousand dollars on real estate. You have to be a real estate owner to pay the tax. I happen to be one. If I make $1,000 a year, $10 is what I pay on that for wage tax; that makes my tax $38.75. I get an $8 water bill, which is the cheapest you can get in Philadelphia, and that brings m ytax up to $46.75. So without going into the other taxes in Philadelphia we apparently should be first on this list.

Mr. MORAN. For the information of the House, Mr. Speaker, I desire to inform the Members of the House that organized labor is absolutely and definitely against any wage taxes, and they oppose, therefore, this bill.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FLEMING. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I did not intend to call upon Mr. Fleming while he was absent, but I would like to ask Mr. Fleming if Allegheny County or Pittsburgh should secure the reenactment of the Sterling Act as a permisive measure to enable Pittsburgh to levy and collect taxes that are specified in the Sterling Act, would he then consider it to be legislative intent that the city of Pittsburgh should have the right to levy a uniform percent tax on all classes of wage earners?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, if that were not in conflict with any state law, I would say that it would, yes sir.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman believe that the city of Pittsburgh would be justified in charging the man who makes $25 a week one percent and the man who makes $25,000 a year one percent?

Mr. FLEMING. I would say they would not be justified. I would say to Mr. James that we in the Republican party in Allegheny County would be against any such measure, but yet I say to you that the mayor of the city of Pittsburgh and the members of the city council come down to Harrisburg and asked for these powers, which we feel should be given to them, because they are the elected representatives of the municipal government and are running the government of the city of Pittsburgh.

Mr. JAMES. Mr Speaker, I would ask the gentleman if the Sterling Act were reenacted and made available to the city of Pittsburgh would the gentleman then consider it to be the legislative intent that the city of Pittsburgh could levy taxes on the earned wages of persons not resident within the geographic limits of the city of Pittsburgh?

Mr. FLEMING. I seem to be lacking in advisors here, Mr. Speaker. I ought to be over among my friends. I would say no.

Mr. JAMES. Would the gentleman say they would not be justified in levying that tax on persons not resident within the city limits? That that would not be justified?

Mr. FLEMING. That would be my personal feeling, Mr. Speaker, but I would still give them so long as they are the governing body of that city the right to impose the tax, and if it didn't suit the people who elected them to office, I can assure you, Mr. Speaker, they would not be returned at the next municipal election and naturally the Republicans would come into power, which we hope to do and which we are sure we will do.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I wish the gentleman every success in his wishes. Does the gentleman know of the Civic Club of Allegheny County, which publishes a little pamphlet called Civic Affairs?

Mr. FLEMING. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JAMES. Did the gentleman read the statement they made with respect to House Bill 5?

Mr. FLEMING. I believe they say it is a good bill. I would say, yes sir, and I would say that the Civic Club makes pretty good recommendations. They have recommended several bills.

For the benefit of the Members of the House who do not know who the sponsor of House Bill 5 is, I suggest that they ask the interrogator, Mr. James.

Mr. JAMES. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, of course I have never had the opportunity to come from Pittsburgh, so they don't know anything about me, but if you will permit me to read what they say:

> "Disapproved. As applied at present this bill only applies to Philadelphia, but it would prevent any other community from doing what Philadelphia has done."

If you gentlemen believe that this enactment that you hope will come to pass will permit the city of Pittsburgh to do what Philadelphia has done. then you will understand, of course, what the city of Philadelphia can or can not, depending on which way you are looking and what direction you want to look; you can then afford to say that they could levy a uniform tax of one cent on the man who makes $25 a week and no more than that on the man who makes $25,000 a year, you could say then that they would be within the legislative intent, that they levied the tax on persons who are not residents, and therefore, make it possible for even your noble Republican mayor to use.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I don't know whether my interrogation by the gentleman from Delaware is finished or whether he is making a speech.

Mr. JAMES. I said thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FLEMING. Since I am among friends again, I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTLEY. I shall be very brief, Mr. Speaker. I would ask the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr Fleming, whether I understood his remarks correctly that the Republican Organization of Allegheny County is in favor of the passage of the Sterling Act, which would permit the imposition of wage taxes in the city of Pittsburgh. Did the gentleman so state?

Mr. FLEMING. I stated, Mr. Speaker, that the Republican party in Allegheny County believes thoroughly in the principle of home rule, and that we believe that the right should be given to the governing body of the city of Pittsburgh to levy any taxes that were not now levied by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. We further feel that if that governing body levied any taxes which were obnoxious to the electorate of the city of Pittsburgh, that they would not long remain in power.

Mr. BENTLEY. Did I further understand the gentleman to say, Mr. Speaker, that he had introduced, or some Member of the Republican delegation from Allegheny County had introduced, a reenactment of the Sterling Act which would permit the imposition of a wage tax in the city of Pittsburgh? Am I correct in that?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, it went in the hopper this evening. The bill had been filed with the Legislative Reference Bureau in time for the deadline of March 12th, but due to the fact that it was not ready earlier, it was on the list given to your Floor Leader, Mr. Andrews, and I believe he could verify that. It came over to my desk this evening, and I introduced it.

Mr. BENTLEY. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I would say very briefly that if the Republican party in Allegheny County proposes to campaign for a mayor or a city council on that platform, the issue is clearly defined, and I beg to differ with the gentleman, there will not be on that issue a Republican mayor or a Republican city council or any one of them.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, very briefly and with apologies to the House for just one more moment's time, for the purpose of the record I merely stated that we felt that we had uncovered enough and the citizens of Pittsburgh were thoroughly acquainted with enough mismanagement in the city of Pittsbugh, coupled with the fact that we do not believe any more taxes are necessary, that if we can campaign on that platform, we will elect a Republican mayor and a Republican council.

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, for years I have stood on the floor of this House and protested against Philadelphia and Pittsburgh bringing their local problems here, making a political foot ball of them. The bill that creates this tax in Philadelphia must have been created by some superior authority. Surely that authority can repeal or modify this bill. The created is not stronger than the creator. It has been said on the floor of this House that it is the most popular measure in the city of Philadelphia. Another speaker said that it would be overwhelmingly defeated. Now, you have it in the book. Why are you coming here? It looks to me like stupidity to bring these things here when you can settle them at home, when you feel so sure that you have them in the bag.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, now that the Pittsburgh campaign oratory has subsided, all that we now have to do is to get a candidate for mayor. We think we can now go back to House Bill 726.

I desire to read into the record a telegram which was received by me dated March 17, 1945:

> "The Central Labor Union of Philadelphia, A. F. of L. representing 165 Local Unions composing 175,000 members earnestly request your support in bringing about the passage of House Bill 726 introduced by Representatives Finnerty and Hoggard."

This telegram is signed by, Joseph A. McDonough, Business manager.

I suppose a similar telegram was received perhaps by all of the Members of the House.

I also desire to read into the record, and primarily for the purpose of the record a communication received, I suppose, also by every other Member of the House. It reads as follows:

> We, the representatives of 250,000 C. I. O. union citizens of Pennsylvania urge your support for
> Bill No. 726
> Repealing the Wage Tax
> This Bill No. 726 must be passed through the House into the Senate where it will receive a complete public hearing, at which time suggestions will be made to solve the financial situation in Philadelphia.
> To recommit this Bill in the House would be contrary to the wishes of the voters of Pennsylvania.
> Partisanship is no factor in consideration of this Bill.
> Philadelphia and Delaware Counties."

Mr. Speaker, before Philadelphia got this wage tax they said that they wanted it in order to be able to carry out municipal financing. They got the wage tax, but it appears that municipal financing is not being carried out. I wonder in my own mind where this money goes. During the last several months, during the winter months, the city of Philadelphia went terrible behind in the collection of ashes and rubbish. I don't know what the City Fathers were waiting for. Perhaps it was for the high winds of March to blow the dust and dirt off the city highways. It seems as though the City Fathers have failed because here we are on the eve of spring and still those winds haven't come, and the dirt is still on the streets of Philadelphia. We are still saddled with the wage tax, because the City Father's wanted the wage tax to clean up the streets—they have the wage tax and we still have the dirt. Let us get rid of the wage tax and we will find ways to get rid of the dirt.

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I have no axe to grind nor am I interested in any particular political parties, sa far as this bill is concerned. I will amend that, so far as being a member of any political party is concerned. I am a Republican from my soles up, so there won't be any misunderstanding about that.

So far as my own standing is concerned with labor, my labor record is as good as any man's in this House, now or ever was in this House. That cannot be questioned by any of the labor leaders.

This is not a question as to whether a certain section or party shall have its own way. It is a question as to whether or not Philadelphia as a municipality shall survive. Many of the objectors, and quite a few of them come from the C. I. O. and I don't believe they have made a thorough study of this subject. As a Republican I don't ever expect to get any support from the C. I. O. As a matter of fact I think my future is in the past and I don't have much to hope for, but I want to talk to you as a Philadelphian and nothing more.

In order that the people who are here might understand and might know just what the city of Philadelphia is composed of, we have in the city of Philadelphia 394,863 homes, the largest portion of these homes being owned and occupied by the working class of people. They are paying a very low rate of tax. There is no other method of running the city of Philadelphia, if this twenty-four million dollars is done away with, except to increase the tax rate. The city's debts must be paid; that cannot be helped.

We have 8,600 frame houses all over the city of Philadelphia. People may say that we are a backward city, because we have 8,600 frame houses. In the outlying districts we have nearly 400,000 homes, we have 37,552 apartments used as dwellings.. We have 96 hotels, we have 2,835 apartments and hotels combined. We have 5,936 mills that give employment to people, and we have combinations of dwellings and stores to the number of 8,579.

Now, Mr. Speaker, that is quite a big problem. Something has been said about the administration in Philadelphia. I don't believe we ought to talk about politics, but since we are in this I might say to all the Members of the House that for fifty years the residents have been satisfied with their mayor and with their council. In the last Mayoralty campaign the question of the wage tax was a campaign issue. The Democrats were against it, the Republicans were for it. We elected a mayor and all the major offices but one and twenty out of twenty-one councilman so that the issue is very plain down there, and the people know what the issue is.

There has been much comment here and talk about the situation in Pittsburgh. Of course, we fundamentally believe, as most people do, and particularly Democrats that home rule should prevail in Pennsylvania. We believe that home rule should prevail in Philadelphia and if the Philadelphia citizens are not pleased with the manner in which we conduct our city, they have the privilege of defeating the candidates at the next election—and I never predict what is going to happen at the next election. Our Democratic friends are confident that they are going to clean up the city at the next election, and this no doubt is going to be one of their campaign issues. They have a right to use it if they see fit. I know our Republicans are going to back up this wage tax because it is for the benefit of all the people.

I want to answer one or two things and I don't want to delay this matter because a lot of features of this wage tax have been gone over. Somebody has said something about even the soldiers having to pay this wage tax. Well, you know, the city of Philadelphia and the state of Pennsylvania can not pass special legislation. They must pass legislation that covers everybody, including the soldiers, but no effort has been made to make any soldier pay this wage tax and it is my best guess that no such effort will ever be made. There were some statements about men being taken from their work and fined. Less than one per cent of all the people in Philadelphia have failed to pay there wage tax. Those who violated it or intended to violate it, after being notified anywhere from fourteen to sixteen months came in to make their payments. A few such violators were arrested and fined, and after a few were fined the rest came in and paid.

We have gone into all these details and I think everybody here knows the situation. I say to you gentlemen this is not a political issue, it is a question as to whether or not Philadelphia can attend to its own business, mind its own business, fix its taxes according to law and regulate its business as the public officials see fit.

Something was said, Mr. Speaker, to the effect that the mayor and councilmen are a minority. They are the representatives of the majority of the people in the city of Philadelphia who voted for and elected them at the last mayoralty election and it is their sworn obligation to serve the people of Philadelphia, to see that the city has proper administration, and the proper adjustments in their expenditures and financial accounting.

Now Mr. Speaker, I do not propose to make an issue of this, but I would like to read for the benefit of the members, Article III, Section 33 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania:

> A member who has a personal or private interest in any measure or bill proposed or pending before the General Assembly shall disclose the fact to the House of which he is a member, and shall not vote thereon.

I am bringing this to your attention. I do not intend to make an issue of it. There is nothing more that I know that I can say. I wish to further state that Mr. James has my permission to quit.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

Messrs. Rose, Chudoff and Petrosky asked for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

Section 12 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Propert.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PROPERT. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, under the present act taking part of a second class township into a borough, what is the procedure on that?

Mr. PROPERT. Under the present law it is my understanding that the property affected within the township petitions the borough council to be annexed to the borough, and then the petition is presented to the court.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. That is, the petition must be signed by resident property owners, is that right, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. PROPERT. Mr. Speaker, the petition must be signed by those who wish to become a part of the borough.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. They must be property owners, is that true?

Mr. PROPERT. That is true.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. They must live in the area that wants to be annexed to the borough, is that true?

Mr. PROPERT. That is right.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. On the question of the gentleman's amendments what procedure would take a part of a second class township into a borough?

Mr. PROPERT. This bill, Mr. Speaker, provides that both the voters in the borough and the voters in the township must vote on the question of annexation.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. In other words, Mr. Speaker, if in a district of a second class township, the part that wanted to be taken into the borough had, we will say, several hundred residents and only one hundred were property owners, the non-property owners would vote to take them into the borough, is that right?

Mr. PROPERT. That is correct.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Does the gentleman think if this bill passes it will stop the growth of boroughs in the state?

Mr. PROPERT. Mr. Speaker, I think that this bill provides a democratic process for annexation in that all the voters have a say in the matter.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. In other words, the non-property owners can vote the property owner into the borough or out, is that right?

Mr. PROPERT That is correct.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, in looking over this bill and knowing the procedure of the present act, I think that this bill would stop the creation of real boroughs and prevent boroughs from becoming larger. It would be almost an impossibility to take part of a second class township into a borough under this act, and I ask the Members to vote against the bill.

Mr. PROPERT. Mr. Speaker, under the present law neither the voters of the borough nor the voters of the township have a say on the question of annexation. We have over one thousand five hundred units of second class townships in this State and if boroughs are allowed to annex second class townships, I don't know what the plight of second class townships is going to be. This bill definitely provides that the voters in both the borough and the township shall vote on the question of annexation, a truly democratic process, and I ask all the Members of this House to vote for House Bill 380.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—1

Wood, L. H.,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 5, as follows:

An Act prohibiting political subdivisions from imposing wage income or occupation taxes on non-residents and abolishing such taxes heretofore imposed

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 It shall be unlawful for any political subdision of this Commonwealth to impose any wage income or occupation tax upon any person not a resident of such political subdivision

Section 2 All wage income and occupation taxes imposed by any political subdivision before the effective date of this act on persons who are not residents of the political subdivision are hereby discontinued and abolished after the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred forty-five in so far as they apply to non-residents of the political subdivision imposing the tax

Section 3 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

Section 4 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I do not believe that it is going to be necessary to debate House Bill 5 at length. During the long debate on House Bill 726 many things were said that indicated, I think, to all the Members the reason for House Bill 5.

There has been a misapprehension here and there to the effect that House Bill 5 is not necessary if House Bill 726 is passed, but that is truly a misapprehension. House Bill 5 does a very different thing from what House Bill 726 does. House Bill 5 simply makes it unlawful for any political subdivision of this Commonwealth to impose any wage, income or occupational tax upon any person not a resident of such political subdivision. If at some time in the future, Mr. Speaker, there should be adopted by any municipality or any county or any other politicial subdivision in the state a law which passed this House and the Senate, whereby a new sort of wage tax or income tax might be passed, then House Bill 5 would definitely preclude any possibility of that tax being levied upon persons not residents of the political subdivision affected.

House Bill 5 is designed to abolish the doctrine that has grown up under the Philadelphia tax of taxation without representation. House Bill 5 simply reaffirms again here in Pennsylvania what our forefathers in Boston affirmed when they dumped the cargo of British tea into Boston Harbor. They did that because they refused to pay taxes when they were not entitled to the privilege of representation. As far as I can learn the Philadelphia wage tax as it has been levied on non-residents is the first example of taxation without representation in this Commonwealth. Without this bill it might possibly again become easy for the city of Philadelphia to tax workers on a government reservation who are residents of New Jersey or who are residents of Delaware, Montgomery, Bucks, Berks or Lancaster or any county in the state of Pennsylvania. This bill if enacted into law, would safeguard in the future all those persons that might live near to and work in a city, whether that city be Philadelphia, Pitsburgh, Scranton, Wilkes-Barre, Reading or Lancaster, and for that reason, and for the protection of non-residents who work in the community where some sort of tax like the Philadelphia wage tax may in the future be enacted, I ask all the Members of this House to support this bill.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would be untrue to the commission I hold if I did not reaffirm the essentially democratic doctrine just enunciated by the gentleman from Delaware. I fail to understand how any of us trained in the positions of democracy can by virtue of any reason, by virtue of any call of political expediency, repudiate the fundamental doctrine that our people should not pay taxes without representation. That issue is so basic, so ingrained in our traditions that no one arguing from a democratic standpoint can possibly take any other position.

I believe that I state the position of the Democratic party when I add further that we are opposed to a wage tax anywhere, any time and for any reason. We do not believe in the status of that kind of a tax base, but even though for reason of expediency it might be argued that a municipality should be permitted to impose a wage tax, the statement made by the gentleman from Delaware was so fundamental when he said that no one in this country should be taxed without representation, that I fail to understand how any Democrat or any Republican can take exception to that theory.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker, this particular piece of legislation, in the discussion here this evening, they say is taxation without representation. Those who come to Philadelphia to be employed there have the same right to represent themselves as any other person in the world. All they have to do is become residents of the city. But when they come to the city of Philadelphia, accept of its hospitality, accept everything, as has been said here tonight, for the good and welfare of their being and for their existence, for their livelihood, for everything they have in the world, and do not care to help in the upkeep of that city, they just became back door moochers, and I do not believe they have a right to complain, nor have they a right to say that it is taxation without representation.

Philadelphia has long been known and properly known as the home of brotherly love. When I say that I mean it. I say that when two Philadelphians get together they assume the right to abuse the city to their heart's content and I think ofttimes they do, but any time an outsider butts in they have two to lick. We love to fight among ourselves and we invite the outsiders to stay on the outside and mind his own business. If he doesn't like that situation then he had better pack up and get out. We have a wonderful city. It has but one door, it opens in and it opens out, it is not locked nor barred. Those who want to stay have a right to stay and in Philadelphia they will find that the latchstring of hospitality hangs lower than in any other city on earth. I think it comes with ill grace and ill feeling and in bad taste for these men coming from the outside to tell us what we shall do and how we shall conduct ourselves. Those that do not like it better take the gate and go out and stay out.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I am glad the gentleman alluded to the fact that we in Philadelphia are known for our great hospitality, and because we are very proud of our hospitality which we dispense we do not like to have it said of anyone in Philadelphia that he is a moocher. We are glad to have people come in from other parts of the country or other places in the world and I do not think we ought to have the reputation of calling people moochers simply because they do not like the wage tax or because they resent that tax. Don't forget that this is a wage tax, whether you call it a wage tax or an income tax it is still a wage tax, and it is a bad tax. A tax by any other name is just as bad. No matter how they classify this tax, wherever it may be, I am against any other or further imposition of this wage tax.

I am afraid, Mr. Speaker, from what has been said here tonight that probably the impression has gotten out that the Philadelphia tail has been wagging the Pennsylvania dog. Now, Mr. Speaker, with all of this assininity we have had tonight I think we ought to sit down here together and do what we started to do, get rid of the wage tax, roots and all; get rid of it, and do away with it.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, as a foreigner and a moocher, I do not want to prolong this debate but I would just like to remind the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, that if it were not for some 28,000 moochers from Delaware, from Montgomery and nearby counties, grass would grow in the middle of the streets of Philadelphia. The Market Street area in the east central section would still further deteriorate as a source of income from real estate taxes because then they would not even have a use for the first floor of those properties, they now have no use for the second, third, fourth and fifth floors.

I think the gentleman from Philadelphia has allowed his great love for Philadelphia, engendered over a long period of time, to somewhat becloud his reason. This wage tax is something entirely different from anything else we have been accustomed to in any community in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. It is something that is so foreign to our way of thinking that only a city with such a vast lack of imagination and such little gumption could really support it, particularly with reference to persons who are not there to vote on election day for councilmen and the mayor of the city.

I do not particularly resent being called a moocher in that respect. For a number of years I have faithfully contributed daily a very considerable amount of money that has gone by one channel or another into the support of all the good that Philadelphia has ever done to entertain me. I have never gone into Philadelphia and raised a fight that I know of. I do that outside so that the policement in there have never had any charge against me that has been reflected in the records of Philadelphia. I think, Mr. Speaker, that a great many of the men who live out in the other counties surrounding Philadelphia probably are of the same general cast and character I think, Mr. Speaker, if Senator Salus actually had time to reflect and think the matter over he would scarcely call those 28,000 supporters of Philadelphia's industries, its real estate, its shops, its stores, and particularly those that sell enormous quantities of high priced products at a great profit to our wives, moochers.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker, I still reiterate I am willing to be abused by any member of the C. I. O. or any other resident of Philadelphia, and if that particular person has a vote of his own I am willing to argue with him. I may be wrong or he may be wrong, but he has a perfect right to express his views as to the conduct of Philadelphia. I still say that these outsiders should keep their noses out of our business, and if they don't like it stay out of the city and we will get along well without them. They live on the Main Line, they try to tell everybody in the city how we should run our city. If they don't like the way we run it we will gladly pay their railroad fare and railway fare out and let them stay out.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

To the one and only God our Savior, creator of the heavens and the earth, and of all the living, we present ourselves at this time to acknowledge Thy sovereignty and to confess our allegiance. May our acknowledgement and confession be no mere lip service, but expressive of our real faith; then this will be a prayer. Otherwise it will be a few pious phrases, meaning nothing.

We pray that as a nation and as individuals we may have that spiritual endowment that will equip us for the present task of victory over all our enemies, and for the responsibilities that will follow. Help us to remember that these great objectives will not be attained by our manpower or our machine power only, but by the Spirit of the Lord, for "Not by might nor by power, but by my Spirit saith the Lord."

May the men and women on the battle fronts of the world be inspired and directed by Thy Spirit, and may we, here in the homeland unite our efforts and our prayers for a speedy and victorious accomplishment of the purposes of God in our national and individual lives.

And to Thy great name be all the praise, through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

CONGRATULATIONS TO PENNSYLVANIA LEGISLATIVE CORRESPONDENTS' ASSOCIATION ON ITS GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

In the House of Representatives, March 13, 1945.

During the month of January in the year 1895, there was organized in Harrisburg an association which, during the two score and ten years that have passed since its founding, has increased in size, prestige and importance.

This organization and its members have been present and have played a vital part in every regular and special legislative session since its inception, and now that they are about to celebrate their Fiftieth Anniversary, it is fitting that proper consideration should be given by the General Assembly to mark its birth, growth and accomplishments.

It is the oldest organization of its kind in the Nation and its contribution to the General Assembly and to the people of the Commonwealth cannot be over-emphasized.

The Pennsylvania Legislative Correspondents' Association will celebrate its Golden Anniversary at a banquet in the Penn-Harris Hotel on Tuesday, April 3, 1945 at 7:30 o'clock p. m.

In prior anniversary programs emphasis has been on providing entertainment of a lighter vein, however, on this occasion because of the war and the seriousness of the times an outstanding program has been arranged which will be of interest to every Member of the General Assembly and Officials of the State Government.

His Excellency, The Governor of the Commonwealth, Edward Martin will present the guest of honor, The Honorable Robert P. Patterson, Under Secretary of War, who will give an Off-the Record address on the war situation.

John M. McCullough of the Philadelphia Inquirer staff, will tell of his experiences as a War Correspondent in the Pacific Theatre.

Cy Hungerford of the Pittsburgh Post Gazette staff, a cartoonist of National reputation will present an illustrated talk.

Last but not least, John P. Doheny the sole surviving charter member of the Association and a former correspondent for the Pittsburgh Press will be a distinguished guest on this occasion.

Tickets for the banquet can be obtained from any member of the Correspondents' Association.

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania extends to the Pennsylvania Legislative Correspondents' Association its heartiest congratulations upon having reached so ripe an age and commends it for its accomplishments in the newspaper world and wishes it a most successful celebration and a continuation of growth and service; be it further

Resolved, That the Members of the House and Senate attend this Golden Anniversary Banquet and join with our Correspondents in properly marking the occasion and respectfully calls the attention of His Excellency, The Governor and the Members of His Cabinet, to the impending celebration and to the opportunity it affords to pay honor to those who help to keep Pennsylvania on the front pages of the newspapers of the State and the Nation.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

OATH OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED TO SECRETARY OF THE SENATE

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, a short time ago we elected a Secretary of the Senate; the election having come as a complete surprise to the gentleman in question, he was absent, but he is now here.

I suggest, Mr. President, that the oath of office be now administered to the newly elected Secretary of the Senate.

Whereupon, in the presence of the Senate, oath of office was administered to G. Harold Watkins by Honorable John C. Bell, Jr., President of the Senate, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

REMARKS BY SECRETARY OF SENATE

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart for the very high honor that has been bestowed upon me today. I have been away from the Senate for a few months and I feel that today I have returned. I thank you very much.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. CROWE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. CROWE. My distinguished colleagues Senators Wade, Carr, Cox and several other members of this body have already spoken at length in regard to the need of increased financial support for the Teachers Colleges of this Commonwealth. These Colleges are in need of this support because they are and have been in the past the "Peoples Colleges", where a poor person could get a higher education at a very lost cost. An education at a Teachers College is often obtained at a cost of one-half or even one-third of what the expenses run at other institutions. Increased financial support is needed. During the past 20 years, using year 1929 as a base, state-aided institutions other than state teachers colleges have steadily received increased state appropriations until the appropriation for the 1943-1945 biennium was 142.4 per cent of the 1929 base. Such institutions are requesting an extension of this figure to 166 per cent of the 1929 allocation for the biennium 1945-1947.

If this request is granted, state-aided institutions other than state teachers colleges will receive the sum of $11,974,500 against $7,209,000 in 1929.

During the past 20 years, using the year 1929 as a base, state teachers colleges have received decreased state appropriations until the appropriation for the 1943-1945 biennium was 60.6 per cent of the 1929 base.

It is now proposed that this same sum be appropriated for 1945-947, with a minor differential of $100,000. The state teachers colleges would, therefore, receive $4,100,000 against $6,600,000 in 1929.

I am asking to be placed on the record the following:

Suggested bases for appropriations during the biennium 1945-1947 and marked "Exhibit B".

Comparative figures showing state appropriations allocated to teachers colleges and other state-aided institutions from 1923 to 1945 and marked "Exhibit C".

Veterans and defense workers: For Vocational Education and Rehabilitation of Veterans and workers in defense plants all work along educational lines should be on a college level.

I am introducing at this time Legislation that will take care of that phase as far as the Teachers Colleges are concerned.

A Scholarship Bill has been introduced in the House to which I make the following objections:

That the bill discriminates against state teachers colleges unless scholarships can be used to defray all expenses incident to a college education.

That students who normally attend college would most likely be the ones benefited so that the needy student will not be materially helped.

That the selection of such large numbers of students on a purely scholastic basis is undemocratic.

That the elimination of the contingent fee at state teachers colleges, thereby extending the public school system into the field of higher education, would help the needy student the most and provide equalization of educational opportunity at the higher level.

That the bill permits liberal arts colleges and universities to eliminate students who are not acceptable, thereby establishing the principle of class legislation with the possibility of discrimination against students representing certain social groups.

That the principle of equal rights is definitely and specifically violated.

That the cost is out of all proportion to the benefits derived.

In my judgment such scholarships should be granted to graduate students only, this group being concerned with advanced study and research.

I also suggest that the Commission appointed to study the School System, extend its endeavors since the teachers colleges are the subject of controversy each two years, the matter of their number, the character of the work they should do, and their proper financial support should be settled permanently. To clarify their status, the present School Commission of the General Assembly should be assigned the task of studying the entire problem, assembling all pertinent facts, and making recommendations to the legislature in 1947.

And so Mr. President I read in place and present to the Chair three Bills: 1. Making an appropriation of $7,100,000 for the use of Teachers Colleges as outlined under "Exhibit B" that has been filed for the record and also a Bill making available 1,000 Scholarships of $500.00 each for a college year to cover tuition and other fees regularly charged to graduate students. And a bill making training available at teachers colleges to Veterans and Workers in Defense Plants.

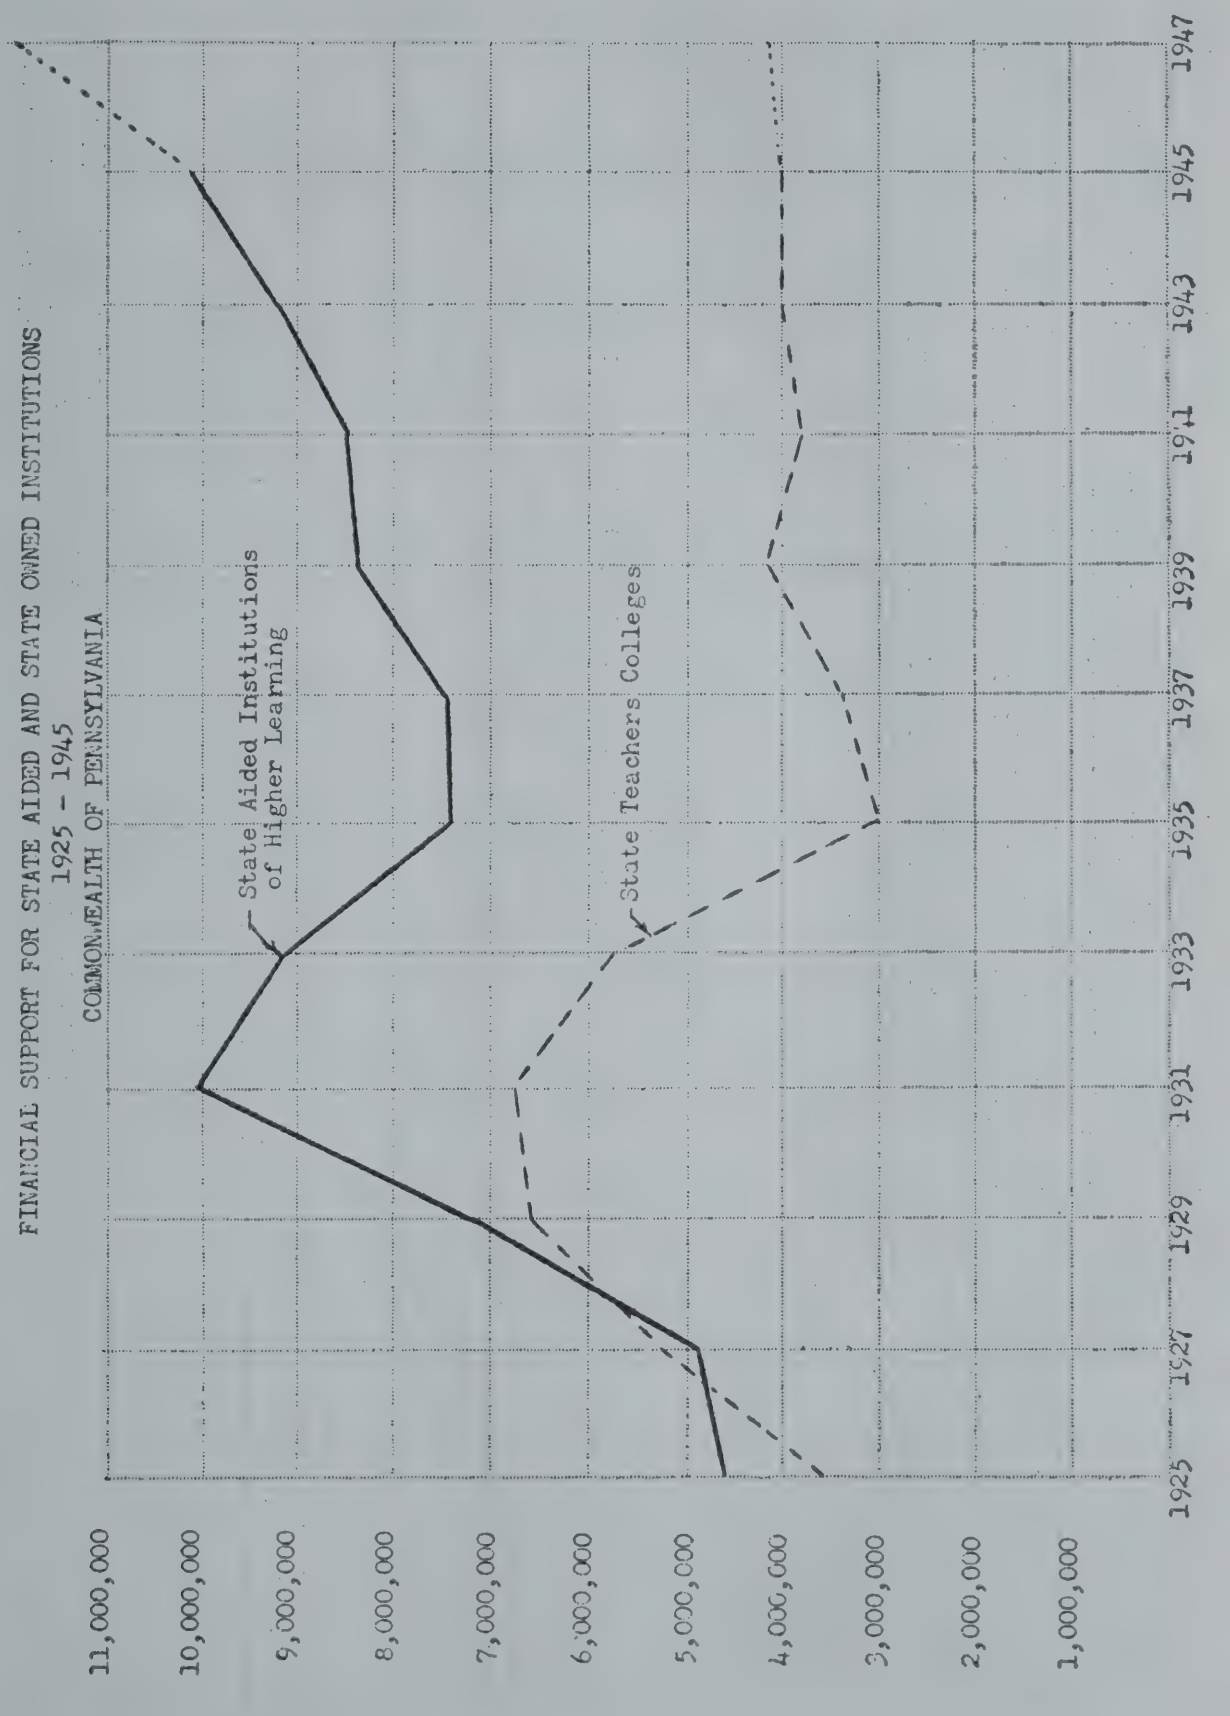
THE BUDGETARY NEEDS OF THE STATE TEACHERS COLLEGES FOR THE BIENNIUM 1945-1947 AS PRESENTED TO THE JOINT SUB-COMMITTEE OF THE SENATE AND HOUSE APPROPRIATION COMMITTEES BY THE PRESIDENTS, FEBRUARY 27, 1945

Bases For the Appropriation
(1945-1947)

		Amount
I.	Appropriation for 1943-1945	$4,000,000
II.	Net income from contracts reported by the Presidents for board, lodging, instruction, or any combination of these services, to civilian and/or armed forces personnel under Section 2002.1 during 1943-1945 which will not be available for 1945-1947	1,469,000
III.	Funds needed to classify faculty and other personnel in keeping with the state classification schedule as approved by the Executive Boards, effective September 1, 1944	1,070,000
		$6,539,000



Notes

1. If contingent fees are to be eliminated in keeping with the intent of Section 2009, the amount needed is indicated as an additional sum to the foregoing total $720,000
2. It was apparent in the discussions that deferred maintenance items should be held in abeyance until the close of the war. It also seemed pertinent that, after deferred items are met, an amount equal to two percent (2%) of the value of property as shown in audits should be appropriated thereafter to provide adequately for the maintenance of the Colleges.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, in presenting this bill to the Senate I would like to speak briefly on its purpose.

As members of the Senate know, this morning a meeting of the committee on Judiciary General was called, to hold a public hearing in connection with a man by the name of A. O. Vorse, of the city of Harrisburg, who has been for some time sending throughout the state of Pennsylvania anti-Semetic literature, about a class of people. Most of it, in fact all of it, was based on lies and propaganda over a period of years, and it has no basic fact or truth

Unfortunately, the committee did not meet at the exact hour and Mr. Vorse, being there at nine o'clock, did not wait until the chairman of the committee arrived at nine-fifteen.

In the discussion that followed, the legal minds of the members of the Judiciary General Committee expressed the opinion there was not very much you could do in Pennsylvania against a man who would use either the mails, the radio, or any means of communication for attacking a class of people, or a race, creed or color.

I believe today, on top of this meeting, what is happening at the fronts in Europe, that it is pertinent to present a bill that would give power to the authorities of Pennsylvania to stop once and for all those people who believe they belong to a superior race because they belong to a certain religion or their skin is a certain color.

Today we learned in the press that for the first time in the history of the United States Army, black and white men are fighting side by side in the same outfit.

I want to read for the benefit of the Senators a release out of Paris, which appeared in the Pittsburgh Press yesterday evening. It is as follows:

"NEGROES VOLUNTEER FOR COMBAT DUTY

"PARIS, March 19 (UP)—A Stars and Stripes dispatch from the First Army front said today that Negro and white troops are fighting side by side in infantry companies of the First and Seventh Armies.

"The Army newspaper said this resulted from repeated requests by Negro units to enter the combat zone. The Negro units were selected from thousands of rear supply zone applicants who volunteered, it added.

"The Stars and Stripes report said Lt. Gen. John C. H. Lee, Service of Supply commander, told the Negro volunteers:

"It is planned to assign you without regard to race or color to units where your assistance is most needed. Comrades at the front are anxious to share the glory and victory with you.

"Your relatives and friends are urging that you be granted the privilege. The Supreme Commander is confident that many of you will take advantage of the opportunity to carry on in keeping with the glorious record of colored troops in former wars."

So, Members of the Senate, we find black and white, Jew and Gentile, fighting for a cause, fighting for a way of life we all enjoy. I say to you it is time that we in the state of Pennsylvania place on our statute books ways and means to bring into court and punish those people who are trying to destroy the American way of life by an attack on any group or groups of people.

Therefore I am reading in place and presenting to the Chair a bill making anyone liable, any group, subject to prosecution.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION CALLED UP

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I call from the table Senate Concurrent Resolution, Serial No. 109, on page 137 of the Senate History.

The Clerk read the resolution as follows:

MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO PROPOSE AN AMENDMENT TO THE UNITED STATES CONSTITUTION LIMITING TENURE OF OFFICE OF PRESIDENT

In the Senate, February 7, 1945.

Be it Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania does hereby memorialize and petition the Congress of the United States to propose an amendment to the Constitution of the United States of America limiting the tenure of office of a President of the United States to not more than two consecutive terms, and be it

Resolved, That certified copies of this resolution properly authenticated be sent forthwith to the presiding officer of each house of the National Congress and to each of the United States Senators and Representatives from Pennsylvania

RESOLUTION ADOPTED

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I move the adoption of Senate Concurrent Resolution, Serial No. 109.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I rise on a parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will proceed.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, if the Senate History is correct this resolution is in the Rules Committee, it has not been reported out of the rules committee, and therefore is improperly brought before the Senate for action at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Kephart, desire to make any reply.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, about two weks ago this resolution was reported out from the Committee on Rules, and since that time it has been lying on the table. Therefore the History evidently is in error.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I suggest that the matter be taken up with the office of the Secretary of the Senate, where, of course, any action by this body will be noted in the minutes.

(The Senate was at ease)

The PRESIDENT. The Chair announces that the stenographic records of the Senate stenographer show that on the ninteenth day of February, 1945, this resolution, previously introduced by Senator Kephart, memorializing Congress to propose an amendment to the United States Constitution limiting tenure of office of the President, was reported from the Rules Committee and now lies on the table. The Legislative Journal likewise shows exactly the same set of facts.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I have just picked up from my desk a copy of todays' Philadelphia Record, from which I will now read an article, as follows:

48 BILLIONS SAVED BY PUBLIC IN 1944

"The American public last year saved $48,000,000,000—more than ever before in the nation"s history.

"The unprecedented total, disclosed yesterday in a report of the Securities and Exchange Commission, includes money in banks, in bonds and stocks, in insurance reserves and 'under the mattress.'

"Forty billions of it are ready to spend—in the form of cash on hand or on deposit, Government bonds or other easily convertible holdings."

That is welcome news, I hope, to my friends on the other side, who have been worrying for twelve years about the New Deal, to learn here today that the income saved by the American people this year is more than the entire income of the United States under the last year of Herbert Hoover, and therefore I feel that this resolution is entirely out of place and that we ought to keep Roosevelt there for life, if our country is going to be lifted out of the dog's place where is was—it had gone to the dogs under Harding, Coolidge and Hoover—and when our country has been lifted up.

Before the war started it was 90 billions, more than double the income under the last year of the Hoover administration, and so I feel that limiting a president to two terms is not right; I might agree to five but nothing less than five.

Mr. DENT. I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. KEPHART. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Kephart, tell the Senate of Pennsylvania the purpose of this resolution.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, it seems to me that the purpose of the resolution is obvious; it is to limit the term of a president of the United States to two terms.

Mr. DENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia tell the Senate of Pennsylvania the purpose of this resolution.

Mr. KEPHART. Perhaps, Mr. President, if the interrogator would make his question more clear I could answer—I think I have already answered—but the resolution proposes to limit a President of the United States to two terms. If that is not clear to the gentleman from Westmoreland, I am unable to make myself clearer.

Mr. DENT. It is not clear, Mr. President, because I do not see how this resolution by the Senate of Pennsylvania could do anything about it.

Mr. KEPHART. To answer that, Mr. President, in the Constitution of the United States it provides two methods of amendment; one is by the Congress of the United States and the other is upon petition by a certain number of states, and if a certain number of states pass this same resolution, the Constitution of the United States could be amended in this fashion. The Congress must call a constitutional convention, certainly. I think the required number of states is two-thirds, and under such circumstances, if that convention is called, then this amendment can be ratified.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, the reason I asked the question two times was because, in the first answer that I received, I was not satisfied with the answer and in the second answer that I received I still am not satisfied, because as I understand the resolution it is a memorializing resolution, petitioning the Congress of the United States to amend the Constitution.

Mr. KEPHART. I doubt whether the Senator from Westmoreland is going to be satisfied with this resolution anyhow.

Mr. DENT. I thank the gentleman from Philadelphia. I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be further interrogated.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. DENT. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Kephart, believe that this democracy is based upon sovereignty of the people and that a majority of the people of this democracy ought to rule.

Mr. KEPHART. Well, Mr. President, in general I think the majority ought to rule. I think a majority should not be permitted to do certain things which would take away certain private rights, the right of liberty of speech, the right of liberty of the press You can not say a majority is always going to be right and its will should be untrammelled. That is the reason why we have the safe-guard of the Constitution; the reason why we have the safe-guard of a Constitution is so that a majority in a legislature can not walk over certain rights the people have.

Mr. DENT. When a majority lives up to the prescription of the Constitution, does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Kephart, believe that a majority has a right to rule.

Mr. KEPHART. I believe so.

Mr. DENT. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia believe that a majority of these people of this nation lived up to the prescription of the Constitution when they elected a president for four terms.

Mr. KEPHART. There is nothing in the Constitution to prohibit such an election, and that is the purpose of this resolution, and I hope if a majority of the people feel the same way I do, the Constitution can be changed.

Mr DENT. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia believe, by passing this resolution with a majority of the Republican Senators and a Republican House, that that represents majority thought of the people of Pennsylvania upon the contents of this resolution.

Mr. KEPHART. I think it probably does, and I will go further and say if a majority of the people of this nation do not favor this resolution it will certainly never be passed, because two-thirds of the state legislatures must petition Congress for it, and then Congress must pass a resolution calling a convention, and then it must be ratified by, I believe, at least three-fourths of the states, and if that is done, certainly the will of the majority would be expressed in favor of this resolution.

Mr. DENT. Is it not true, Mr. President, when this resolution passes by a majority vote as represented by the Republican Party, which was the Minority Party, on the question of how many terms a president can serve—when that question was put directly to the people of Pennsylvania—is it not true that emphasis will be placed on the fact that the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania believes that the terms of a president should be limited to two terms, because this so-called majority, which was the minority in the election, will have said that this state believes in a constitutional amendment limiting terms of the President of the United States to two.

Mr. KEPHART. I do not think the people voted on that question as stated by the gentleman from Westmoreland.

Mr. DENT. I thank the gentleman from Philadelphia. I can see that he does not believe that a majority of the people have the sovereign rights that they are entitled to under the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, there are many important things that must be done by this Legislature, there are many problems that must be solved; we had hoped that we would be so busy trying to take care of the affairs of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that we would not have time to try to take care of the affairs of the Congress of the United States.

A majority of the people of this nation, on four occasions, have gone to the polls, and in spite of ninety-five per cent of the press of this nation using every editorial trick and every editorial policy that they could place into play, they drove into the minds of people that George Washington refused a third term because he thought it was wrong; they deliberately lied about what George Washington said in a letter to Lafayette about a third term; they said that Thomas Jefferson made a statement that two terms were sufficient, and that no person ought to seek more than two terms.

The people of this great nation of ours emphatically denied that there was any unwritten or written limitation upon the number of years a man may serve as the president of the United States.

This group now that represents a majority in the Senate of Pennsylvania has thirty-two votes against eighteen in the minority. I told you yesterday how that was accomplished. The eighteen members sitting in the Senate on the Democratic side represent a greater number of votes in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania than the thirty-two members who are supposed to represent a majority of the people in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. More votes were cast for the eighteen members on this side than for the thirty-two members on that side. Is that the kind of majority that they believe in?

They say to the great peoples of this nation, you do not know, you do not have the right, you are the multitude, only a certain class is entitled to rule in this nation. We do not believe that the majority knows how to vote because a majority elected Roosevelt four times.

I would say very frankly to the gentleman from Philadelphia that he would probably be pleased if we would have limited President Roosevelt to no term as President of the United States.

You know, my father told me when I was a kid you could whistle in a barrel and if it was empty it threw out a hollow sound. That is what your laughs sound like to me, especially you men who are supposed to have a Christian spirit in your hearts.

This man is President of the United States, and, in spite of how you laugh, he is your President of the United States, and to the millions of Americans who are dying on foreign battlefields, he is their President of the United States. You men have no right—no right—to express a majority opinion upon a question when you do not represent a majority thought.

A majority of the people of Pennsylvania voted last year for Roosevelt for a fourth term. They then gave you an answer to this resolution. They told you then that they believe not in one term or two terms or three terms, but by emphasis they told you they believe in four, and may the good Lord above him spare his health and keep his mind as clear as it is today, his body as sound as it is today, and his ideals as high as they are today, that he may again be called to serve his people, the common people of this nation.

Mr. KEPHART. I have not very much to say in answer to the gentleman from Westmoreland, but I would like to point out that in the History of Senate Resolutions he will find there have been probably more resolutions introduced by the gentleman from Westmoreland himself, memorializing Congress to do this that and the other thing, than any other Senator has presented.

I would like to go back into history just for a moment and read a few quotations from a few of our former presidents on this subject, in answer to the statement by the gentleman from Westmoreland that they have been misquoted.

Washington said: "Rotation in office accords with the representative spirit of our Constitution and the ideas of safety and liberty entertained by our people" and he refused to run for more than two terms.

President Jefferson in like circumstances said: "Indulgence and attachments of the people will keep a man in the Chair so that re-election through life shall become habitual, and election for life follows that George Washington set the example for voluntary retirement after eight years. I shall follow it and a few more presidents (doing so) will impose the obstacle of habit to anyone after a while who shall endeavor to extend his term."

Grover Cleveland—there were other Democratic presidents in between who took the same attitude—Grover Cleveland said in 1884: "No man ought to seek to disturb the public usage and unwritten law which prescribes that a third term, whether or not consecutive, is dangerous to the Republic."

In 1896 the Democratic platform said: "We declare it to be the unwritten law of the Republic that by custom and usage of one hundred years, and sanctioned by the example of the greatest and wisest of those who founded and maintained our government, no man shall be eligible for a third term of the presidential office."

Mr. President, the present President of the United States was enabled to be returned to the White House for more than two terms by the very conditions that those wise presidents criticized, and by the patronage which he had at his command.

I do not really believe that they expressed the will of the majority, if they had been unfettered to vote according to their convictions.

Mr. BARR. Following up what has been stated by my colleague from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, about eighteen of us representing a greater majority of the people in the state than thirty-two Republicans, I just want to quote a few figures. My majority in the last election, and the one before, over my opponent, was over twenty-five thousand. I want to tell the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Kephart, that my majority was more than the vote it took for him to be elected. I want him also to know the same thing is true with respect to other counties: Senator James, 18,000—I still had a majority of 25,000. Going down the list we find that the same thing exists with respect to Senator Crowe; the same thing exists with respect to Senator Tallman; the same thing exists with respect to Senator Jones, the same thing exists with respect to Senator Snowden; the same thing exists with respect to Senator Stevenson; the same thing exists with respect to Senator Mallery; the same thing exists with respect to Senator Bowers; the same thing exists with respect to Senator Letzler; the same thing exists with respect to Senator Ealy; the same condition exists with respect to Senator Thomas and Senator Carr.

My majority and the majority of every Democrat on this side that comes from any of the larger districts—where the Democrats come from; the Republicans come from the small districts—our majorities are more over their opponents than the total votes the Republicans got to be elected to the Senate.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, the members on the Democratic side of this Senate do not seem to understand the purpose of a Constitution. A Constitution is a compact among people by which they limit their powers of government; it is to protect the people against a government and to protect the people against themselves.

This resolution is not directed towards President Roosevelt, because an amendment to the Constitution could not be passed before he has a chance to run for a fifth term, if he wants to run.

If you want to consider merely the popularity of a man, as an evidence of his worth, we have lots of examples in the world of popularity, and history has recorded the fact that they have not been good for their countries.

I admire President Roosevelt for a number of things. Anyone who could overcome his physical handicap the way he has deserves a great deal of praise and credit. I remember I was down in Philadelphia the day he passed through the city in an open car and I grudgingly admired his fortitude. He certainly has popularity, and in one sense he is a great man, but it will depend on the future judgment of history as to whether his record has been one of benefit to the country or not. Our historians fifty years or more from now will be able to tell us whether this reign of Roosevelt has been good.

There was no man who had more popularity in his country than Napoleon, the first. He was considered a great man, and he is now considered a great man by the French, but he led millions of his fellow countrymen to death to forward his own personal ambition.

Napoleon, the third, was considered a great man, and he was very popular in his time, but he led his country to the most humiliating defeat it ever suffered.

If we must consider popularity, why, Hitler had that, because he induced a country of eighty million people to swear unswerving obedience to him, whether he was right or whether he was wrong.

I am not comparing our President with any of those men, but I say that the fact that he got the votes of the people is no evidence that future historians will put him down as a great man or good for his country. I feel quite the contrary. I feel that, as the Jewish historians wrote down, that Jereboam the first led his people into sin—moral and religious sin, so our future historians will write down that this man led us into political and economic sin.

I am not in favor of this resolution exactly. I think that a President of the United States should be limited to one term, perhaps of six years. A great French writer who came here and went all over the United States in the 1830's—De Tocqueville was his name—pointed out that the great thing in our form of government which was going to make trouble was the fact that a president could succeed himself and that he would devote all the powers of a first term in order to get a chance to run for office for four years more.

Take our little office of state senator. We have no power but yet it was decided to throw safeguards around senators so that they could not be appointed to any state office during their term as state senator.

All of our great men, all of our presidents prior to the present President, pointed out the dangers which come rom a man having a right to succeed himself. Senator Kephart referred to some of them.

Grover Cleveland, a Democratic President, put it in words when he said: "When we consider the patronage of this great office, the allurements of power, the temptation to retain public office once gained, and—more than all—the availability a party finds in an incumbent whom horde of officeholders, with a zeal born of benefits received and fostered by the hope of favors yet to some, and ready to aid with money and trained political assistance, we recognize in the eligibility of the President for re-election the most serious danger to that calm, deliberate, and intelligent action which must characterize government by the people."

That was Grover Cleveland, and although he was rected by the Democratic party and crticized by the Republican Party, I think history will put him down as one of the very greatest presidents this country ever had.

A Democratic plank in their 1896 convention declared, as Senator Kephart has said, that this principle has become an unwritten plank in our Constitution, and it was thought to be such until the present time.

Andrew Jackson, one of the gods of the Democratic Party, was so much impressed with the thought that to allow a president to succeed himself was dangerous, that in seven of his messages to Congress he asked them to pass an amendment proposing to limit the president to one term of perhaps six or seven years.

We had an example in a president of Mexico. They had a constitution which provided for only one term and Diaz became president and had the constitution changed, and, after an interim of one term, he went back into office and stayed there all-told a period of thirty years, I believe it was, until he was put out only by revolution.

This resolution, as I said, is not aimed at the present president, because the amendment could not be passed in time, but if we have any regard for the future of this country we surely must put into our Constitution an amendment to limit a president to one term or at the most two

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I want to state to the sarcastic gentleman from Philadelphia that I know I have put in a lot of resolutions memorializing Congress. I am not condemning the practice of putting in resolutions memorializing Congress; I am only saying this, that you do not represent a majority thought of Pennsylvania, and when this resolution passes it will imply that you do represent a majority thought and I do not believe you do.

So, speaking of patronage, keeping political officeholders in office, I do not think there are many Democrats on the payroll in Pennsylvania; I do not believe that you allow a policy of bi-partisianism. I might say this, Mr. President, that there is no difference in an individual being elected for three or four terms than there is in a party being elected for three or four terms; there is no difference at all, between Harding, Coolidge and Hoover representing the Republican Party for twelve years, and in President Roosevelt representing the Democratic Party for sixteen years.

In Pennsylvania for sixty some odd years the Republicans controlled the governorship; there was no difference in the philosophy of thought—they had office because they had the patronage to give, they had the resources and te means of getting revenue to run their campaigns, which were so ably disclosed here yesterday afternoon.

There is no difference between a man being in power and a party being in power. I ask all of you to sit down and clearly analyze the twelve years of Republicanism that preceeded the thirteen years of the Democratic Party's ascendency to power into the administrative offices in Washington, beginning with the comparative security of the boom years when Harding became President of these United States and which ended in the trying days of the Hoover administration, with this nation tottering upon the brink of catastrophe, one that almost sapped the very life blood out of this democracy that these gentlemen do not believe in, these gentlemen who say the people must be protected from themselves.

What kind of idealolgy is that, what type of government is that, when a majority of the people have to be protected by a minority, if you please—the tail wagging the dog. What type of government would you have? I know you would like to have the type of government that was operated by the well renowned Bois Penrose, who worked out a safe deposit box instead of out of ballot boxes.

Gentlemen, you do not represent a majority of thought; you have no right to think you do or let it be thought that you do.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I have a forty-five minute speech citing the reasons why we should not limit a good president to two terms, but the hour is late and I shall not impose it on the members of the Senate. I have just one or two observations to make.

The presentation of this resolution by the gentleman from Philadelphia betrays an astounding blindness to public opinion. Coming from the City of Brotherly Love, where an overwhelming majority of the qualified electors are members of his party but on three occasions cast majorities for President Roosevelt, ranging from 150,000 up, obviously he does not represent a majority opinion of the people in Philadelphia.

If we could get the gentleman from Philadelphia to disassociate himself from his party allegiance and drop the cloak of Republicanism just temporarily and indulge in some rather serious and profound thinking and compare the humanizing character and the able leadership of the man who now guides the destiny of America with Hoover and Coolidge and Harding, all apostles of inaction, I can not see how he can even vote for the amendments, let alone present it to the Senate of Pennsylvania.

May I say, Mr. President, in closing, that when we have out-ridden the tempest, as we shall, and we reflect in tranquility on what it was that saved us, we shall see with clarity the towering figure of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, and I am against anything that would limit a man of his character to two terms as President of the United States.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I believe the gentleman from Philadelphia did not make a very careful study of the vote cast by the soldiers who are fighting to preserve the way of life and the government which we enjoy. His resolution would condemn the vote of the soldier because the soldiers voted so unanimously for re-election of Franklin Roosevelt. Sixty-six per cent of the vote cast by the soldiers was for Roosevelt.

But I want to go a little further in analyzing the thinking of the gentleman from Philadelphia, because I believe after a great deal of study and listening to a great deal of lectures on Fascism, that the Fascist mind believes that a people can not be trusted, that a people should not be given rights, that a people should be ruled with an iron hand.

The gentleman from Philadelphia does not have confidence in the people of America. He quoted—I would like to have Mr. Geltz listen to this because I too have read a little bit about the founders of our country—I heard Jefferson's name used and Jefferson always said you must always believe in the people, the people are always right.

Therefore, Mr. President, I think this comes at a very inopportune time, when ten million men are in service, a man from Philadelphia who does not recognize the soldier vote—I could add a little more to that too—does not recognize the man who wears a uniform, who voted for Roosevelt for a fourth term, and if this man's resolution had been in effect it would even have denied him the right to vote.

I say to you, Mr. President, I hate to say it, but it is Fascist thinking right here in America.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Kephart.

The PRESIDENT Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. KEPHART. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. I would like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia if this resolution is retroactive.

Mr. KEPHART. It is not, Mr. President. It was beyond my fondest dream to have it applied to President Roosevelt.

Mr. WALKER May I say, Mr. President, it would be impossible for me to vote for this resolution because I have a public interest and a personal interest. I do not think, if it is not retroactive, that it is going to help us very much on this side of the Senate, and if it is not retroactive, all we are going to do is to penalize some good Republican who some day will get to the place where he also can fool the people for four consecutive terms, and I do not propose to limit any Republican in Pennsylvania like that.

Some day I may stand on the threshhold of saying that I will agree to run for a third term, and I do not want any vote that I cast in this Senate to stop me. I think every Democrat in the Senate has been recorded here this afternoon as saying something nice on behalf of our Chief Executive, and I think that is fitting and proper.

I do wish that the gentleman from Philadelphia would refrain from calling up these controversial resolutions just when we are on the verge of withdrawing from the Senate Chamber and going down to eat. Why do we always get involved in these silly arguments—that is something I can not understand—but we are into this thing and eventually we are going to vote and I want to say I am going to vote "no" on this resolution, first, because it is not retroactive and, secondly, I refuse to be penalized in my fondest desire, that is, to be President of the United States for more than two terms.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. WALKER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. KEPHART. Will the gentleman from Allegheny state whether he has just launched another campaign?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, the gentleman will have to explain what he means by the word "another"—I never stopped. If he is referring to my disappointment over not being offered that Superior Court appointment, may I say that I think it is rather ill-timed in this Senate Chamber to bring up the words Superior Court.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I think there is only one man in this Chamber who should be disappointed, that is, G. Harold Watkins—he does not know what it is all about.

Mr. DENT Mr. President, I realize we can not talk forever, and did not expect to change any votes, and was very much surprised that we have converted our good friend from Allegheny, Senator Walker—but he is unpredictable, of course. I appreciate his right as an American to hope to be President of the United States, and I for one would never taken from him his right to run three times for president, but I will try to take from him the right to serve a third term in the Senate.

We believe, of course, in the principle of rotation of office, but it is a peculiar thing that we do not believe in it for ourselves, as we Senators are willing to take three, four or five, or as many as it is possible to inveigle away from the people. Senator Ealy is a very fine gentleman, but he did not make any statement that it was time he quit and let somebody else come into his place in the Senate, someone who is young, fresh and with vigorous blood—not that he is not vigorous, but he is not young any more. Senator Woodward is a fine gentleman and long a Member of this Body, but I could think of some other fellow that might add a little to the Senate, someone a little younger and with more vigor and vitality, a little more vim in striving to understand problems of the day, and who would recognize we are in a changing world, where philosophies have changed, where people believe now that the common man has come to the front, as was so ably stated by that great humanitarian, Henry Wallace, who said this is the century of the common man all over the world, all over the world the common man has expanded and grown up and become a part of the picture politically, civically, economically, he has become part of the great world that we live in, but these old dodoes and dunderheads do not want to come around to that philosophy of mind; they want to do by insinuation what they can not do by actual receiving of the number of votes with which to win an election.

I only want to state, Mr. President, in closing, that this is another example of the short, business-like session that the Governor asked for, dealing only in the essentials, because things that do not belong here would be a travesty and the soldiers might be hurt if we dilly-dallied down here.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. JASPAN and were as follows, viz:

Creator and Sustainer of all life, whose argosies of power and grace are the resource of all men, we give Thee hearty thanks for Thy benevolent providences in these present desperate days—for the good earth, verdant and fertile, the wealth of crops, the beauty and bounty of growing things. Push out the walls of our minds, incline our hearts unto wisdom and the keeping of Thy commandments. Let us not lose faith in our fellowman.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. McATEE. RESOLUTION No. 42.

In the House of Representatives, March 19, 1945.

These are the days when men of great courage can and do distinguish themselves in the services they perform on behalf of their country.

There are many men of great courage whose courageous deeds are not noted by the world but we do know there are many such men and to them we do in part pay due honor.

Then there are those men of heroic courage of whom the world does take notice and to one of such men it is our privilege tonight to honor by a few words of commendation.

That man is General Carl Spaatz.

Carl Spaatz, a few years back, was just a country boy over there in Berks County, a Boyertown boy like hundreds of other boys, but somehow or other he got the spark that soon set him apart as a leader. First, as a leader locally and later as a national figure in his famous endurance flight in the plane, "Question Mark."

Then the war came along and we found him right up in front and in both the most active field and in the most dangerous field as the Commander of the Air Forces, where he made and is making history every day of his life. The human mind cannot comprehend modern air war, as the speed, the number, the ferocity is too great and the human mind has hardly gone beyond the kite-flying stage. So, therefore, the greatness and the courageousness of Carl Spaatz is something that time and many words and personal experiences can alone possibly unfold for us and give us some meager understanding of what has happened and who made it happen; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extend to General Carl Spaatz its congratulations upon his being made a full General. It also congratulates him upon his forceful, courageous and heroic leadership of the United States Air Forces and it takes a genuine pleasure in paying in this small way, honor to him as a great patriot and a great soldier; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to General Carl Spaatz.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

COMMUNICATION

The SPEAKER laid before the House a communication which was read by the Clerk as follows:

91, Carey Street, Ashley, Pa.
March 16, 1945.

To the Speaker of the House of Representatives
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

My dear Mr. Fiss:

Your recent action in regard to the resolution passed by the House of Representatives honoring my husband, Walter Grey Gryskewicz, a former member of the legislature has aroused in me a feeling of deep appreciation which I wish to express to you, asking you to convey this feeling to the members of the House.

I am sincerely grateful for the sympathy they have offered me in my sorrow and loss. The formal expression of that sympathy which was sent to me fills me with pride. I am sure it will have the same effect on my children when they arrive at an age to comprehend that their father was so much respected and esteemed by your honorable body of legislators.

Very sincerely yours,

(Signed) DELLA GRYSKEWICZ

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, it may be that this bill with its amendment has been on the desk for so short a period that this question might be a stab in the dark, but a very fast survey of the bill indicates that there is a chance here that the cost per pupil provided under this bill is $1.95. Will the gentleman tell me whether that is correct, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. The cost per pupil is $1.50 for the medical examination and 75 cents for the dental, which makes a total of $2.25.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman acquainted with the fact that the Young Commission recommends $2.00 per pupil cost?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I am, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, has there been any attempt to reconcile the Young Commission report and the provisions of this bill?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I don't know, Mr. Speaker, that the Young Commission report is embodied now in any place on the calendar; it is still in Committee and I imagine that it will be taken care of.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, this side of the House wants to extend its thanks to the other side for having carefully listened to all the criticisms that we made of House Bill 171 when it first appeared on the calendar on second reading. We appreciate the fact that the other side has taken enough time to carefully study the subject and to amend the bill in such form and shape that it now becomes entirely acceptable to this side. We trust that the administration of the school examination program will inure to the benefit of the children and the adults of Pennsylvania. We trust the examination will be the beginning of a program of examination that will extend into proper proportions in the future and an adequate sum of money set aside and appropriated for the purpose of a real examination of school children. We want to thank the other side for not only having set the bill up in the proper administrative form, but even increasing the amount of money which had been originally contemplated to be set up, from $3,200,000 to $4,700,000. When the day comes that the gentleman wants $40,000,000 rather than $4,700,000 I will vote for it again.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to point out for the benefit of the membership of the House before a vote is taken on this bill just a few of the changes that were made by the amendments inserted last evening.

The bill definitely calls for an examination, a special examination in lieu of the regular school examination during the first, third, fifth, seventh, ninth and eleventh grades, during the years that the children are pupils in those particular grades. It allows examination by the family physician, teachers and other employes, even the pupils as long as the examination is duplicated on a form prescribed by the Secretary of Health, and so that it can be made a part of the permanent record of the pupil and the teachers, which can be carried through during a period of years.

It provides definitely for the reimbursement in districts of the first, second and third class, which today have certain medical standards, and provides for a medical director, reimbursing at the rate of $1.50 per pupil for the medical examination and 75 cents for the dental examination.

I want to call the attention of the House to the fact that in the Young Commission report the amount of money allocated was $2.00 per puil, whereas in this bill there is a provided $2.25 for the examination.

It also allows facilities of any of the state hospitals or any of your private hospitals in the communities which have the facilities necessary to make these examinations.

It provides further that the examination should be made in a separate room, and it is the plan of the Department of Health when the equipment is availablbe to purchase the necessary mobile unit properly equipped with the necessary equipment to make this thorough examination to travel through the fourth class school districts in the rural areas of Pennsylvania.

Then last but not least, I think one of the major changes was the increase in the appropriation specifically appropriated in this bill from $3,200,000 to $4,700,000.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 756, as follows:

An Act to reenact and amend clause XIII of section one thousand five hundred two of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 1206) entitled "An act concerning townships of the first class amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" by providing for the furnishing of street lighting by contact with lighting companies upon petition of property owners in villages and for the assessment and collection of the costs and maintenance thereof upon property benefited thereby and validating petitions of property owners contracts entered into between townships and lighting companies taxes levied to pay the costs and maintenance of lighting service and the collection receipt and payment out of the revenues therefrom notwithstanding such petitions were filed contracts entered into and taxes levied collected and paid out under unconstitutional laws validating agreements and understandings between townships and lighting companies to continue lighting service pending the enactment of valid laws regulating and providing for the expenditure of moneys arising from special lighting taxes and authorizing the payment of the costs and expenses of maintaining lighting service until valid laws are enacted to collect charges from property owners benefited thereby out of the township tax and the creation and transfer of moneys to a special account for such purposes at any time notwithstanding the prior adoption of the budget and authorizing any light and power company to apply the net rate and to waive the gross rate or to grant discounts and to waive penalties in the same manner as if payments had been made by the township within the time required by the contract and the company's schedules or tariffs

Whereas the Supreme Court in the case of Manheim Twp v Workman 350 Pa 168 held unconstitutional clause two section 386 of the General Township Act of July 14 1917 (P. L. 840) which authorized contracts for lighting service in villages in townships of the second class and for the levy of a tax upon the assessed value of real estate in such villages to raise revenue to pay for such service The court held that the moneys to be raised to pay for such a service should have been imposed on property according to the foot front rule and

Whereas the reasons given by the court in said opinion are also applicable to existing contracts for lighting service entered into under clause XIII of section 1502 of the First Class Township Law approved May 24 1931 (P. L. 1206) and to tax levies made pursuant to such provisions and

Whereas certain taxes have been collected under existing law to pay for lighting service the revenues from which are held in the treasuries of such townships and are available for the payment of lighting service rendered subsequent to said decision of the court at the request of citizens and of public authorities if such payments are validated by law and

Whereas public necessity required the constitution of said public utility service until provision could be made by law validating existing contracts entered into in good faith and the taxes levied and collected pursuant to such unconstitutional provisions and the payment out of such tax moneys and for the enactment of laws for the assessment of charges for street lighting service according to the foot front rule therefore

NOT VOTING—1

Wood, L. H.,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 792, as follows:

An Act prescribing the question to be determined in certain cases where a new trial is granted

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 When in any action a new trial shall be granted to any party solely upon the ground of inadequacy or excessiveness of a verdict or finding the sole question to be determined upon such new trial shall be the amount of damages and the question of liability as between the parties shall be deemed to have been finally determined by the prior verdict or finding

Section 2 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General for the purpose of further study.

On the question,

Wil lthe House agree to the motion?

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Venango, Mr. McKinney.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Venango permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McKINNEY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know from the gentleman the reason for the recommittal of this bill, with regard to what study there can be of an eight-line bill.

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, there seems to be considerable misunderstanding about this bill and I have been requested on this side of the House to ask that it be recommitted, that the committee may give it further study.

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, I still don't know why there should be further study, and I would like to know from the gentleman the reason for the recommittal.

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, the only way I can answer that is by saying that the committee desires to give it further study; to study it in committee. I cannot answer what they want in committee, or how they are going about this thing. I am only the Chairman of the committee.

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know from the gentleman whether he as Chairman of the Judiciary General Committee received any letters from his constituents or any legal association or bar association in the state in reference to this bill.

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, I do not desire to divulge on the floor of the House what my individual mail is or who I receive letters from.

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know from the gentleman whether there are any objections to this bill going over until I have had a chance to talk with the various members of the committee, of which I am also a member.

Mr. McKINNEY. I would object to that, Mr. Speaker. I think he could do that in committee and if the bill is favorable to the committee we will bring it out again.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman have objection to having the bill passed over?

Mr. McKINNEY. I do object, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Cambria Mr. Andrews.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, it must be indeed an unusual situation that prompts the gentleman's decision to object to a bill going over. On this side of the House we have interposed no objection to a bill going over, and I think it is a proper parliamentary procedure to allow a bill to go over in order that the Members of the House may have an opportunity to study the bill. If the gentleman wants to establish a precedent, that is up to the gentleman; we will have to take things as they hand them. He is carrying the ball and I hope he won't carry it in that direction.

Mr. McKINNEY. Mr. Speaker, in deference to the gentleman on the other side I will withdrawn my objection to having the bill passed over.

BILLS PASSED OVER

The SPEAKER. The gentleman withdraws his objection, and if there is no objection on the part of the House the bill will be passed over. The Chair hears none and the bill is passed over.

There being no objection House Bill No. 846, Printer's No. 265, was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 879, as follows:

An Act to amend sections one and three of the act approved the eighth day of April one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 276) entitled "An act regulating the employment and hours of employment of the officers and members of the uniformed fire protection forces of the cities of the first class and repealing existing laws" by establishing a three platoon system

BILL AND MESSAGE LAID ON TABLE

Mr. HARE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill, together ith the message from the Senate be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Messrs. CULLEN and HEATHERINGTON offered a solution which was read, considered and unanimously lopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 20, 1945.

There has been received by a member of this House a tter from one of its members, the Hon. George J. Sarraf, w Captain Sarraf, who is stationed in an army hospital Camp Hood, Texas.

"Doc" Sarraf in his letter says "I sure miss being down ere with you and the other good men from good old iladelphia and the other parts of our State. I'll bet you were a little younger you would be in here pitch- g too—just as you did in the first World War.

"We are working hard. A lot of these kids are all nged up, as you would know, and with the help of od we are putting a large percentage of them in good ape.

"Lots of luck—health—and please say 'hello' to the men r me.

"Pal, 'Doc' Sarraf"

It is great to get this message from one of us who has luntarily chosen to use his professional skill for the nefit of the sick and injured boys in the service when could easily have been safely here with us.

It is those sacrifices such as Doctor Sarraf is making at make us doubly thankful for the privilege of being mericans and inspire us with a desire to do our full ty here at home, therefore be it

Resolved, by the members of the House of Representa- ves of the Commonwealth, That we extend to Doctor rraf our sincere thanks for his message and to assure m of our admiration of the work he is doing for the flicted in the service, and that as our "hello Doc" to m we request the Chief Clerk of the House to forward copy of this Resolution to the Honorable George J. rraf, our good friend "Doc Sarraf" now on duty at mp Hood, Texas.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. FRANK E. SNYDER asked and obtained unanimous nsent to address the House.

No one realizes more than I, that in an emergency like e one through which we are passing, it is necessary to mporarily make many changes, and to centralize much wer in the hands of a few. To this inevitable condition, e as a people have willingly submitted but in so doing, e have not in any way lessened the value that we place the personal liberties that democracy provides. Con- tions that exist to-day should, by contrast, increase our preciation for, and our determination to regain these erties when the war is over. It is for such freedom at this awful war is being fought.

We who are in positions of trust, must keep in mind at we have an obligation to all citizens of our country, all free peoples the world over, and to generations yet born, to see that this centralization of power in the S. does not result in changes permanently detrimental the common good of all people. We must make sure at no permanent changes are clamped upon us by greedy terests, under the guise of expediency, of war necessity, or to satisfy the whims of one who may feel cramped or agrieved by rationing.

Great Are Our Responsibilities

Great responsibilities rest upon our elected officials to see that this is not done, while our neighbor boys, our brothers, and our sons are fighting, and dying to retain liberty. As a member of the Pennsylvania Legislature, I do not propose to take these responsibilities lightly nor do I intend to let attempts which I believe will cripple our future health, freedom and economy, go by unheeded. This you may say is a platitude. Certainly with this stand no one can differ. It is the position that I feel sure will always govern the decisions of this body.

We Are United to Crush Despotism

In this crisis, brought about by war being forced upon all free men, we as a people willingly and wisely put all of our resources behind our war effort. We are all a part of a determined drive to crush those enemies of freedom and democracy so that none of them may ever raise his head again against free men.

All Honor to Those Who Are In Uniform

The men and the women who have had the honor of wearing a uniform of the U. S., whether on land, or sea, or in the air, have done a superb job. They have given and are still giving their best and are suffering much. Many have paid with their lives, and still more will return to us crippled, and carrying wounds the rest of their lives. All gave as their duties required, that their country might continue to be a land of human liberties.

Labor Has Done Its Part

The men and women in overalls whether in the factory, down in the mine, or on the farm, have done a marvelous job in providing an abundance of those things that are necessary to sustain life, and supply the best of materials and implements for war.

Great Credit Due Personnel of Transportation and Communication

Though short handed the men and women who have been responsible for the smooth operation of our communications, and transportation systems, have done what appeared to be the impossible by getting the messages, the materials, and the men, to their destination on time and in the quantity and number needed.

Technicians, Physicians and White Collar Workers at Home Have Done Their Part

The scientist, the physicians, the nurses the white collar man and woman in the school, store, the office, in research, in finance or in management, have quietly filled the spots that were his or hers to fill, and have done well with little praise or comment.

All Submit to Many New Rules and Regulations

All have submitted to rationing of various kinds and to regulations never before experienced. Every one of us have had our food habits changed and we are eating emergency rations, so to speak, of various and sundry kinds and are going without some of the commonest foods, which we really miss. We as a people are doing this in order that our fighting men may have what they require, and that we may share our foods with those who have been delivered from the clutches of our enemies, who robbed them. Until we fully comply with the provisions of rationing, we cannot feel that we are 100% behind our armed forces, and a part of our united war effort.

Each Has a Responsibility

Every one in our body politic, if he does his duty, must fit himself into the nitch that is his to fill, and there he must really work for the one purpose—the winning of the war, and the winning of the peace which is to follow.

United We Progress

What the final result of this united effort will be is already apparent, but when the war may end, and an organization to maintain world peace is established and made effective, no one can yet prophesy. We do know we are nearer the glorious day, and we who have been charged with responsibilities on the home front, are determined that when our boys and girls are returned to civilian life, they shall not be disappointed, in the opportunities they find in the free country they left, and for which they have fought and given so much.

To Err Is Human

In a world made up of human beings nothing is perfect but we are a united, liberty loving people. We do find from time to time, slackers, saboteurs and traitors but they are despised by all others, and are promptly and properly dealt with. The exceptions prove the rule—We are a united, liberty loving people. The fact that there are at all times those whose greed for money, or whose craving for power impels them to prey on the helpless whenever opportunity permits, only proves the weakness of human nature. To hold all such forces in check is a continuous battle.

An Indispensable Public Service

Today, I want to direct my remarks in support of a class of people who render an indispensable service to all mankind. I refer to the dairy farmer—the farm family—that makes it possible for all to have Nature's perfectly balanced, and most nutricious food. The complete story of milk has never been told. It may always remain one of Nature's secrets as is life itself, but we do know that milk is an indispensable food, and we recognize that it has life sustaining qualities, found in no other food. For it, there is no substitute.

No Service Greater Than That Rendered By Dairy Farmers

On our hills and in our valleys, farm families work seven days a week, three hundred sixty-five days a year, to care for cows that produce your milk. Their days are long, as cows must be fed, and milked every twelve hours. I can think of no more necessary public service than that performed by the dairy farmer and his family. A correctly informed public will appreciate a service of that type, and an understanding public will see how important a prosperous farm population is to the general welfare. The dairy farms are the best, and most extensive market for the products of the shop and factory. Every citizen has a direct, yes a selfish interest in seeing that these isolated farm families get a square deal, and no man interested in the welfare of the common man, will knowingly lend himself to any scheme of selfish interests, to prevent the free flow of milk and dairy products from the farms to the homes of the urban dwellers, and in turn the free flow of the products of the factory and the shop to the farms. To the end that you may know what is behind a well financed plan, which if made effective, would sabotage the dairy industry with far reaching ill effects, I am addressing you to this length.

Why Butter Is Rationed

At the present time when milk and dairy products are being produced in greater quantities than ever before, and when the needs of the armed forces are taking such quantities, we are experiencing a drastic rationing of butter. It is no fault of the dairy farmer, that butter is scarce, and ration points are relatively so high. There are reasons but they are beyond the control of producers, and they all tie into the united war effort. We must accept them as a part of the whole.

Butter Largely A Seasonal Product

You are all well enough acquainted with dairying, I hope, to know that in order to supply the public with all the fresh milk, and fresh cream that is needed, there had to be a large surplus, especially in the summer months. That is the time when most of the years' supply of butter and cheese is made, and put into storage to flow out throughout the year as markets require. In order to have fluid milk every day, dairy products are necessary and they constitute an important part of the diet, as well as contributing much to the dairy farmers income. It would seem almost incredible at a time such as this, that a concerted attack would be made upon such an important food product as butter. Butter fat is the backbone of milk, yes butter is the backbone of the whole dairy industry and all values in other dairy products are based upon its value. This well financed attack, jeopardizes the fluid milk markets, and thereby is threatening to impair public health. Greed for unearned profits on the part of giant corporations is the force that is behind the scheme. A combination of favorable factors, brought about by the war, has given the manufacturers of oleomargarine the opportunity they have long sought. They would make much of the lack of butter, and encourage the consumer to help them with their plan. They would destroy the livelihood of the dairy farmers family at a time, when these families are working and producing more than ever before, and our war plan demands that the greater part must go, first to the doughboys who are today lying, dying in fox holes that we may live as free men. Those who would make much of the lack of butter in our homes at this time should hang their heads in shame. Those who would take unfair advantage of the producers of milk and butter, in this emergency cannot be considered friends of the dairy farmer.

The Battle Is Not Alone That Of The Dairy Farmer

For fifty or more years a combination of waste products of oils, fats and grease known as oleomargarine, oleo, margarine, and by other names, sometimes including the word butter, have been on the market. From the start, attempts were made to dress it up to look like butter, or even sell for butter. There has been a continual effort to use the word butter in some way on the wrapper, and manufacturers are bound to color it to match the natural golden color of butter. The dairy farmer has never objected to the sale of this mixture for what it is, and it is only when attempts are made to masquerade as butter, that farm people and the consumers have objected.

Public Must Be Protected Against Imposter

In order to regulate the manufacture of this, shall I say synthetic, product of variable, and often unknown origin, and to properly protect the public, Federal laws impose an annual tax of $600 on manufacturers. This is not an unreasonable tax when we compare it with a tax of ($2500.00) a year imposed by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, on the larger distributors of fluid milk for license purposes and to compel the distributors to report, as to activities.

Who Manufacture Margarine

The manufacturers of oleomargarine are not small concerns, but how they get some small people to squawk in their behalf. You will recognize the size and principal business of these corporations if I mention a few of the members of the National Association of Margarine manufacturers.

The Armour Co., of Chicago, Ill.
The Churngold Corporation of Cincinnati, Ohio.
J. H. Filbert, Inc., of Baltimore, Md.
John F. Jelke Co., of Chicago, Ill.
Swift and Company of Chicago, Ill.
Wilson and Company of Chicago, Ill.

There are no oleomargarine manufacturers, to my knowledge, in Pennsylvania. There are at least 22 corporations in this combination known as the National Association of Margarine Manufacturers. They are corporations created to make profits for stockholders and when united as they are, they are no mean opponent when arrayed against the dairy farmer.

Licenses for Health Protection

Continuing on the point of tax or license for the manufacture and sale of oleo, I want to say there is a Federal tax of one quarter cent a pound on all uncolored oleo and a tax of ten cents a pound on oleo colored to resemble butter. Aside from this there is a Federal tax of $460.00 and $200 on wholesalers of colored and uncolored oleo respectively, and a Federal tax of $42.00 and $6.00 on retailers of colored and uncolored oleo respectively. These taxes or licenses have been imposed by Federal Laws so that manufacturers may be known, and sale of this by product of the slaughterhouses and oil, can be controlled, and the consumers protected from fraud.

States Cooperate With Federal Authorities

States, especially in the dairy sections, have laws that enable state authorities, to join in helping to see that oleo is sold for what it is, and as far as possible, no one takes it home when he pays for butter. Some states forbid the sale of colored oleo within the State. Some states compel public eating places serving it, to display signs plainly stating that oleo is being served. Some states require a license be obtained, and plainly displayed by those selling this product. All of these laws are judged in the public interest, and were passed after discussions and deliberations at a time when there were no temporary rules governing rationing, to irk the sensative. Remember that a corporation is set up to make profits It has the best talent that money can hire, and it makes the most of every opportunity to make profits. That is the purpose for which it is created, and with the amount of advertising, and lobbying, and promotional work that has been going on for years to further oleo sales, it is evident that oleo manufacturing corporations serve well the purpose for which created, and awake to every opportunity to better their position. At last the war has given them the golden opportunity. Their efforts today are rocking the very foundation of our dairy industry.

Dairy Production At All Time High To Meet War Needs

At the present time we have according to Federal authorities, the record high number of cows in farm herds and during the year 1944 amid many handicaps, they produced the second largest volume of milk in the Nation's history. This milk has been produced on the millions of small farms, where the farm family is striving to serve well the war effort and make a simple living. Already these dairy farmers are wondering what can be done with the milk and dairy products they are producing when this war ends and the markets abroad disappear as they will.

At Best Grave Problems Face Dairymen

They would like to have the public know more about the importance of butter, and other dairy products in the diet, and they are combining to have the story told better than ever before, but it will at best, be a feeble effort when arrayed against them will be the combined forces of giant corporations of the type I have mentioned.

No Reason For Abolishing Protective Laws

Certainly this is no time to repeal laws, or make changes that crush the dairy farmer, and boost the profits of such corporations. Thousands of our boys at the front dream of returning to the farms where they can get away from the noise, and live quietly and raise their family amid peaceful surroundings. Dairying is the backbone of farming and butter is the backbone of milk. Destroy it while the boys are away fighting our battles, just to satisfy the whim of corporations or those who do not appreciate why safeguards are placed around the sales of oleo, and it will be a stab in the back of our soldiers, when they are where they have no chance to defend themselves. It will be a blow at the family farm, that will be felt by the laboring man, and by our whole economic system.

The Experiment With Prohibition

You may recall the Volstead Act, that grand experiment of prohibition, that was passed during the last war. You will recall the reaction and the final results. Whether it was good or bad is not the question, but the fact that it was passed when the boys were away, was not good ethics, to say the least, and the reaction was not good.

We Must not be Stampeded Into Hasty Change

As I said in the beginning, we who are in positions of trust, must keep in mind that we have obligations to all citizens of our country, to all free people of the world, and to generations yet unborn, to see that the centralization of power does not result in changes permanently detrimental to the common good of all people. We must make sure that no such changes are clamped upon us by greedy interests, under the guise of expediency, of war necessity, or to satisfy the whims of those who may feel agrieved by rationing.

We Will Be Worthy of Our Trust

I plead with you to uphold the honor and the dignity of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that you keep the faith with those we have sent away to war, that you show appreciation for the services rendered by dairy farmers, that you show the stamina and character that it takes to accept inconveniences which war imposes, including rationing. I cannot believe this body of men will permit any such changes to be made in our protective laws, as those proposed by the friends of a product that history shows would be sold for what it is not, to the detriment of all people, except the corporations that reap increased, unearned profits as a result.

RESOLUTIONS

THANKS EXTENDED

Messrs. McMILLEN and ROBERTSON offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 19, 1945.

The Committee on Aeronautics of this House recently visited the Middletown Air Depot, maintained and operated by the War Department of the Federal Government.

The magnitude of the depot and the character of its work amazed the members of the Committee who were fortunate enough to be there.

In addition, however, to what the members of the Committee witnessed and what they learned, they were equally impressed by the hospitality and the courtesy extended to them by the officers and men stationed at the depot. They were accompanied throughout their visit by these who carefully and fully explained in detail the work that was being done and did everything possible to make the inspection thorough and instructive; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby extends its thanks to Brigadier General John M. Clark, Commanding General, in charge of the depot; Major Richard Kulze, Chief of Public Relations Department and Lieutenant George B. Boone and Sergeant Richard W. Gordon, his assistants, and Major Charles W. Draper, Production Inspection Chief, who contributed of their time so generously in order to provide the Committee of this House with information vital and necessary to it in its study of the Commonwealth's aeronautic problems; and be it further

Resolved, That in further recognition of the help and assistance of the above named officers and men, the Chief Clerk of this House is hereby requested to transmit a copy of this resolution to each of them.

CIVIL AIR PATROL DAY

Messrs. McNALLY and REYNOLDS offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 20, 1945.

There is a little known volunteer organization within this Commonwealth made up of men who have freely given of their time in the defense of their country.

The organization is known as the Civil Air Patrol and it has not only spent countless hours patrolling by air the costs of the nation, but has actually participated in the destruction of enemy submarines.

The organization has airships based at and operated from airfields in Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Harrisburg, Reading and most of the other important airfields within the Commonwealth.

The City of Pittsburgh has recently set aside a day as "Civil Air Patrol Day" during which a drive was made to secure air cadets for the Army and to give them preliminary training; therefore, be it

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth hereby suggests to His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, that he designate and set aside a day to be known as "Civil Air Patrol Day" and that he shall issue a proclamation calling upon the various municipalities and the public schools of the Commonwealth to arranage for the dissimination of information relating to the work of the Civil Air Patrol and its accomplishments in order to stimulate interest in its work and obtain additional air cadets for the Army; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House to His Excellency, the Governor.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. GRANT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I request that you call the House to attention because I think the subject which I am going to mention is important to the whole membership of the House.

I along with many other Members of the House am greatly interested in three bills, namely, House Bill 626 that is in the Liquor Control Committee, House Bill 275 that is in the Liquor Control Committee, and House Bill 236 that is in the Liquor Control Committee.

Through inquiry I have learned that although these bills have been in the Liquor Control Committee practically since we have been in session the Members of the Liquor Control Committee have not been given the opportunity to consider these bills. These bills are very simple.

The first bill, House Bill 626, takes clubs out of the quota law. I have learned from inquiry and have been informed by members of the House who have been in the House prior to my being a Member that this bill was not intended to cover clubs, but the bill as presently drawn up is subject to two different interpretations, one of which is that the clubs are not within the quota, and twenty-seven counties have so decided; the other is that they are within the quota law and twenty counties have so decided.

In 1941 I have been informed that this House felt that they were not intended to be in there, and they were taken out of the quota law. A bill was passed through this House and through the Senate, and I have been informed it was vetoed by the Governor. Since that time this bill has been in committee during the last session and this session.

All I am asking at this time is that the Liquor Control

Committee themselves be given an opportunity along with other Members to study this bill so that it may be brought out on the floor. Right at this time it is very vital for the reason that there are quite a few organizations of second World War veterans. They are already starting organizations of their own, and it seems to be a fact that they will be started in every county in the State of Pennsylvania eventually, and they will not be able to have the privilege of making an application in those counties where the law is construed that they are within the quota and be able to provide for their membership. They are vitally interested in this bill, and I think the Liquor Control Committee wants an opportunity to study the bill.

The other bill is House Bill 275. All that bill asks is that upon a hearing de novo—and every attorney who has had experience with these bills will tell you that in an application if you have a hearing before the Liquor Control Board which you fight before your local courts, that unless your local courts find new facts then, to carry out the administrative functions of this House and the Senate they are bound by a Superior court decision.

There are a great many of us in this House that have entire confidence in the local courts, and we feel that the courts should have that right, that they, knowing the conditions existing in their counties, and having to be confronted with them, they are able and they are honorable enough to have these matters decided by them, and they will handle them correctly.

The other one is an instance where an undue hardship is perpetrated upon those who hold a beer license presently. If you have a beer license you are included under the quota law, and if you wanted to change back and file a new application for a liquor license, and your beer license is included in the quota, the Liquor Control Board will refuse your new application because of the fact that the quota is exceeded, and your beer license is one of those included in the quota.

I say to you that I feel that the Chairman of the Liquor Control Committee should give the Liquor Control Committee an opportunity to study the bills, an opportunity to vote for them and bring them out on this floor. I think very definitely further from what I have learned from inquiry, that the Members of the committee also as well as we Members of the House would like to have an opportunity to study these bills.

I want to say at this time that I want to put the Chairman of this Liquor Control Committee on notice that unless these bills are taken out and considered I will be constrained to make a motion for not alone myself, but the members of the Liquor Control Committee to be given an opportunity to study these bills.

HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 38

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I call up House Resolution No. 38, Printer's No. 304, on page 25 of today's calendar.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 12, 1945.

Whereas, there are many ethically conducted and honestly operated companies dealing in consumer credit and engaged in the business of financing on conditional sale or lease, motor vehicles and other articles of personal property, it appears there are also many other finance and consumer credit companies which engage in unscrupulous and unconscionable practices unjustifiably detrimental to purchasers and inimical to public good; and

Whereas, the losses suffered from these nefarious practices fall upon the shoulders of those least able to bear them—the persons in lower income brackets who for want of ready cash are obliged to purchase even necessities on deferred payment bases to enrich those guilty of chicanery; and

Whereas, shortly there will return to this Commonwealth our native sons and daughters who have so well served their country here and overseas and who will want to take up anew their civil pursuits and reestablish their homes with those necessities which they must have and those luxuries to which they are entitled; and

Whereas, these veterans most of whom gave up lucrative positions of employment in answer to the call of war, may be by the very reason of their patriotism, unable financially to attain their just aims without resorting to installment purchases, and accordingly may become the victims of the designing manipulations of dishonest finance companies and others dealing in consumer credit; Therefore, To that end, Be it

Resolved (if the Senate concurs) the Joint State Government Commission of the Geenral Assembly, with the cooperation of the Secretary of Banking, the Insurance Commissioner and the Attorney General, is hereby directed to investigate and explore all matters connected with the operation and management of the conditions prevailing in finance companies and others in this Commonwealth dealing in consumer credit or otherwise engaged in the business of financing motor vehicles and other articles of personal property which are sold or leased on what is commonly known as the installment plan, for the purpose of ascertaining and reporting as soon as reasonably possible to the General Assembly such nefarious unscrupulous and improper practices as are deemed to be inimical to the public good and in the main to ascertain and report on any prevailing practices of such companies or individuals as the case may be, which may injure to the disadvantage or detriment of the public generally and returning veterans specifically, and to report thereon with recommendations for such legislation as it may dem advisable under the circumstances.

For these purposes the Joint State Government Commission of the General Assembly shall have the power to compel the appearance of witnesses and the production of books, papers and records, and to issue proper subpoenas for the attendance of witnesses and the production of books, papers, records, and any and all other writings deemed necessary for the fulfillment of the duties prescribed by this resolution.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny County, Mr. Fleming.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FLEMING. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know from the gentleman from Allegheny as to whether or not it is the law of the Commonwealth that all financial companies and credit agencies within the Commonwealth are under the supervision of the Department of Banking of the Commonwealth?

Mr. FLEMING. That, Mr. Speaker, I would not be able to correctly answer.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I would then desire to interrogate the Majority Leader of the House.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I would like then to ask the Majority Leader the same question as to whether or not the finance companies and credit agencies within the Commonwealth are not under the inspection of the Department of Banking.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, to the best of my knowledge they are not. I believe that the only groups of institutions and organizations in Pennsylvania are banks and small loan companies. There is a division in the Department of Banking under control of the banking department that handles small loan companies, but there are a lot of finance companies, I believe, and credit organizations that do not come under the banking department.

Mr. LEVY. What other financial institutions have we within the Commonwealth other than banks and finance companies, and further is it not true that the Department of Banking also has jurisdiction over consumers credit organizations within the Commonwealth chartered by the Department of Banking?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I believe, Mr. Speaker, that under the present act there are many companies doing business in Pennsylvania that evade the law because under the act if they make loans under $300 they do not come within certain provisions of the act, and that is the very reason for this resolution, but we wish to determine, Mr. Speaker, if it would be practical and feasible to amend the present act in order to bring about further regulation for the protection of the public interest.

Mr. LEVY. Is it not a matter of fact, Mr. Speaker, that under the small loans act, a company chartered by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is permitted to loan from $25 up to $300?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. And is it not true that that same company, Mr. Speaker, then is under the supervision of the Department of Banking?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Now, I would like to have the gentleman from Lehigh explain to the Members of the House what other financial agency or company within the Commonwealth must be investigated that is not under the direct supervision of the Department of Banking.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I believe that the resolution is very clear. I believe that many of these finance companies and your other credit organizations have been using some rather bad and unscrupulous methods in the matter of granting of loans and in the matter of repayment, and it is for that reason that this resolution is introduced, to determine if the complaints that have been made to the Department, letters written to the Governor of this Commonwealth—whether these complaints are justified.

Mr. LEVY. I would like to know, Mr. Speaker, what other companies in Pennsylvania doing a credit and finance business are not under the supervision of the Department of Banking that are intended to be investigated by this resolution.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I believe, Mr. Speaker, that we have department stores in Pennsylvania and many other chain groups in Pennsylvania, chain stores that are operating a credit business, and according to these complaints people have been, I might say, taken over by the methods employed in refinancing these loans, and the consumer credit groups in Pennsylvania.

Mr. LEVY. The House resolution, Mr. Speaker, directed to the Joint State Government Commission of the General Assembly to investigate in cooperation with the Department of Banking and the Insurance Commissioner is very general and deals in the first place with finance companies. When the department store finances a credit line on merchandise and subsequently turns it over to a finance company, isn't that same finance company under the supervision at the present time of the Department of Banking under the laws of the Commonwealth?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I would say, Mr. Speaker, that if they turned it over to a finance company that operates under the provisions of the act, that is true, but there are many department stores and other finance organizations in Pennsylvania that do not turn them over to recognized finance companies.

Mr. LEVY. Then I desire to ask the gentleman from Lehigh whether or not it might not be a good idea to amend the resolution to investigate the very bureau of the Commonwealth which this resolution includes in the investigation of it?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I certainly do not agree with the gentleman.

Mr. LEVY. Then I will have to ask the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Speaker, if the Department of Banking in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has supervision over all chartered finance companies and consumer credit companies of Pennsylvania, whether they do not have all that supervision, whether that is not ample and sufficient reason for the Governor of the Commonwealth to rely upon their findings rather than to go into a thing and into a long and probably useless investigation at the expense of the taxpayers' dollar?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I do not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. For what reason, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. For the reason set forth in the resolution. I think it is very clear and explicit, and for reasons which I have before mentioned. If the gentleman wishes to make a speech on every interrogation I do not care to be further interrogated.

Mr. LEVY. Well, that is all, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, I sometimes wonder whether or not this resolution is a good one. Perhaps it is, and perhaps the Banking Department of the Commonwealth knows more about the condition of the finance and credit consumer corporations in Pennsylvania than the information at the hands of the Majority Leader of this House.

If this Banking Department has cause to be alarmed over consumer credit dealings and finance company dealings in Pennsylvania, then I say the Department has reason to divulge that information both to the Governor, the Attorney General and to the Members of the House and the Senate of Pennsylvania. If they do not have, then I say this is merely a fishing expedition.

The reason I raise the question at this time, Mr. Speaker, is not because I rise in defense of finance companies, because the Lord knows I have no interest in them, nor in consumer credit corporations, but I do question the sincerity and the motive, because only a few weeks ago I read a newspaper article quoting the Governor that a certain bill that had been dropped into the hopper of the House of Representatives might not be so practical because it would cost too much money.

Enough on that, because when the bill comes up for debate we will have other things to say about it, but why the Governor without a protest from the Department of Banking has specifically protested on violations in regard to the Department of Banking and would so eagerly run to the investigation of companies in Pennsylvania and spend money, and in the same breath hold back his O. K. on other bills in the Legislature because of lack of desire to spend I cannot understand.

I have asked the Majority Leader to give us an explanation as to what finance companies or consumer credit corporations in Pennsylvania are not now under direct supervision of the Governor's own bureau, and to my mind the Majority Leader has not answered it in the correct manner. I say to you, Mr. Speaker, until the Department of Banking within the Commonwealth presents to the Governor and the Attorney General and the Legislature sufficient evidence of violations beyond its control in regard to finance companies and consumer credit corporations I say we should act very slowly in matters of this kind.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I hesitated to say that I wanted no further interrogation, because the interrogation of the gentleman from Philadelphia on occasion runs into a lengthy speech on each question, so I thought I would rather have him make his speech and then answer him.

Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Philadelphia the various finance companies and credit organizations that would come under the Department of Banking are those that give loans up to and including $300. We know there are many lawful finance companies in Pennsylvania that grant loans far in excess of this $300 limit, and over which the Department of Banking does not have the proper jurisdiction. There are many of these companies running a very fine and reputable business, but we find many that they are not doing these fine things, and by rather unscrupulous methods take over the public. It is because of the complaints made by the people of Pennsylvania in letters to the Department and in letters to the Governor that this resolution was introduced into the House, so that we might investigate the bad practices of these companies which today do not come under the control of the small loans bureau of the Department of Banking. Certainly those that are doing a proper business need not have any fear of being prosecuted or harmed in any manner, but I know personally, and I am sure that the experience of many of the Members of this House has been, in making contacts with people, that they have definitely paid far in excess of any legitimate charge for financing loans. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I see no reason why the gentleman from Philadelphia should become alarmed when we ask for this investigation of those people in Pennsylvania who are operating businesses, not for the welfare of the people of the Commonwealth but for their own personal benefit.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker, I think I happen to be a co-sponsor of this resolution. I have heard on the floor of this House time and again, especially from the opposite side of the House that they are interested in the common people.

To me that expression is vulgar, uncalled for and un-American. I do believe that our people are composed mainly of plain people. To call them common people is to place them in the category of something that is unwholesome, something that comes from the lower strata. I have had occasion to look up the word "common", and it has no place anywhere in speaking of the people of Pennsylvania, particularly the working class, that class which they speak so much about, that God made most of. He made them plain people; they are not common people; they are real people, they are Americans that we will all be proud to be associated with.

I am making this statement with the hope that the members in this Assembly when they speak about the great citizenry of Pennsylvania, those that rise and find a place in our community, that they would please me, and I think they would please the people generally and make them happy if they will forget the words "common people" and use the words "plain people."

This resolution is for the protection of the plain people of Pennsylvania, those that are borrowing small sums of money. Those that borrow large sums of money know what the financial situation is; they know that they cannot be taken advantage of, and this resolution is nothing more than an inquiry to see that the plain people of Pennsylvania shall not be gouged by any outrageous usurious combination.

I see no reason why any person should complain. If it necessitates the spending of a few dollars or a larger sum, if the state of Pennsylvania spends this money on this great service to the plain people of Pennsylvania it will be money well spent and it will be money that will inure financially to the benefit of the smaller property owners, the smaller loan borrowers, the men who have little or no financial backing in a case of emergency and may need help and assistance.

This resolution is one hundred percent for the protection of the plain people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I am at a loss to know just what all the shooting is about. I am for this resolution.

As for the gentleman from Philadelphia whose heart has just bled for the common people, plain people, I will refer him to that illustrious institution known as the Commons of our mother country. I understand on the other side it is something of an honor to belong to the House of Commons, and that when their great democracy assembles for action it is the Commons who assemble for action.

The gentleman's speech has been one traditional in the Senate these many years, and for reasons of his own transferred to the floor of this House. That has nothing to do with the resolution, which is deficient in only two respects. It doesn't have any terminal facilities; it doesn't start at any particular time, and as far as I can see it never ends. I think an investigation should have a time when it starts and a time when it ends and someone to whom the investigators report.

Now, perhaps I have read the resolution carelessly; perhaps it does have a time when it starts and perhaps it does have a time when it ends. I haven't seen it, and I think that is a fatal defect. Another defect is the fact that they do not reveal whom they are gunning for. They have proper authority to prosecute and bring prosecutions against those who have offended against the laws of this Commonwealth. If it is a small loan company they can prosecute them.

The people they are gunning for, of course, are the chain credit stores. This is a department store bill, and because it is true that many chain credit stores are guilty of atrocious practices I am for the little good that will come out of this resolution. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy, is perfectly correct when he says you are proposing to investigate and name a lot of institutions over which you have jurisdiction, and the one fellow that you are gunning for you do not make plain. Anyhow, I would like to have some assurance so that I can be one hundred per cent for this resolution, that it is going to start sometime and then going to end sometime and it is going to report to somebody.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker, I am somewhat pleased that I have gotten into a controversy here today with the other quiz kids of this House, and I think between us we may be able to get another couple of kids together and have a nice quiz kids club.

He talked much about the Commons of England. He is a newspaper man and he knows everything. He can go away back in history, not only of America but England and every other country. I am just a poor ordinary every-day citizen, but let me tell the gentleman from Cambria that the word "Commons" in England is an altogether different word than the "common" that we know in America. The Commons in England refers to the farmers and the land owners and the developers of the soil. They are an outstanding institution in England, and have been so respected for centuries, but the "common" that we know in America is a different kind of "common" than the Commons in England. I will ask the gentleman from Cambria to toss this one around.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I am one of the cosponsors of this resolution which I assure you as far as I am concerned was put in with the sole purpose of bringing about the correction of any abuses that might exist.

I would like to assure the Minority Floor Leader, Mr. Andrews, that it is certainly my intention that those installment house about which he speaks shall be investigated, and I would ask him to refer to his history and send down to the bill room for a copy of House Bill 110, which was introduced by me on January 16, which attempts to correct some of the abuses about which he has spoken.

As for the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy, I am almost in the position of believing that the gentleman protesteth too much. I hope, sincerely hope, Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, that this resolution will be adopted and that the Joint State Government Commission along with the Attorney General and the Department of Banking and the Insurance Commissioner will make proper investigation and report back to the next Legislature remedial legislation which will be put into effect and by which the ordinary citizens, whether you call them common or plain people, will be protected, and will not find themselves victims of unscrupulous merchants and unscrupulous finance companies under what ever name they may be called.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, in defense of newspaper men and in defense of the Minority Floor Leader I would like to call attention of Senator Salus to the fact the word "common" is not derogatory. I will just cite one instance, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. LEVY. Now, Mr. Speaker, since the word common has been defined we can settle back to House Resolution 38.

I only want to point out to the Majority Leader and to the gentleman from Allegheny who protests too frequently that if the Governor's plan—and I understand that the Governor has protests from various people in the Commonwealth against certain malpractices in automobile financing and in department store financing on merchandise—that if that is the problem involved in Resolution 38, then why didn't this resolution state so in fact?

Instead, the resolution talks about finance companies directly under the supervision of the Department of Banking. It talks about consumer credit corporations directly under the supervision of the Department of Banking, and it leaves a problem at hand, this pile of complaints on the Governor's desk, unmentioned in the resolution. I say to the Majority Leader that if it is the purpose of this resolution to investigate malpractices in automobile financing or in department store merchandise financing then the resolution should so state, but for the life of me I can't understand why the companies under the direct supervision of the Department of Banking, the Governor's own bureau, his own appointments, need to come to the legislature for investigation when they have all the supervision embodied in the laws of the Commonwealth.

For the benefit of the gentleman from Lehigh I want to read to him the law that governs the jurisdiction of the Department of Banking over such companies embodied in this resolution:

> It is the duty of the Department to take care that the laws of the Commonwealth in relation to persons and institutions under its supervision are faithfully executed. The supervision extends and applies to the following, all corporations and persons which are authorized to receive or which do receive in this Commonwealth money on deposit or for safe keeping.

I might say here to the Majority Leader when your investigating committee, composed of the Department of Banking, decides to investigate, I want them to look into the problem of banks of Pennsylvania that have gone into the small loans business, that pay no small loans fee and that do a small loans business. I think that that is one of the primary obligations the Department of Banking has to the people of the Commonwealth, and in the words of the old Senator from Philadelphia, the poor righteous people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Speaker, it goes on further and gives all the obligations the Department of Banking owes to the people of the Commonwealth, and takes in National Banking Associations, finance companies, consumers credit corporations, and why the necessity for inclusion of these in House Bill 38 other than the fact that the Department of Banking finds itself unable to control the banking facilities of the banks of Pennsylvania I don't know.

I have no objection to investigation. I stand in defense of no finance company or consumer credit corporation in Pennsylvania. I say to the investigating committee that when it is formed I wish them God speed in ferreting out any malpractice within the Commonwealth, but I do want them to remember that the first violation in Pennsylvania is a violation of trust companies and banks when they have gone into the small loans business without paying a small loans fee to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. So I say to you, Mr. Speaker, this afternoon that if we are to investigate let us investigate in the manner that the Governor desired it to be, an investigation of the companies he believes to be committing malpractices in Pennsylvania, and after that let this investigating committee investigate some of the fallacies in the functions of their own Department of Banking.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

SENATE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives, as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 13, 1945.

During the month of January in the year 1895, there was organized in Harrisburg an association which, during the two score and ten years that have passed since its founding, has increased in size, prestige and importance.

This organization and its members have been present and have played a vital part in every regular and special legislative session since its inception, and now that they are about to celebrate their Fiftieth Anniversary, it is fitting that proper consideration should be given by the General Assembly to mark its birth, growth and accomplishments.

It is the oldest organization of its kind in the Nation and its contribution to the General Assembly and to the people of the Commonwealth cannot be over-emphasized.

The Pennsylvania Legislative Correspondents' Association will celebrate its Golden Anniversary at a banquet in the Penn-Harris Hotel on Tuesday, April 3, 1945 at 7:30 o'clock p. m.

In prior anniversary programs emphasis has been on providing entertainment of a lighter vein, however, on this occasion because of the war and the seriousness of the times an outstanding program has been arranged which will be of interest to every Member of the General Assembly and Officials of the State Government.

His Excellency, The Governor of the Commonwealth, Edward Martin will present the guest of honor, The Honorable Robert P. Patterson, Under Secretary of War, who will give an Off-the Record address on the war situation.

John M. McCullough of the Philadelphia Inquirer staff, will tell of his experiences as a War Correspondent in the Pacific Theatre.

Cy Hungerford of the Pittsburgh Post Gazette staff, a cartoonist of National reputation will present an illustrated talk.

Last but not least, John P. Dohony the sole surviving charter member of the Association and a former correspondent for the Pittsburgh Press will be a distinguished guest on this occasion.

Tickets for the banquet can be obtained from any member of the Correspondents' Association.

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania extends to the Pennsylvania Legislative Correspondents' Association its heartiest congratulations upon having reached so ripe an age and commends it for its accomplishments in the newspaper world and wishes it a most successful celebration and a continuation of growth and service; be it further

Resolved, That the Members of the House and Senate attend this Golden Anniversary Banquet and join with our Correspondents in properly marking the occasion and respectfully calls the attention of His Excellency, The Governor and the Members of His Cabinet, to the impending celebration and to the opportunity it affords to pay honor to those who help to keep Pennsylvania on the front pages of the newspapers of the State and the Nation.

MEMBER CONGRATULATED

The SPEAKER. The Chair is informed that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Herman, observed his birthday yesterday but he has retained the news because it is a military secret. The Chair thinks the attention of the House should be called to it.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia Mr. Herman. Will the gentleman please take a bow on his birthday?

Mr. HERMAN. I am taking a bow, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair congratulates the gentleman on his 89th(?) birthday.

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, we bow before Thee in humility, asking divine guidance in these testing times. Under that guidance we shall not fail in obedience to Thy law, nor in love to our fellow-men.

We pray for the hastening of the new day, which we believe is coming, when all freedom-loving people will be free from oppression and injustice, free to worship God in accord with their conscience, free to labor and enjoy the fruits of their labor, free from the fear of evilminded men seeking their own unrighteous ends. For the evidence we have that such a day is approaching we give Thee sincere and heart-felt thanks.

May we express our thanks not in words only but also in works, contributing our time, our talents and our energy, thus working with Thee to hasten the coming of that day. The sincerity of our prayer will be evidenced by our willingness to cooperate with Thee. So consecrate us to the finishing of the great task that we shall have the approval of God and of our own consciences.

As always, we pray for our President, our Governor and Lieutenant-Governor, and for all who serve with them.

In the name of Christ our Lord. Amen.

JOINT COMMITTEE CREATED TO INVESTIGATE, SURVEY AND CONSIDER ALL OF THE PENAL LAWS OF THE COMMONWEALTH

In the House of Representatives, January 31, 1945.

Whereas, The Penal Code approved June 24, 1939 contains numerous inconsistencies and considerable language which is open to construction and should be carefully studied and revised in order to make it effective for its intended purposes; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That a committee of three members of the House of Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker of the House, three Senators to be appointed by the President Pro Tem of the Senate, is hereby created, whose duty it shall be to survey, investigate, and consider all of the penal laws of the Commonwealth and to completely revise and restate such penal laws into codified form, and to report its findings and conclusions to the next regular session of the General Assembly, with a bill embodying a codification of the penal laws of the Commonwealth to be introduced at the next regular session of the General Assembly.

INVESTIGATION OF FINANCE COMPANIES

In the House of Representatives, March 13, 1945.

Whereas, There are many ethically conducted and honestly operated companies dealing in consumer credit and engaged in the business of financing on conditional sale or lease, motor vehicles and other articles of personal property, it appears there are also many other finance and consumer credit companies which engage in unscrupulous and unconscionable practices unjustifiably detrimental to purchasers and inimical to public good; and

Whereas, the losses suffered from these nefarious practices fall upon the shoulders of those least able to bear them—the persons in lower income brackets who for want of ready cash are obliged to purchase even necessities on deferred payment bases—to enrich those guilty of chicanery; and

Whereas, shortly there will return to this Commonwealth our native sons and daughters who have so well served their country here and overseas and who will want to take up anew their civil pursuits and reestablish their homes with those necessities which they must have and those luxuries to which they are entitled; and

Whereas, those veterans most of whom gave up lucrative positions of employment in answer to the call of war, may be by the very reason of their patriotism unable financially to attain their just aims without resorting to installment purchases, and accordingly may become the victims of the designing manipulations of dishonest finance companies and others dealing in consumer credit: Therefore, To that end, Be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), The Joint State Government Commission of the General Assembly, with the cooperation of the Secretary of Banking the Insurance Commissioner and the Attorney General, is hereby directed to investigate and explore all matters connected with the operation and management of the conditions prevailing in finance companies and others in this Commonwealth dealing in consumer credit or otherwise engaged in the business of financing motor vehicles and other articles of personal property which are sold or leased on what is commonly known as the installment plan, for the purpose of ascertaining and reporting as soon as reasonably possible to the General Assembly such nefarious unscrupulous and improper practices as are deemed to be inimical to the public good and in the main to ascertain and report on any prevailing practices of such companies or individuals as the case may be, which may insure to the disadvantage or detriment of the public generally and returning veterans specifically, and to report thereon with recommendations for such legislation as it may deem advisable under the circumstances.

For these purposes the Joint State Government Commission of the General Assembly shall have the power to compel the appearances of witnesses and the production of books, papers, and records, and to issue proper subpoenas for the attendance of witnesses and the production of books, papers, records, and any and all other writings deemed necessary for the fulfillment of the duties prescribed by this resolution.

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE BILL No. 38

He also returned to the Senate, Senate Bill No. 38, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Property and Supplies for completing the construction of accommodations and furnishing facilities for the conduct of a nautical school for use by the Navigation Commission for the Delaware River and its navigable tributaries.

With the information that the House has passed the same without amendments.

ERRATUM

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, yesterday in speaking about the votes cast for State Senators I inadvertently made a mistake about Butler county, which I would like to have corrected on the record, and I have so notified Senator Carr.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Chairman of the Committee on Agriculture.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the gentleman from Chester permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. SCARLETT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HOLLAND. In the Committee on Agriculture, of which the gentleman from Chester is Chairman, there is being held a very important bill concerning which we have been receiving many letters asking for its passage. The bill was introduced by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Cox, and myself, on February 21, and it proposes to repeal the tax on oleomargarine. I desire to inquire of the Chairman of the Committee on Agriculture whether he can give us any assurance that action will be taken on this bill, because many people are without butter and the only thing they can rely upon is oleomargarine and the stores can not pay the excessive license and be able to sell it.

Does the Committee on Agriculture intend to take any action on this bill in the near future, so that I can tell the people who have been writing to me?

Mr. SCARLETT. Mr. President, the Committee on Agriculture intends to hold a meeting next week, at which time all bills in that Committee will be considered.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MALLERY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, before offering to the Senate a resolution I desire to make a very brief statement. Many bills have been introduced in the Legislative, both in the Senate and in the House, which would raise salaries of various officials, state, county and city. I do not know what consideration, if any, was given those bills but it does seem to me that even before considering such bills we should make certain that those who are on public assistance are receiving what is considered a minimum standard. We do know that the cost of living has been increasing and therefore, Mr. President, I read in place and present to the Chair the following concurrent resolution.

RESOLUTIONS

INFORMATION REQUESTED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY AS TO THE MINIMUM LIVING REQUIREMENTS OF DEPENDENT PERSONS

Mr. MALLERY offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions:

In the Senate, March 21, 1945.

Whereas, Persons receiving public assistance today are predominately the aged, the handicapped, or young children, whose need for assistance typically extends over a period of several years; and

Whereas, The health of dependent children must be safeguarded today in order that they be stronger citizens tomorrow; and

Whereas, The increased cost of living has been felt most severely by those who must depend on small incomes; and

Whereas, The laws of this Commonwealth state that assistance shall be provided to the needy and distressed to enable them to maintain a decent and healthful standard of living; and

Whereas, Studies published by the Department of Public Assistance indicate that cash allowances are not made to cover the cost of all minimum living requirements recognized as essential to a decent and healthful standard of living; and

Whereas, It is not defensible for a public assistance agency to provide less than the minimum cost of living; and

Whereas, The State Board of Public Assistance has the power to approve standards as to eligibility for assistance and as to its nature and extent; therefore, be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Department of Public Assistance and the State Board of Public Assistance give special and immediate consideration to the adoption of standards of assistance sufficient to provide for the minimum living requirements of dependent persons; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of Public Assistance inform the General Assembly of whatever additional appropriation, if any, would be required to provide for the minimum living requirements of dependent persons.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Yesterday, Mr. President, there was held a meeting of the Committee on Judiciary General, at which Mr. Vorse was to appear; he did appear and left

There have been some releases to the newspapers stating that the committee did not have the power of subpoena and if it had the power of subpoena they could bring in Mr. Vorse.

Mr. President, I am offering this resolution to correct this error in the original resolution which was passed by the Senate, and I ask for its immediate consideration.

URGING THE SENATE'S POWER OF SUBPOENA BE CONFERRED UPON THE JUDICIARY GENERAL COMMITTEE OF THE SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, March 21, 1945.

Whereas, Senate Resolution, Serial No. 26, authorizing and requiring the Judiciary General Committee of the Senate to investigate the State News Service, the State Legislative Service and the State Business Service and its publishers was adopted by the Senate on January 30, 1945, and

Whereas, The Judiciary General Committee of the Senate has been unable to properly conduct such investigation because of the fact that it cannot compel the attendance of witnesses, and the production of books and records before it; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate's power of subpoena is hereby conferred upon the Judiciary General Committee of the Senate for the purpose of conducting the investigation, authorized and required by said resolution; and be it further

Resolved, That the said committee shall have power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before them and to answer such questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Each member of said committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before said committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases.

REQUEST THAT RULE 39 BE SUSPENDED

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, there has been such a flood of resolutions introduced during this session of the General Assembly that the Republican Caucus has taken action and has agreed that all resolutions, excepting certain privileged resolutions, should be referred to committee in order that the members may study them.

Therefore, Mr. President, I object to immediate consideration of this resolution.

Mr. HOLLAND. I desire to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. HEYBURN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HOLLAND. The gentleman from Delaware will agree this is not a new resolution but merely gives the powers asked for by the Chairman of the Committee.

Mr. HEYBURN. It is in the form of a resolution.

Mr. HOLLAND. It is not a new resolution. We have already taken action on the original resolution, and according to the reports in the newspapers, the releases issued by the Chairman of the Committee on Judiciary General, the reason was because he did not have the power, it was omitted in the original resolution, and this is merely to give the chairman power to enforce the attendance of this man.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, this was introduced under the order of original resolutions, as an original resolution, I understood.

Regardless, Mr. President, the members have not had opportunity to study the resolution and my objection stands.

Mr. WALKER. May I interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. HOLLAND. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WALKER. As I understand the resolution introduced by my colleague from Allegheny, Senator Holland, which is now the subject of discussion, after what I must admit was a somewhat hasty perusal, it is not a joint resolution requiring the concurrence of the House, and while I may be wrong in my recollection of procedure, as I understand it, the Senate does not have the power of subpoena unless the House joins in the resolution. This resolution, in a resolve clause, gives the Senate Committee power to issue subpoenas and I understand that has to be by joint resolution.

Mr. HOLLAND. May I say to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, I am very sorry to have to inform the learned lawyer from Allegheny County that he is wrong. The Legislative Reference Bureau advises me that this resolution is in order, and has been done time and time again in the Senate, the Senate does have power to issue subpoenas, and I also inquired from the Attorney General's office and they also informed me that we do not have to have the resolution concurred in by the House in order to issue subpoenas and that we have the power as Senators and therefore on that basis this resolution was so written.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, if we have the power to subpoena, as I explained to the gentleman from Allegheny yesterday, any powers that are conferred by the Senate upon us, will be very cheerfully welcomed by the committee. The only point of my interrogatory was to have the gentleman make certain that he does not bring us in a broken reed again, because the thing which so handicapped us yesterday in our discussion of the subject matter of Senate Resolution 26 was the somewhat handicapped powers of the committee to proceed to investigate, and as pointed out by the very able member of the committee, the gentleman from Washington, Senator Gourley, even if we were to bring the individual who is the subject matter of Senate Resolution 26 before the committee, we still are not empowered to enforce answers or force him to divulge sources of information because we are not a court of record, and I think that was very clearly explained to the gentleman.

As I understood his decision at that time, it was that he was going to have a joint resolution adopted by the House and the Senate to have a special committee investigate this. I am in no way attempting to avoid responsibility that is being thrust upon the Committee on Judiciary General, but I want the gentleman from Allegheny to understand that the thing that embarrasses us is to not have authority to do the thing that he is trying to get done.

We are endeavoring to file a report on Senate Resolution 26, as a result of our hearing yesterday, and I want to say to the gentleman that that report is entirely dictated and half typed, so that it can be submitted to the committee at its meeting next Tuesday for adoption. If we are going to have an addenda to this thing, the committee would like to know it. There is no use for us to make a report on Senate Resolution 26 if we are not going to have opportunity to complete the matter at hand. If we have another hearing and we get the individual who is the subject matter of the discussion back in front of the committee and he, like newspaper men, adopts the theory that he will not divulge the source of his information, the Supreme Court has said that we can not extract that information from him, we can not put on him a branding iron or something like that to make him testify.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, the gentleman from Allegheny has talked a long while and said nothing.

MOTION THAT RESOLUTION BE REFERRED TO COMMITTEE ON JUDICIARY GENERAL

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I move that this resolution be referred to the Committee on Judiciary General.

I am trying to be nice but if you are going to be nasty you are going to get it back the same way.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. There already has been objection to immediate consideration of the resolution by the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Heyburn, and therefore the resolution is referred to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I wanted to speak before the Chair referred this resolution to the Committee on Judiciary General. I think every member of this Senate is conversant with this entire matter from its beginning down to its present status.

The fact is that certain accusations were made here against a certain citizen of this Commonwealth, the resolution was turned over to the proper committee of the Senate, the Committee on Judiciary General, which held this hearing.

Unfortunately, the person to be investigated waited a very short time and then walked out. From all the things I have been able to hear as a member of that committee, the gentleman to be investigated is perfectly willing to be investigated and welcomed the hearing.

Every member of the committee understands the limitation of powers of the committee from a legal standpoint. However, it may be that the gentleman to be investigated is perfectly willing to waive the protection which the law gives him and will disclose to the committee the information that we are trying to get.

This matter has been stressed strenuously on many occasions by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, and I think now it has become a matter for all the members of the Senate to be concerned with it. There is no question in my mind that another date should be set for a hearing and then, if the gentleman comes, the Chairman of the Committee on Judiciary General can cross-examine him, as only he can do, and then perhaps we will get the information we want, without the question of this legal technicality.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I would like to ask the gentleman from Allegheny how he can make a report on a hearing when the man who was to be heard was not there.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Does the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker.

Mr. HOLLAND. I do, Mr. President.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. WALKER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HOLLAND. I ask the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, how can he make a report on a hearing that was not heard.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, in answer to the question propounded by the gentleman from Allegheny, may I state that the committee on Judiciary General held a public hearing yesterday on Senate Resolution 26. At the hearing there appeared the sponsor of Resolution 26 who did ninety per cent of the talking. A report will be filed on the hearing that was held, and if the gentleman desires to file a minority report, that is his privilege.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, not being a member of the Committee on Judiciary General, I can not make a minority report. I simply am a witness in this case.

I want to call to the attention of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, the fact that he was late in getting to the committee meeting and that this gentleman, Mr. Vorse came in and asked for Mr. Walker and at six minutes after nine left the committee room. Mr. Walker then later spoke to some of the newspapermen and said that he did not have any power. I am merely giving the gentleman from Allegheny county the power he asked for when he spoke to the papers. Therefore, if he wants to go on with this resolution, he will have the power of subpoena, if this resolution is adopted by the Senate. It has been written properly because I think the Legislative Reference Bureau has written a whole lot of resolutions in their time. Mr. Hannestad, who wrote this resolution for me, has had considerable more experience than any member of this House and Senate, in preparing both bills and resolutions.

It is properly drawn and I do not think that it is proper for the Majority Leader of this House to object, because the resolution was originally passed unanimously in this Senate, and all we are doing is giving them the power the Chairman of the Committee on Judiciary General, through the newspapers, has asked for.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I also am objecting to immediate consideration of this resolution and I want to say to the Chair it is not because we are trying to avoid another hearing—we are perfectly willing to have a continued hearing, with or without subpoena, in order to continue the investigation on Senate Resolution 26, if the gentleman from Allegheny so desires.

When I took the floor on the resolution we are now considering I merely did so to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny. It has been my privilege to have been on Capitol Hill since 1931. I was not here when some members of this Senate began their careers and I have not had as much legislative experience as the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Holland, but Mr. President, I think it is about time the members of the Senate adopted personally and individually a collective rule with regard to treatment of the members of the Senate on the Senate Floor. I do not think it is conducive to good government and good relationship, when you simply interrogate a gentleman to make certain his resolution is all right, that the gentleman seizes that opportunity to deliberately insult a member of this Senate and say I spoke a lot of words and said nothing. All I did was to ask the gentleman from Allegheny a question.

Now, Mr. President, I grow just a little weary of having this gentleman from Allegheny getting up and insulting members of this Senate every time he grabs hold of a microphone. I am perfectly willing to consider this resolution today, and I am glad to have it in my committee. I have conferred on him every courtesy possible, we held that hearing yesterday, I have repeatedly offered the gentleman my assistance in carrying this matter forward, and I think that anybody who attended that hearing would be perfectly willing to testify that he got all the cooperation possible, from the advice and assistance proffered to him in the matter, not only from the Chairman of the Committee but from the members of the Committee, and if this resolution is necessary, of course we are in favor of it, and if it is not necessary it will not do any harm, and if the individual who is the subject matter of the investigation under Senate Resolution 26 will appear and testify without a subpoena of course that will be of assistance to the committee, but the mere fact that a gentleman is interrogated on the floor should not be seized by his capricious action to deliberately insult the Chairman of the Committee and the Committee.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The resolution has previously been referred to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I have no interest in this bill, but the title and the body of this bill are not the same, and if it is passed it will have to be recalled from the Governor for amendment, so I suggest to anybody that is interested in this bill that it be held over so that proper amendment may be made in the body to conform with the title.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Does the gentleman from Somerset request that the bill go over on its order.

Mr. EALY. If the Senator from Northampton is interested, the title of the bill says this shall apply to the Delaware River above Easton, whereas the body of the bill makes it apply to the whole Delaware River.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I am not aware of the ambiguity to which the Senator from Somerset calls our attention. I might say that this is a very slippery subject and I am very much interested, in answer to the Senator's question, because I happen to live just north of the city of Easton.

Mr. EALY. If the Senator from Northampton will look at the title of the bill he will notice it originally was written so as to apply above Easton, and then the words "above Easton" were amended out, and then the brackets amending those words out were amended out, so that the title now reads above Easton.

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, as we note, this is a House Bill—I am not the sponsor—but I am interested because it does affect my county, as well as two counties in the district of Senator Crowe. I would suggest that the bill go over in its order so that we may have opportunity to study the question of amendment.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, before introducing a bill I would like to advise my colleagues that yesterday there was held a public hearing with reference to Senate Bill No. 307. In that connection practically all of my colleagues have received telegrams and letters with reference to this bill and no doubt over the week-end they will be contacted, so I thought it was no more than fair to tell them what happened at the public hearing.

We agreed upon the contents of a new bill, which I am about to offer. When I say "we" I mean the medical profession came into the picture, the Hospital Association of Pennsylvania, and the Committee on Public Health, and this morning with the kind help of the gentleman from Butler, Senator Carr, the gentleman from Indiana, Senator Wilson, and members of the Hospital Association, we have prepared proper amendments, but it has been suggested that we offer a new bill and drop Senate Bill No. 307, so Senate Bill No. 307 will be dropped for this Session and this bill, Mr. President, will be introduced and will deal directly with pre-operative studies and tests which must be provided before a patient is operated on at any hospital, so when my colleagues go back home they will now be in a position to inform their constituency that Senate Bill No. 307 will be entirely removed from the Calendar and a new bill introduced today to replace it, and therefore I now read in place and present to the Chair the following bill.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. ANDREWS. I rise, Mr. Speaker, on a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ANDREWS. At this stage of the proceedings, last Wednesday, Mr. Speaker, certain of my very able, very industrious colleagues on this side of the House took occasion to criticize, if not to castigate the Majority and Minority Leaders on the score that they had made certain arrangements involving parliamentary procedure. The question was asked if the Majority and the Minority Floor Leaders make a lot of agreements what are the rest of the Members here for?

First of all, Mr. Speaker, the majority and the minority leaders never discuss party politics. We do discuss parliamentary procedure, parliamentary routine, and if we didn't discuss parliamentary procedure and parliamentary routine the Members of this House would spend many a weary hour here in this Hall that they wouldn't otherwise spend here. When some little point of parliamentary procedure arises it is not expeditious for the Majority Leader or the Minority Leader to poll every Member in the House.

Now, the question arose concerning the presence or the lack of it of first reading bills on the desks of the Members. A great many Members I fear are under the impression that there is something in the rules that requires a bill before the House to be on the desks of the Members. As far as the rules are concerned and as far as the Constitution is concerned, if a Member arises and says "Mr. Speaker, that bill is not on my desk," the Speaker under the rules and under the Constitution would be at liberty to tell that Member, "All right, that's too bad; just go down to the Sergeant-at-Arms' office and get yourself a copy."

It is prescribed that the bills must be on the calendar and it is prescribed that the bills be printed for the use of the Members, but there is nothing in the Constitution or the rules that prescribes whether you print one bill and the man go down to the Speaker's office and read it, or whether you print five hundred copies and put them on the desks of the Members.

So much for the rules. Now, as a matter of practical procedure it would be quite all right with me when any one objects to consideration of first reading bills because they are not on the desks of the Members, to excuse all the Members of the House and let the ones who object stay until the Printer gets the bills out. There isn't any sound parliamentary reason why a bill that is printed in pink and has not been amended should not receive the consideration of the House. Moreover, the question if it is raised, is a question for the House to decide. If some Member should rise and say "Mr. Speaker, that bill is not on my desk," by that simple objection he cannot tie up the machinery of the House; it would be up to the House to decide whether it wanted to proceed, the objections of the gentleman to the contrary notwithstanding.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for his explanation. Being up here in the House in 1941, 1942, 1943, 1944 and now 1945 I was led to believe that the bills had to be on your desk, by the Democratic organization, and if the bills didn't happen to be on the desk, it was the privilege, as I understand, for the two floor leaders to make an agreement to go on with the bills when they are not printed. I am interested mostly in the fellows that stay here on Wednesdays. Wednesday before last both Floor Leaders made a beautiful speech of what they were going to do the next Wednesday toward keeping the Members in the House. I haven't seen them do it yet.

If I held the House up last Wednesday, I apologize for it, but I want it understood from now on, as the gentleman says, the bills do not have to be printed and on your desk.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I had not intended to take part in this debate because it was apparently on the minority side of the House, but the criticism was evidently directed to both the minority leader and myself.

I want to compliment the gentleman from Allegheny in giving credit to those Members who remain here on Wednesday. I know that both the gentleman from Cambria and myself appreciate the loyalty of the men on both sides of the House who remain here on Wednesday, so that we can properly conduct the business of the House and of the Commonwealth. I don't know what the gentleman might suggest as to how we might keep everyone here. We cannot seem to tie them with a rope and keep them here for Wednesday sessions. After all, we are dealing with grown men and women. I feel personally as the Majority Leader, and without having consulted with him the Minority Leader I feel confident feels as I do that certainly the people elected to this House, the men and women who have been sworn by oath to obey and defend the Constitution and represent their districts to the best of their ability, certainly want to stay here if at all possible and do a job.

The gentleman referred last week to an agreement, and he again repeats it today that on the first bill on the third reading calendar there will be a roll call, a slow roll call asked, and only those answering to their names will be recorded. That is the roll call which shall govern all the bills on the calendar. I mean by unanimous agreement for the Wednesday session, that only those who are actually in attendance in the Wednesday session are being recorded on the bills which we pass on Wednesday.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I listened with a great deal of interest to some of the remarks made in regard to having some of the Members attend here on Wednesday, or some that didn't attend. I was just wondering why we have to coax anybody to remain here on Wednesday. I wonder why we couldn't put a time clock here in the back of the House and punch a card, and when they are not present they don't get paid. If they worked in private industry they would have to work all the time or they wouldn't get paid. Why don't we do that here? Or why, if they don't want to stay on the job, why don't they resign and let somebody take their place who will attend?

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. DALRYMPLE asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Elections to meet during the session of the House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Burns to preside during the first reading calendar.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 457, as follows:

An Act to permit the sale and purchase of imitation butter or oleomargarine for consumption by inmates and employes of charitable and penal institutions within the Commonwealth for a period of two years and suspending certain provisions of the law prohibiting such sales and purchase for the same period of time under certain circumstances requiring the keeping of records and the making of reports and providing penalties

Whereas The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has heretofore made a legislative finding of fact that "milk is the most necessary human food vital for the promotion of the public's health and for development of strength and vigor in the race" and

Whereas Butter produced from pure unadulterated milk has a recognized food value unequalled by any imitation product made from other substances and

Whereas By the Act of May 23 1893 (P. L. 112) the use or purchase by or the sale to or the furnishing to the inmates of any charitable or penal institution in Pennsylvania of any article designed to take the place of butter produced from pure unadulterated milk or cream from the same or of any imitation or adulterated butter was prohibited and made unlawful and

Whereas Due to the present war effort and to the exportation of vast quantities of butter to our Allies there is a present shortage of butter and such charitable and penal institutions are presently unable to purchase adequate supplies of butter for the use of the inmates of such institutions and

Whereas It may become necessary for a limited period of time for such institutions to supplement the available supplies of butter through the purchase and use of imitation butter or oleomargarine

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The provisions of the act approved the twenty-third day of May one thousand eight hundred ninety-three (P. L. 112) are hereby modified and suspended as follows

(1) Any charitable or penal institution shall not use or furnish to its inmates any imitation butter or oleomargarine when adequate quantities of butter are available or obtainable from the usual sources of supply or from normal markets

(2) In the event adequate quantities of butter are not available in or obtainable from the usual sources of supply or from normal markets each such institution shall purchase all of the butter which is available or obtainable

(3) In the event of the rationing of butter as a part of the war effort any such institution shall purchase the full amount of butter apportioned to its inmates and to its employes residing within the institution

(4) In the event that adequate quantities of butter are not available in or obtainable from the usual sources of supply or from normal markets or through rationing any such institution may purchase sufficient quantities of imitation butter or oleomargarine to supplement the quantities of butter so available require the treatment of sewage industrial waste or other artificial polluting matter as to place and maintain the waters of the aforesaid interstate Delaware River and of the tributaries thereof just above the confluence with the Delaware River in the clean and sanitary conditions required by the provisions of this agreement Furthermore each such state agrees so to enforce the provisions of these requirements and other supplementary applicable legislation if any as to bring about the attainment of the objectives of pollution control and correction in accordance with such reasonable and effective programs as may be determined from time to time by the states in the manner prescribed herein

Article II

It is recognized by the sighatory states that due to such variable factors as location size character and flow and of the many varied uses of the waters of the interstate Delaware River and its aforesaid West Branch such as water supply recreation navigation industrial developments maintenance of fish life shellfish culture agriculture and other purposes that no single standard of sewage and waste treatment and of quality of receiving waters is practical for all parts of the river Therefore in order to apply minimum requirements for the attainment of correction and control of pollution which will be appropriate to the varied factors including the existing and potential quality and uses of the waters the interstate Delaware River is hereby divided into four zones to wit

Zone I Zone 1 is that part of the Delaware River and its West Branch extending from the New York-Pennsylvania boundary line to the head of tidewater at Trenton New Jersey and Morrisville Pennsylvania

The drainage basin contributory to this zone excepting part of the Lehigh River Basin is relatively sparsely inhabited and contains few sewered communities and relatively few industrial establishments producing waste water The streams draining this area being in general relatively clean and of high elevation are well adapted as sources of public water supplies after treatment or purification

The principal uses of the waters of the Delaware River in Zone 1 are expected to be for water supply after such treatment or purification as may be necessary and for recreation bathing maintenance of fish and acquatic life agriculture and for other related purposes

Zone II Zone 2 is that part of the Delaware River extending from the head of tidewater at Trenton New Jersey and Morrisville Pennsylvania to a line drawn perpendicular to the channel of the Delaware River from the mouth of Pennypack Creek in Philadelphia Pennsylvania to the corresponding point on the New Jersey shore

The drainage basin contributary to this zone is somewhat more densely populated than that of Zone 1 and it contains more sewered communities and industrial establishments

The principal uses of the waters of the Delaware River in Zone 2 are expected to be for water supply after treatment or purification and for recreation navigation maintenance of fish and aquatic life agricultural industrial and other purposes

Zone III Zone 3 is that part of the Delaware River extending from the aforesaid line connecting the mouth of Pennypack Creek in Philadelphia and the corresponding point in New Jersey to the Pennsylvania-Delaware boundary line

The drainage basin contributary to this zone contains populous metropolitan areas including Philadelphia Pennsylvania and Camden New Jersey

The principal uses of the waters of the Delaware River in Zone 3 are expected to be for navigation industrial water supply and other purposes

The water in this zone however should be of such sanitary quality that it will not be unfit for use as sources of water supply will not be harmful to fish life and will not adversely affect the quality of the waters of tidal tributaries

Zone IV Zone 4 is that part of the Delaware River extending from the Pennsylvania-Delaware boundary line to the Atlantic Ocean

The principal uses of the waters of the Delaware River in Zone 4 are expected to be for navigation industrial water supplies commercial fishing shellfish culture recreation and other purposes

In order to attain conditions of cleanliness and sanitation of the waters of the Delaware River which will be consistent wit the appropriate existing and future quality and uses of such waters the following minimum requirements shall apply to thme several zones herein provided It is the purpose and intent of such requirements to apply to artificial (not natural) causes of pollution

Article III

In order to put and maintain the waters of the interstate Delaware River and its West Branch as aforesaid in a clean and sanitary condition no sewage industrial wastes or other polluting matter shall be discharged into or be permitted to flow or fall into or be placed in any respective zone of the interstate Delaware River as herein established unless such sewage industrial waste or other artificial polluting matter shall first have been so treated as to produce an effluent which will meet the following minimum requirements

Zone 1 1 Such effluent shall be free of noticeable floating solids color oil grease or sleek and practically free of suspended solids

2 Such effluent shall be sufficiently free of turbidity that it will not cause noticeable turbidity in the water of the Delaware River

3 Such effluent shall show a reduction of organic substances of at least eighty-five (85) per cent as measured by the bio-chemical oxygen demand and furthermore such effluent in no case shall exceed a bio-chemical oxygen demand of fifty (50) parts per million and furthermore the discharge of such effluent after disperson in the water of the river shall not cause a reduction of the dissolved oxygen content of such water of more than five (5) per cent The aforesaid reduction in dissolved oxygen content shall be determined by the average results obtained from dissolved oxygen tests made upon samples collected on not less than six (6) consecutive days from points in the river above and below the point or points of effluent discharge

4 Such effluent shall be of such quality that the most probable number of organisms of the Coli Areogones group shall not exceed one (1) per milliliter in more than ten (10) per cent of the samples of sewage effluent tested by the confirmed test and provided further that no single sample shall contain more than one hundred (100) organisms of the Coli Aerogenes group in one (1) milliliter

5 Such effluent shall be sufficiently free of acids alkalis and other toxic or deleterious substances that it will not create a menace to the public health through the use of the waters of the Delaware River for public water supplies for recreation bathing agriculture and other purposes nor be inimical to fish animal or aquatic life

6 Such effluent shall be free of offensive odors and also be free of substances capable of producing offensive tastes or odors in public water supplies derived from the Delaware River at any place below the discharge of such effluent

Zone 2 1 Such effluent shall be free of noticeable floating solids color oil or grease and practically free of both suspended solids and sleek

2 Such effluent shall be sufficiently free of turbidity that it will not cause noticeable turbidity in the water of the Delaware River

3 Such effluent shall show a reduction of organic substance of at least eighty-five (85) per cent as measured by the bio-chemical oxygen demand and furthermore such effluent in no case shall exceed a bio-chemical oxygen demand of one hundred (100) parts per million and furthermore the discharge of such effluent after dispersion in the water of the river shall not cause a reduction of the dissolved oxygen content of such water of more than ten (10) per cent The aforesaid reduction in dissolved oxygen content shall be determined by the average results obtained by dissolved oxygen tests made upon samples collected on not less than six (6) consecutive days from points in the river above and below the point or points of effluent discharge

4 Such effluent shall be of such quality that the most probable number of organisms of the Coli Aerogenes group shall not exceed one (1) per milliliter in more than twenty-five (25) per cent of the samples of sewage effluent tested by the confirmed test and provided further that no single sample shall contain more than one hundred (100) organisms of the Coli Aerogenes group in one (1) milliliter

5 Such effluent shall be sufficiently free of acids alkalis and other toxic or deleterious sustances that it will not create a menace to the public health through the use of the water of the Delaware River for public water supplies for recreation industrial and other purposes nor be inimical to fish animal or aquatic life

6 Such effluent shall be free of offensive odors and also be free of substances capable of producing offensive tastes and odors in public water supplies derived from the Delaware River at any place above or below the discharge of such effluent

Zone 3 1 Such effluent shall be free of noticeable floating solids oil or grease and substantially free of both settleable solids and sleek

2 Such effluent shall be sufficiently free of turbidity that it will not cause substantial turbidity in the water of the Delaware River after dispersion in the water of the river

3 Such effluent shall show a reduction of at least fifty-five (55) per cent of the total suspended solids and a reduction of not less than thirty-five (35) per cent of the bio-chemical demand (It is the intent of this requirement to restore the dissolved oxygen content of the river water in this zone to at least fifty (50) per cent saturation To accomplish this it may be necessary in the case of certain wastes to obtain reductions greater than those required under this item)

4 Such effluent if it be discharged within two miles of a public water works intake or within prejudicial influence thereof shall at all times be effectively treated with a germicide

5 Such effluent shall be sufficiently free of acids alkalis and other toxic or deleterious substances that it will not create a menace to the public health through the use of the waters of the Delaware River for public water supplies or render such waters unfit for industrial and other purposes or cause the water of the Delaware River to be harmful to fish life

6 Such effluent shall be practically free of substances capable of producing offensive tastes or odors in public water supplies derived from the Delaware River

Zone 4 1 Such effluent shall be free of noticeable floating solids oil or grease and substantially free of both settleable solids and sleek

2 Such effluent shall be sufficiently free of turbidity that it will not cause substantial turbidity in the waters of the Delaware River after dispersion in the water of the river.

3 Such effluent shall show a reduction of at least fifty-five (55) per cent of the total suspended solids and shall be subject to such further treatment as may be needed to prevent a nuisance

4 Such effluent if it be discharged within prejudicial influence of a public water works intake or of recreational areas or of shell fish grounds shall at all times be effectively treated with a germicide except that in the case of recreational area influence such treatment need not be provided during the period from October 15th to May 15th of each year

5 Such effluent shall be sufficiently free of acids alkalis and other toxic or deleterious substances that it will not create a menace to the public health through the use of the waters of the Delaware River for public water supplies or render such waters unfit for commercial fishing shell fish culture recreational industrial or other purposes

6 Such effluent shall be practically free of substances capable of producing offensive tastes or odors in public water supplies derived from the Delaware River

It is further recognized by the signatory states that the quality of the waters of the intrastate tributaries of the Delaware River and its aforesaid West Branch are of interstate concern at their points of confluence with the Delaware River and its West Branch Therefore it is also agreed that sewage industrial waste or other artificial polluting matter discharged into or permitted to flow or to fall into or be placed in any intrastate tributary of the aforesaid Delaware River shall be treated to that degree if any necessary to maintain the waters of such intrastate tributary immediately above its confluence with the aforesaid Delaware River in a condition at least equal to the clean and sanitary condition of the waters of the Delaware River immediately above the confluence of such tributary

Analyses and tests regarding the minimum requirements herein prescribed shall be determined in accordance with the provisions contained in the American Public Health Association's latest edition on "Standard Methods for the Examination of Water and Sewage"

The aforesaid requirements as to treatment of sewage industrial wastes or other artificial polluting matter and as to the sanitary quality of receiving waters are minima It is the intent and purpose of these requirements to accomplish reasonable and adequate control and correction of pollution Due to the many variable factors involved however and to the impossibility of forecasting future developments with certainty it may be necessary in the future to impose additional requirements particularly in Zones 2 and 3

The minima herein prescribed therefore shall be considered the first steps toward attaining the objectives sought and if necessary may be required to be supplemented in the case that the general application of such minimum requirements does not adequately improve and maintain the sanitary quality of the waters of the Delaware River

Section 1 That part of the area of the Delaware River Basin lying within this state is hereby established and declared to be a component part of an interstate region for the intergovernmental cooperation by said states in the conservation protection and development of the water resources thereof by means of integrated plans and said Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin is hereby recognized as the duly established regional commission or agency of this state for intergovernmental cooperation in effectuating the purposes described in paragraph (2) of the above preamble with full and complete authority to exercise for the accomplishment of said purposes the governmental machinery powers and duties conferred by this state upon said Commission (or Committee) on Interstate Cooperation

Section 4 The Department of Health or such other agency designated by the law of the respective signatory states to deal with control or abatement of pollution is hereby authorized and directed to cooperate with said Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin in the further study of the sanitary condition of the waters of Delaware River and its tributaries in said Delaware River Basin and to approve adopt and enforce within this state such reasonable modifications changes or alterations in the zones or standards of quality of water in said river and tributaries as may from time to time be recommended by said Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin and approved by the departments of health of the other states constitutent to said Delaware River Basin

Section 5 The terms and provisions of said reciprocal agreement shall become effective upon receipt by the Secretary of State of this state of a certificate from the Executive Secretary of The Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin that an act in substantially the same form as this act has been passed by the Legislature and approved by the Governor of one of the other three states constitutent to said Delaware River Basin together with a certified copy of said act of said state and thereupon the Secretary of State shall advise the Department of Health of this state accordingly

Formula 1 Divide the total amount of said tax available for distribution by the population of the Commonwealth as shown by the last preceding decennial census of the United States to determine a quotient Multiply this quotient by the population of each participating municipality to determine the amount payable to the treasurer of such municipality under Formula 1

Formula 2 Add the amounts payable to the treasurers of the participating municipalities under Formula 1 and divide the total by the number of policemen in all the said municipalities to determine a quotient Multiply this quotient by the number of Pennsylvania State Police to determine the amount payable to the State Employes' Retirement Fund under Formula 2

Formula 3 Divide the balance of the tax available for distribution not allocated under Formulae 1 and 2 by the total number of policemen of the participating municipalities and the Pennsylvania State Police to determine a quotient Multiply this quotient by the number of policemen of each participating municipality to determine the amount payable to the treasurer of such municipality under Formula 3 Multiply this same quotient by the number of State Police to determine the amount payable to the State Employes' Retirement Fund under Formula 3

The following formulae illustrate the application of the foregoing methods of calculation wherein

"a" shall mean the total amount of tax for allocation

"b" shall mean the population of the Commonwealth

"c" shall mean the population of any municipality

"d" shall mean an amount payable to any municipal treasurer under Formula 1

"d1" shall mean total of amounts payable to all municipal treasurers under Formula 1

"e" shall mean number of policemen in all participating municipalities

"f" shall mean number of State police

"g" shall mean an amount payable to the State Retirement Fund under Formula 2

"h" shall mean number of policemen in any participating municipality

"i" shall mean an amount payable to any municipal treasurer under Formula 3

"i1" shall mean total of accounts payable to all municipal treasurers under Formula 3

"k" shall mean an amount payable to the State Retirement Fund under Formula 3

$$2.\ \frac{d1}{e} \times f = g$$

$$3.\ \frac{a - (d1 + g)}{e + f} \times h = i$$

$$\frac{a - (d1 + g)}{e + f} \times f = k$$

To prove $d1 + g + i1 + k = a$

All moneys paid to the treasurer of any municipality shall be forthwith paid or credited to the pension or retirement fund or the premium on the pension annuity contract as the case may be to provide pension retirement or disability benefits for the policemen of such municipality or the dependents of such policemen All moneys paid into the State Employes' Retirement Fund shall be credited in equal proportions to the accumulated deductions of the members of the State Police who are contributing members to such fund

The first allocation made under the provisions of this act shall include all moneys accumulated from the said one-half of the tax paid on premiums by foreign casualty insurance companies since the passage of the act to which this is an amendment

Warrants for the above purposes shall be drawn by the Auditor General payable to the treasurers of the several [cities townships towns and boroughs] participating municipalities and to the State Employes' Retirement Fund in accordance with this act [whenever there are sufficient funds in the State Treasury to pay the same]

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Messrs. KIRLEY and LEONARD offered a resolution which was twice read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 21, 1945.

With the coming of Spring, there has come a new year into the life of a member of this House.

Birthdays among the membership of this legislative body seem to be perennial habits and each must be observed. The Hon. John J. Baker of Pittsburgh was born just fifty-two years ago in the City of Pittsburgh, which seems far too advanced an age to represent his appearance in the picture we found in the Pennsylvania Manual.

The double, or triple, chin represents good living, or it might be the result of his connection of seventeen years with a meat packing house. Seventeen years of packing.

The autobiography of the Hon. John J. Baker as it appears in the Manual emphasizes the fact that he was a Marathon runner. He doesn't look it now unless the running he writes about was running for office, in which sport he has been consistently successful.

He is not only a member of this House, but he ran five times before this last election and in each race he nosed out the other runners.

He was in a race for Assessor and, of course, he won. He served as Secretary and Chairman of the Democratic Party of Pittsburgh's 17th Ward and, of course, he ran for those offices.

In addition to those victories, he has also been elected to the Knights of Columbus, the John Kellar Club, the Lotus Club, the Elks, Moose, Eagles and Manhattan clubs, and also has a home address where he sometimes can be found with his wife and five children.

If any member of this House should celebrate a birthday, he should; therefore be it

Resolved, By the Members of this House, that it favors a celebration of the birthday of this modern Pheidippides, this racer who could easily have outdistanced that first Marathon racer of ancient Greece and that they are ready at any time to joint him in a proper celebration; and be it further

Resolved, That they hereby extend their heartiest congratulations to the Hon. John J. Baker, wish him a long, prosperous and happy life, and a victory in every future race, and hereby request the Chief Clerk of the House to transmit to him a copy of this resolution.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the great Marathon runner, the Honorable John J. Baker.

Mr. BAKER. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the sponsors of the resolution and the Members of the House. Yesterday we celebrated St. Patrick's day; today we are celebrating Baker's day. I thank you.

The SPEAKER. The Chair congratulates the gentle- from Allegheny and wishes him many, many happy birthdays.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Mr. MADIGAN offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 21, 1945.

It is rumored that today is the birthday of the Honorable Clarence E. Moore.

Like many rumors, one has difficulty confirming the truth or falsehood of such rumors, especially since the rumor itself states that the date of his birth, as given in the 1943 Pennsylvania Manual is incorrect.

However, if one is going to have a birthday, no finer day could be selected than that of the first day of Spring, and no better year than this to celebrate it—and the first day of Spring after a winter the like of which few, if any, can recall.

So we can all rejoice upon the arrival of the first day of Spring and the birthday of that charter member of Citizens Hose Company No. 5—Clarence E. Moore; therefore be it Resolved, That the House go on record as stating that the 1943 Pennsylvania Manual must be wrong, and that his good wife must be right, and the House therefore on this occasion, March 21, 1945, expresses its good wishes to, and congratulates Clarence E. Moore on his birthday and extends to him its wish that he may enjoy many more anniversaries on the twenty-first day of March.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Clinton, Mr. Moore.

Mr. CLARENCE E. MOORE. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the sponsors. I thought I kept quiet. The book had it wrong. One thing I will say, spring is here, and that is my birthday. Thank you.

The SPEAKER. The Chair wishes to congratulate the gentleman from Clinton and wishes him many more happy birthdays.

ADDITIONAL SPONSOR

Mr. ERB asked and obtained unanimous consent to add an additional sponsor to a resolution.

PENNSYLVANIA STATE POLICE

Messrs. ERB, HELM and BOWER offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 21, 1945.

If there is anything wrong with the State Police force that curtails its efficiency or even slightly reflects upon its outstanding reputation, it should be made known to those who are responsible for maintaining the high standard of the force, that is expected by the people of the Commonwealth.

So much has been said relative to the housing and sustenance of the members of the force, that an investigation should be made in order to vindicate its administration as well as to remedy any wrongs that might exist. To attempt or to appear to attempt to cover up, would only add to any distrust that might prevail; therefore be it

Resolved, By the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that it requests the Governor of the Commonwealth, to appoint a reliable, trustworthy and capable person who is in no way connected with the Pennsylvania State Police, to conduct a private investigation of existing conditions, and that during such investigation, any persons who are members of, or connected with, the Pennsylvania State Police, shall be assured of the secrecy of the investigation, that they will not be disciplined for matters divulged, that their testimony shall be considered as being confidential, and that no action shall thereafter be taken against them based on or on account of such testimony; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House to His Excellency, the Governor, immediately after its passage.

MEMBER CONGRATULATED

The SPEAKER. The Chair also congratulates the gentleman from Berks on his birthday and wishes him many many more birthdays

Mr. McATEE. Thank, you, Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House.

The SPEAKER. Is that all the gentleman has to say?

Mr. McATEE. I thought I was through, Mr. Speaker. You know I am a man of few words.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTIONS

Messrs. O'NEILL and MUNLEY offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

In the House of Representatives, March 21, 1945.

Hugh J. Brady, born in Scranton, 57 years ago, and for many years prominent in his native city, died of a heart attack in Florida, on Wednesday, March 14th.

Mr. Brady was influential as a leader in the ranks of the Democratic Party, both in Lackawanna County and throughout the Commonwealth. He was an outstanding business man and the owner of Mid-Valley Distilling Corporation. He was a leader in every community activity for the betterment of both local and general conditions.

Mr. Brady is survived by his wife and his daughter, and by his son, James F. Brady, who holds the office of District Attorney of Lackawanna County; therefore, be it Resolved, That the House extends its profound sympathy to the widow and the son and daughter of the late, Hugh J. Brady, who have been bereft of their husband and father, and that this resolution be spread upon the Journal of the House, and a copy thereof be forwarded by the Chief Clerk to the widow of the deceased.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. LONGO. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, March 26, 1945, at 9 p. m.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 1:13 p. m.) the House adjourned.

Session 1945. 136th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 29. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, MARCH 26, 1945. No. 33.

SENATE

MONDAY, March 26, 1945.

The Senate met at 4:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

O Thou who are "infinite in Thy being, wisdom, power, holiness, justice, goodness and truth" give us the desire to imitate Thee in these respects. Thou hast given us the right to be called the sons of God, but we know that we have no claim to that title until we have exercised the right by our own act of faith in Thee, and our obedience to Thy righteous law. We can deny Thee; we can violate Thy law, but the nation or person who does this must pay the penalty of death. Keep us, we pray Thee, from such disaster.

May we thank Thee from sincere hearts for the blessings, spiritual and material, that are ours.

We thank Thee for our country and nation. Preserve us, O God, united and, under Thy leadership, able to overcome all our enemies.

May all our leaders, civil, military and religious, follow the Lord of Hosts, whose banners have never been lowered, and who never compromises with evil.

Guide the members of this Senate in all their duties here and in all their relations elsewhere.

In the name of the Father, Son and Holy Spirit. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. EALY, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

We have with us today Lieutenant Frank Moses, of Concordville, and his wife, who is a Harrisburg Queen.

He also returned to the Senate, Senate Bill No. 384, entitled:

An Act to repeal section three hundred twenty and part of section three hundred twenty-one of the act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1225) entitled "An act concerning game and other wild birds and wild animals and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" eliminating the provisions of said act which require licensees to forward to the commission reports of game and fur-bearing animals killed during the previous season with the information that the House has passed the same without amendments.

HOUSE MESSAGE

SENATE BILL No. 18 RETURNED WITH AMENDMENTS

He also returned to the Senate, Senate Bill No. 18, entitled:

An Act to amend sections one and two of the act approved the eighteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 1303) entitled "An act to regulate the sale of certain hypnotic analgesic and body-weight reduction drugs in the interest of public health" by redefining the meaning of "other hypnotic drugs or analgesic drug or body-weight reducing drug" and adding "inhalers" to the remedies permitted to be sold at retail with the information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

The PRESIDENT. The bill, as amended, will appear on tomorrow's Calendar.

He also presented an extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives which was twice read as follows and referred to the Committee on Rules:

CIVIL AIR PATROL DAY

In the House of Representatives, March 20, 1945.

There is a little known volunteer organization within this Commonwealth made up of men who have freely given of their time in the defense of their country.

The organization is known as the Civil Air Patrol and it has not only spent countless hours patrolling by air the coasts of the nation, but has actually participated in the destruction of enemy submarines.

The organization has airships based at and operated from airfields in Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Harrisburg, Reading and most of the other important airfields within the Commonwealth.

The City of Pittsburgh has recently set aside a day as "Civil Air Patrol Day" during which a drive was made to secure air cadets for the Army and to give them preliminary training; therefore, be it

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth hereby suggests to His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, that he designate and set aside a day to be known as "Civil Air Patrol Day" and that he shall issue a proclamation calling upon the various municipalities and the public schools of the Commonwealth to arrange for the dissimination of information relating to the work of the Civil Air Patrol and its accomplishments in order to stimulate interest in its work and obtain additional air cadets for the Army; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House to His Excellency, the Governor.

COMMUNICATIONS

SENATOR DENT. Mr. President, I have here a letter addressed to His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, relating to the Fair Employment Practice Act. It is a letter from Philip Murray, head of the C.I.O., Steelworkers Organization of the United States.

This letter is very important, because under the jurisdiction of the Committee on Industrial Organizations there comes the daily dealing with this particular problem, and I believe the viewpoint of the man who heads this large labor organization, which is made up of all elements within the state, ought to be recorded in the Legislative Journal, and I therefore present to the Chair this open letter addressed to the Governor and ask that it be incorporated in the Legislative Journal, and also included in the Appendix.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection the request of the gentleman from Westmoreland is granted.

March 23, 1945.

Honorable Edward H. Martin
Governor of Pennsylvania
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Dear Governor Martin:

I am writing you this public letter to lift above the realm of partisan politics the need for state legislation to eliminate discrimination in employment because of race, creed, color or national origin.

The action of Governor Thomas Dewey in signing such a bill in neighboring New York State on March 12th, demonstrates its non-partisan character. The passage of the bill by a ninety percent vote in the New York Senate together with its joint advocacy by Republicans and Democrats give further emphasis to the fact that anti-discrimination legislation runs to the very heart of America's form of government. Fair and equal employment treatment of all citizens is a cardinal principle of the American philosophy of democracy. All good citizens must agree with the New York Governor who said in signing the bill:

"By this act the State declares the simple principle that in employment there shall be no discrimination by reason of race, creed, color or national origin. It expresses the rule that must be fundamental in any free society—that no man shall be deprived of the chance to earn his bread by reason of the circumstances of his birth."

There are before the Legislature two main bills to accomplish this objective in Pennsylvania on which hearings are to be held March 27th. I have carefully examined both measures, and find that Senate Bill No. 444 to amend the State Labor Relations Act does not withstand legal examination. It would create two separate standards for private and government employment and hence is clearly unconstitutional, and of course undesirable. New York State also has a State Labor Relations Act, but it did not attempt to abolish employment discriminations through an amendment, because it would be illegal and impractical. I am happy, therefore, to learn that you have disclaimed Senate Bill No. 444.

I commend to your attention and that of the Legislature House Bill No. 354, introduced by the distinguished Legislator, Homer S. Brown, to establish a Fair Employment Practice Commission. This bill is essentially the same as the New York bill, both in substantive content and administrative procedure. Acknowledged experts in New York worked out the details of its bill, which was drafted by a non-partisan commission of twenty-three members. The Brown Bill does not vary from the New York Statute in any essential, and thus merits the uncritical support of all Pennsylvanians regardless of party affiliation.

I therefore urge you to address a special message to the Legislature requesting the unanimous passage of the Brown Bill so that Pennsylvania can proudly take its place alongside of New York in allaying among various groups in the community the social tensions that have been accentuated by the war.

Sincerely yours,

PHILIP MURRAY, President.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, gentlemen of the Senate, tomorrow there will appear in the Legislative Chamber of this great State Capitol the representatives of a large number of groups and races of people who make up the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, who will come from the four corners of this state to urge upon our lawmakers the wisdom of the passage of a bill now before our Legislature, to outlaw discrimination against persons on account of their race, color, religion or national origin, in seeking gainful employment. This bill is popularly known as the State Fair Employment Practice Bill.

In light of our State and Federal Constitutions which have embraced therein, in strong and unambiguous terms many equalitarian features, guaranteeing the right to life, liberty, the pursuit of happiness, and so forth, it would seem to the average layman that such unusual measures as those encouched in the proposed legislation would not be necessary to protect an American working man, yea —a native-born American, whose skin happens to bear a slightly different color from mine, or whose religious belief may be different from the majority. But I say to you, Mr. Lieutenant-Governor and my colleagues in the Pennsylvania Senate, such legislation does now become very necessary—and Mr. Lieutenant-Governor, my colleagues, there came to my attention a few days ago a brilliant article entitled "The Upgrading of the Negro Status by Supreme Court Decisions" by that able and distinguished lawyer and one of the leaders of the Philadelphia Bar, Raymond Pace Alexander, Esquire, published in full in the Legal Intelligencer of Philadelphia on February 19, 1945, describing in meticulous detail, after a painstaking research of all of the decisions of the United States Supreme Court, how the Negro people of this great country of ours, now numbering fifteen million persons, have, in spite of the guarantees of their State and Federal Constitution, had to fight, fight, fight, through the various local and county courts of their cities and states up to the Supreme Court of our land, time and again, in hundreds of cases from the date of their emancipation in 1865 up to this very date, for the very basic, fundamental and necessary things of life, such as the right to travel on trains in interestate commerce, the right to vote, the right to live and buy property where they wish, the right to an education free from discrimination and segregation, the right of their teachers to be paid salaries equal to white teachers, the right of a fair trial, the right to serve on a jury, the right to join labor unions, and so forth.

Mr. Lieutenant-Governor and my colleagues, I wish to offer this scholarly article by Raymond Pace Alexander, Esquire, a distinguished Philadelphia lawyer, past president of the National Bar Association, to be made a part of the records and minutes of the Assembly of this Senate body in this session of the Senate as testimony of the struggle of fifteen million Negro people of America, five hundred thousand of whom reside within our own state, to achieve full citizenship status in the land of their fathers and forefathers.

No greater evidence of the urgent need at this moment for the passage of strong legislation giving all people, regardless of race, color, religion or national origin, can be demonstrated than by having you, my colleagues, and the people of this State, read the struggle not yet fully won, of the Negro people of America to obtain only part of that which our Constitution and Bill of Rights guarantee them to be a truly free people, a free and full-pledged first-class American citizen and not a race of people relegated to a second class citizenship.

I ask Mr. Lieutenant-Governor, presiding officer of this great Senate Body, that this article be made a part of the records and minutes of this Session of the Senate of our great State.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

EXTENDED REMARKS

THE UPGRADING OF THE NEGRO'S STATUS BY SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

Address by Raymond Pace Alexander, member of Philadelphia Bar, former president of National Bar Association, delivered recently at the Annual Meeting of the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History, Fanueil Hall, Boston, Mass.

The first recorded issue of color in the social order came with the emergence of Christianity and we seemed never to have been able to free ourselves from its overwhelming influence from that time until the present.

In the Revelation of St. Peter at Joppa, it was declared that all races were of equal standing:

"Whom God hath cleansed, call not thou common or unclean."

This is the first statement of the doctrine of equality in terms of race.

In America as in no other country of the world, the impact of two races of different color living together in large numbers, developed forces that play upon and determine the conduct, behavior, attitude, and philosophy, not only of the individual, but the State and Nation, and these have been vitally important influences in developing National character as a whole, from a political and social point of view.

For many years, therefore, so many in fact, we of the Negro race almost despaired of a change, it became almost an established fact that if America had any general policy of race relations at all, it was one of racial segregation and discrimination. This policy had its roots and background in that soul—destroying institution of slavery, a malignant growth in democracy which, like the deadly disease that it was, left its cancerous influences to spread to other parts of the National body to cast up its ugly and poisonous head in the civic, political, and social life of America with increasing frequency

Since 1865, the Negro people of America, and thousands of their liberal and courageous white friends, have insisted that a true democracy could be achieved for all people, regardless of color, and that there should be no citizens of the "second cless." But all of us know, regardless of how we may try, that there are millions of people in America, many of them of considerable wealth and influence, many of whom occupy high places in our State and National Government, and I deeply regret to say, in our churches, colleges, social welfare organizations and the like, who are still unwilling to believe that democracy in America should embrace in theory and practice, the Negro. We believe that the frontiers of America consist of more than its physical geographical limits of land, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, made up of mountains and valleys, forests and plains, rivers and lakes. We believe that America has as well, a democratic frontier springing from its very National Constitution and its Bill of Rights which embraces its underlying socio-political philosophy, which, by its very words and their inescapable meaning, were made to include all people regardless of race and color.

It is the assault on these democratic frontiers that has occupied the minds and attention of the leaders of Negro life and actions, the organizations and associations for their social, economic, and political advancement, and, as concerns the subject of this paper particularly, the Negro lawyers of America.

That there has been a change, however, in the "conduct, behavior, attitude, and philosophy" in the field of interracial relations and, in the last two decades, a pronounced advance and upgrading in the social, economic, and political status of the Negro, there can be no denial. To what forces and influences may be credited this upgrading, and in what manner the field of law, the common law, Federal statutes, and Federal directives contributed to this happy advance in race relations, may be answered in part in the following analysis.

It should be understood at the outset that what we call the great American Constitution, the body of laws adopted in 1787, does not mention civil rights at all. It was not until 1789, two years later, what we familiarly call the Bill of Rights (the first 10 Amendments to the Constitution) were adopted. The Declaration of Independence, which was preliminary to both the Constitution and the Bill of Rights, was in reality a Proclamation of Freedom; a Declaration from Englishmen in America against other Englishmen in the British Isles that they no longer could suffer the long series of abuses heaped upon them by the British Crown which acted as a tyrant, and that they therefore had the right, even the duty, to throw off such a yoke of government which was so oppressive and set up a new social order for the future of themselves and their posterity.

In 1787 when the discussion of the Bill of Rights (the first ten amendments) was at its height, the delegates were concerned about the encroaching of the Federal Government on the power of the States. This was entirely natural because of the unhappy experiences of these men under the rule of the British Crown just recently shaken off. These ten amendments therefore protected the individual against Government or Federal usurpation of power. Thus began, to the Negro's great loss and deteriment, the theory of States' rights so frequently imbedded in the early laws and judicial decisions.

No one ever seemed to realize that the individual would soon need protection against the action of the States whose laws and acts were later designed to deny many millions of persons, the Negro people within their borders, of the basic rights of citizenship.

For all practical purposes because of the very small number of free Negroes in the United States at the time of the adoption of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights, it could be stated that the Negroes were not considered as a special class or any sizable minority as such. After the War of Independence and the following period of adjustment, next came the 20 years of heated sectional disputes between the North and the South on slavery and abolition, ending with the Civil War, the Emancipation Proclamation and the three great war amendments, the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to the Federal Constitution.

The thirteenth amendment, adopted in 1865, abolished slavery as well as involuntary servitude throughout the country. The fourteenth amendment endowed the Negro with citizenship in the United States and the several States in which he resided. The fourteenth amendment was passed in 1866. The fifteenth amendment (passed in 1870 when the Ku Klux Klan was at its height) provided that it was unlawful for any State to deny the citizen the right to vote.

Now began the long struggle of a nation of people of one color, representing roughly 10 per cent of the population, within a nation of people of another color, representing the other 90 percent of the population for social, economic and political adjustment between these two groups.

To whom did these newly created citizens look for the protection of these newly created rights, who just yesterday were held in bondage as chattels by the laws and customs of the States in which they lived? To the States? Manifestly not, but to their new creator of these rights, the Federal Government. Then suddenly these great sons of early patriots, whose forefathers a few generations previously had fought a bloody war to free themselves from the very yokes and obstacles to freedom, the like of which these new citizens of color were seeking, used all sorts of devices, tenuous and specious arguments to deny these new freed men the privileges and immunities of citizenship which were so recently accorded them.

The path to advancement and upgrading of the American Negro was a long and arduous one fraught with the drama of hopes fulfilled, to be later destroyed by one device or another by acts not alone of the legislatures of the former slave-holding States, but by the Federal legislature and the courts themselves.

Without going into detail to support the last-mentioned statement because of the length of the subject, there were five statutes passed by Congress after the war known as the civil rights bills, which were passed to strengthen the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth amendments and the enforcement of the same by an elaborate program of Federal protection designed to protect the freed men in all their basic and fundamental civil and political rights.

The first decision of the Supreme Court of the United States interpreting the fourteenth amendment of the Constitution was in the famous slaughterhouse cases (The Butchers' Benevolent Association of New Orleans v. Crescent City Livestock Co. et. al., 83 U. S. 36 [1872]. This decision showed how quickly the Supreme Court attempted, and successfully so, to whittle away the protection that was so valiantly fought for and incorporated in our Constitution and Bill of Rights after a bitter struggle. In this divided opinion by a none too learned justice, Mr. Justice Samuel F. Miller, the court gave the narrowest possible construction to the fourteenth amendment and held that this amendment protected rights springing from Federal citizenship, and the decision held that Federal citizenship was different from State citizenship and rights inherent in State citizenship were not subject to the protection of the fourteenth amendment.

The facts of this case did not even directly or indirectly have anything to do with the Negro. It was solely and exclusively the construction of a statute of the State of Louisiana granting a monopoly to one corporation for the slaughtering of animals over a wide area. The court held that the State had enforced a valid exercise of its police power in protecting the health of the people of the States. It would seem, as professors of this branch of the law have stated time and again in trying to understand the decision, that the fourteenth amendment was not even involved in this case. Mr. Justice Miller wrote the opinion for the majority of five, but a most brilliant, able and very exhaustive dissenting opinion was filed by Mr. Justice Fields, in which the Chief Justice, Salmon P. Chase, and Mr. Justices Bradley and Swayne joined. These justices attacked the reasoning of the majority as "tenuous and specious." This was the era termed by the Negroes "Knocking at Closed Court Room Doors."

Gradually, by narrow construction mostly on the opinions of a divided court, especially in the famous civil rights cases in which Negroes brought prosecution in their various States for discrimination on the railroad, in theatres, at hotels, etc., the Supreme Court held these and like statutes unconstitutional, thereby taking from the purpose of these fine enforcement acts the very vitals and underlying reasons for which these great equalitarian acts were passed, over the hostile objections of a large minority in the Congress. (See Civil Rights' cases, viz. United States v. Stanley (Kentucky), United States v. Ryan (California), United States v. Nichols (Missouri), United States v. Singleton (New York), Robertson v. Memphis and Charleston Railway (Tennessee) 109 U. S. 3 (1883). The majority opinions in the civil rights cases were written by Mr. Justice Bradley, who held that the civil rights cases were unconstitutional. There was a single minority opinion by the great and learned Justice John M. Harlan. This opinion reads like the present majority opinions of the brilliant justices of the Supreme Court as it is composed today, and would do justice to the great legal philosopher now among the departed, the late Mr. Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, and the other two members of that brilliant triumvirate of dissenters, the late Mr. Justices Louis D. Brandeis and Benjamin N. Cardozo.

Mr. Justice Harlan stated the following: "I cannot resist the conclusion that the substance and spirit of the recent amendments to the Constitution have been sacrificed by a subtle and ingenious verbal crtiticism. . . . Congress has power to enforce by appropriate legislation the provisions of this article. . . . Was it the purpose of the Nation simply to destroy the institution of slavery and then remit the race, theretofore held in bondage, to the several States for such protection, in their civil rights, as those States, in their discretion, might choose to provide? . . . I insist that the National legislature may, without transcending the limits of the Constitution, do for human liberty and the fundamental rights of American citizenship, what it did, with the sanction of this court, for the protection of slavery and the rights of the master of fugitive slaves." Justice Harlan was obviously referring to the case of Dred Scott. (Dred Scott v. Sanford, 60 U. S. 393 (1856).

It seems to be conclusive and inescapable, therefore, that the safest and most certain guaranty of justice is the personality of the judge or judges who pass on the merits of a particular case. His intellectual and spiritual honesty and integrity and his moral courage are the tests upon which the future of the people, State or Nation, may eventually depend. With the decision just mentioned and the legend of cases following, there was but a single voice in the deep wilderness growing weaker as the strain of years bore heavily upon him that spoke up in support of the then 5,000,000 people of the darker races for whom the majority of Congress in framing the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth amendments, intended that they should achieve and enjoy the full rights of American citizenship. That was the voice of Mr. Justice John M. Harlan. It was not until a new voice ascended to the Supreme Court bench that a new philosophy of thought began to find utterance in behalf of the underprivileged and the minorities of all races, colors and creeds in this great commonwealth of states. That voice was the voice of the great judicial scholar and philosopher, the late distinguished jurist, Oliver Wendell Holmes, of Massachusetts.

During the early years of Mr. Justice Holmes' tenure on the bench, Mr. Chief Justice White and Mr. Justice Day were often heard in brilliant decisions in support of the issues about which the subject of this paper treats. This was the "Era of Cracking the Court Room Doors."

The Right to Vote

It was not until about the year 1918 that the Negro began to obtain a favorable audience and a sympathetic ear in our Federal Supreme Court. The first successful case was that involving the attack on the famous grandfather clauses in the Southern States, notably the case of Guinn v. United States, 238 U. S., 347 (1915), in an opinion by Chief Justice White. The facts of the case are briefly as follows: In the year 1910 the Constitution of Oklahoma was amended, restricting the franchise or the right to vote by what is known as a "grandfather clause," which provided that no persons could be registered unless he was able to read and write. In addition, the clause provided that should a person be denied the right to vote because he could not read or write, if he lived in some foreign country prior to January 1, 1866, or if he was eligible to register prior to that date, or if his lineal ancestor was eligible as of that date, then he was exempted and could register and vote. Of course, before 1866 Negroes were not eligible to vote at all, so the law very definitely and pointedly disfranchised the Negroes. As a result of the failure to allow Negroes to vote, certain of the election officials were indicted under the Constitution provision and eventually the case reached the Federal Supreme Court at a time when several other States had similar cases pending covering the very same type of grandfather clauses. The decision in the instant case was decisive of all cases awaiting judicial interpretation. Mr. Chief Justice White, writing for the majority of the court, outlawed this statute as clearly unconstitutional, with the following biting words:

". . . While this piece of legislation contains no express words of an exclusion, from the standard which it establishes, of any persons on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude prohibited by the fifteenth amendment, . . . the standard itself inherently brings that result to existence, since it is based purely on a period of time before the enactment of the fifteenth amendment and makes that period the controlling and dominant test of the right of suffrage."

This ended for quite a long while the attempts on the part of the various Southern States to deny Negroes the right to register and vote at the primary and in the general election. It was not until some years later, about which I will discuss in a moment, that the famous Texas primary cases came before the Supreme Court with varying results until a most recent case which outlawed all such attempts to deny the Negro his right to vote, as unlawful and a violation of the Federal Constitution.

Cases Involving Neighborhood Segregation

The right of people of color to purchase property and freely enjoy the rights of citizenship in a city or State by building or owning property and living therein in the various sections of a city or State without discrimination or segregation, has always been one in which the Negro has encountered great difficulties. A particularly important decision in the United States Supreme Court involving this very question was the case of Buchanan v. Warley, 245 U. S. 16 (1917), known as the "Louisville Segregation Case." The facts, briefly, are as follows:

A colored man by the name of Buchanan bought a piece of property in the City of Louisville, Ky., and when the seller refused to settle when Buchanan tendered his money, he filed a bill for specific performance for the contract of sale. The defendant stated that Buchanan was a Negro and by virtue of an ordinance of the City of Louisville he would be unable to occupy the land in a white block. Buchanan stated that the ordinance was in conflict with the fourteenth amendment of the Federal Constitution, but the Court of Appeals of Kentucky held that the ordinance was valid on the ground that the ordinance prohibited whites from living in Negro neighborhoods and Negroes from living in white neighborhoods, and any violation was punishable by criminal prosecution.

The Supreme Court of the United States, in an opinion by Mr. Justice Day, reversed the Court of Appeals of Kentucky and held:

"As we have seen, this court has held laws valid which separate races on the basis of equal accommodations in public conveyances, the courts of high authorities have held enactments lawful which provide for the separation in public schools of white and colored pupils where equal privileges are given. But in view of the right secured by the fourteenth amendment of the Federal Constitution, such legislation must have its limitations, and cannot be sustained where the exercise of authority exceeds the restraints of this Constitution."

"We think these limitations are exceeded in laws and ordinances of the character now before us.

". . . It is said that such acquisitions by colored people depreciate property owned in the neighborhood by white people. But property may be acquired by undesirable white neighbors or put to disagreeable uses . . . with like results.

"We think this attempt to prevent the alienation of the property in question to a person of color was not a legitimate exercise of the police power of the State, and it is a violation of the fundamental law enacted in the fourteenth amendment of the Constitution preventing State interference with property rights except by due process of law. The ordinance cannot stand." This was the old "equal but separate" theory.

While the Negro was very happy to get this decision from the Supreme Court outlawing this Louisville ordinance, nevertheless there was much danger in the phraseology of Mr. Justice Day, particularly in the first paragraph just mentioned. ". . . This court has held laws valid which separate the races on the basis of equal accommodations in public conveyances . . . and for the separation in the public schools of white and colored pupils. . . ." These statements of the learned justice came back to haunt the Negro in later appeals to the Supreme Court in cases involving the separation of races in public conveyances and the separation of white and colored pupils in public schools and gave to a none too willing majority judicial excuse for the support of much discriminatory legislation.

Right of Fair Trial

Following the decisions of our highest court, in chronological order, in order that we may more easily trace the development of sentiment in the upgrading of the Negro in his quest for the full rights of citizenship, the next important case in his long and hard fight for citizenship through judicial interpretations and judicial fiat was the famous Elaine Arkansas Riot Cases (Moore v. Dempsey, 261 U. S., 86 (1923)). The opinion of the majority was rendered by Mr. Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes. A group of Negro farmers were holding a meeting in Phillips County, Ark., for the purpose of organizing and pooling their means as well as their thoughts to obtain a better price for their crops. They were meeting in a colored church at Elaine, Ark., in October, 1919. During the course of the meeting they were fired upon by a group of white men from the outside, as a result of which a riot took place, many of the Negroes fighting back for the protection of their own lives, during the course of which some whites were killed. Seventy-nine Negro men were arrested and tried for murder. It was only after a great deal of difficulty and the presence of United States troops that a great mob of people who had marched to the jail for the purpose of lynching these men were prevented from so doing under a promise by members of a local committee who called themselves the "vigilantes" that "if the mob would refrain from their attempts to lynch these men they would execute those found guilty in the form of law." There were many Negro witnesses who were ready to testify in behalf of their fellowmen, but the mob had whipped them so and placed them under such fear of their life that they agreed to testify against the men if they were given their freedom.

Those 79 men were brought to trial in an atmosphere completely controlled by mob violence which mob threatened to lynch these defendants if the jury did not convict them. The court appointed counsel for the men, which counsel failed to ask for a change of venue and they called no witnesses in defense of the Negroes, and not one of them was placed upon the stand by their counsel. The trial of the entire 79 men lasted less than one hour, and the jury brought back a verdict in five minutes after it had received instructions, finding all of the men guilty of murder. Twelve were sentenced to death and 67 were sentenced to long prison terms.

The Supreme Court of Arkansas sustained the conviction, and then an appeal to the United States Supreme Court followed.

Mr. Justice Holmes, in reversing the opinion of the Supreme Court, had this to say: "In Frank v. Mangum, 237 U. S. 309 (the famous Leo Frank Case) . . . it was recognized . . . that if in fact a trial is dominated by a mob so that there is an actual interference with the course of justice, there is a departure from due process of law; and that if the State supplying no corrective process carries into execution a judgment of death or imprisonment based upon a verdict thus produced by mob domination, the State deprives the accused of his life or liberty without "due process of law. . . . If the case is such that the whole proceeding is a mask that counsel, jury and judge were swept to the fatal end by an irrestible wave of public passion, and that the State courts failed to correct the wrong, neither perfection in the machinery for correction nor the possibility that the trrial court and counsel saw no other way of avoiding an immediate outbreak of the mob, can prevent this court from a securing to the petitioners their constitutional rights."

In chronological order again, the Supreme Court, in the famous New Orleans Segregation Case (Harmon v. Tyler, 273 U. S. 668 (1926), reversed in a per curiam decision the attempt on the part of the City of New Orleans to set up segregated districts for colored people in which only colored could live and white districts in which white only could live, on the authority of Buchannan v. Warley, above referred to.

I have alrealy referred to the devious methods by which the Southern States attempted to deny the Negro the right to vote in their various Democratic primary elections in discussing the Oklahoma grandfather clause cases. The first famous Texas primary case was that of Nixon v. Herndon, 273 U. S. 536 (1927), in which Mr. Justice Holmes denied the right of the State of Texas to refuse a Negro, Dr. L. A. Nixon, the privilege of voting and participating in a Democratic primary election held in the State of Texas. Of course, the Supreme Court of Texas sustained the right of the election board to refuse Dr. Nixon. He carried his case to the Supreme Court and this is what Mr. Justice Holmes had to say:

"The statute of Texas in the case referred to assumes to forbid Negroes to take part in the primary election, the importance of which we have indicated, discriminating against them by the distinction of color alone. States may do a good deal of classifying that it is difficult to believe rational, but there are limits, and it is too clear for extended argument that color cannot be made the basis of a statutory classification affecting the rights set up in this case."

There followed in 1930 a per curiam decision sustaining the Supreme Court of Virginia in outlawing a Richmond segregation case of the same type discussed heretofore in the Louisville and New Orleans segregation cases. This was the case of the City of Richmond v. Deans, 281 U. S. 704 (1930), and it is refreshing to know that the Supreme Court of Virginia decided that the Richmond ordinance was unconstitutional.

Not to be outdone by the first Texas primary case, the State of Texas promptly passed a new statute empowering the State Democratic Committee to set up its own limitations in primary elections, immediately after the decision of the Federal Supereme Court in the famous case of Nixon v. Herndon, supra. The State of Texas Executive Committee of the Democratic Party adopted the resolution "that all white Democrats who were qualified under the Constitution and Laws of Texas . . . and none others shall be allowed to participate in the primary elections of the State of Texas." Dr. Nixon also determined not to be outdone by this devious method of circumventing the decision of the highest court of the land, again presented himself to the election officials in his district to qualify to vote in the Democratic primary. Being refused this privilege, he immediately brought suit for damages in the Federal courts under the civil rights statute. The case was dismissed in the lower court and taken to the United States Supreme Court, and it is to be noted that four justices of our Federal Supreme Court, Mr. Justices McReynolds, Van Devanter, Sutherland and Butler, dissented from the opinion of the majority, thereby the voice of one lone person on the Supreme bench being the difference between allowing State Democratic committees in the Southern States the powerful right to disfranchise 9,000,000 Negroes within the borders of their States. Mr. Justice Cardozo, speaking for the majority of the court, in the customary beautiful and brilliantly turned phrases of which he was an acknowledged master, said the following:

"Barred from voting at a primary, the petitioner has been, and this for the sole reason that his color is not white. The result for him is no different from what it was when his cause was here before. The argument for the respondent (Texas Democratic Committee) is, however, that identity of result has been attained, though through essential diversity of methods. We are reminded that the fourteenth amendment is the restraint upon the State and not upon private persons unconnected with a State. . . . With the problem thus laid bare and its essentials exposed to view, the cases seem to be ruled by Nixon v. Herndon. . . . Delegates of the States . . . have discharged their official functions in such a way as to discriminate invidiously between white citizens and black. The fourteenth amendment, adopted as it was with special solicitude for the equal protection of members of the Negro race, lays a duty upon the court to level by its judgment these barriers of color."

The Right to be Called for Jury Service; the Right of Representation by Counsel

A most important series of cases were argued in the Supreme Court on the right of the Negro to serve on both the trial jury and the grand jury in the various States in the South. Perhaps the most important of these cases was the famous "Scottsboro Case" (Powell v. Alabama, 287 U. S. 45 (1932)).

In this case the fundamental questions of the right of an accused to be represented by counsel was thoroughly considered by the court. The Supreme Court held that the right to counsel meant the right of the accused to have an opportunity to confer with his counsel, the right to subpoena witnesses and compel them to appear at trial, the right to have an adequate opportunity to prepare his case for trial and to be heard both by himself and his counsel in the latter's right to address the court and jury in his behalf.

In the second trip of this same case to the Supreme Court the questions of the continuus and systematic exclusion of Negroes from service on the grand and petit juries of the State of Alabama came up for review. This court, in 1935 (Norris v. Alabama, 294 U. S. 587, 55 S. Ct. 579, and the companion case of Peterson v. Alabama, 294 U. S. 600, 55 S. Ct. 575) declared such practice to be illegal restraint upon these constitutional rights and a denial of due process to the Negro defendant, and again reversed the conviction of the court of Alabama. See Strauder v. West Virginia (1879), 100 U. S. 339; Neal v. Delaware (1880), 103 U. S. 370.

Freedom of Speech and Assembly

In the case of Herndon v. Lowery, 301 U. S. 242, decided in 1937, the question of the constitutionality of an old Georgia statute against insurrection was called in question. Here, a young Negro named Angelo Herndon was charged with distributing literature of the Communist Party in a rural Georgia town in which literature he urged the Negro farmer and sharecropper to organize for their protection and to attend meetings sponsored by the Communist Party. He was tried and convicted under the old George insurrection statute and sentenced to life imprisonment. The Supreme Court held this statute unconstitutional as an unreasonable limitation to freedom of speech and assembly in violation of the due process clause of the Federal Constitution in that the statute was too vague and failed to furnish a sufficiently ascertainable standard of guilt.

The Texas Primary Decision Upholding the White Primary

The State of Texas finally achieved a victory in its attempt to disfranchise the million Negroes within its borders in the case of Grovey v. Townsend, 295 U. S. 45, decided in 1936. This victory, however, as disastrous as it was in the pursuit of the Negro in his march to full citizenship, was, happily for the cause of American democracy, only a temporary one. It did last, however, eight years, from 1936 to April 1944, when the recent case of Smith v. Allwright et al. (decided April 3, 1944) was handed down by a strong majority opinion of eight and only one dissent.

The Supreme Court in the Grovey case, in an opinion by Mr. Justice Owen J. Roberts, sustained the right of the Texas State Democratic Committee to set up qualifications of persons to vote in the Democratic Primary election It made no difference whether these persons were to vote in State or Federel elections. The court said that the Texas Democratic Convention was not a State agency, and though the laws of the State of Texas provided how and when State primaries would be held, yet this did not make the Texas State Democratic Convention a State agency, and that it could, similarly to a private club, regulate who should be admitted as members.

The case of Jeff Hollins (Hollins v. Oklahoma, 295 U. S. 294 (1935)), presented another issue of the right to be represented by counsel on the second trial of this case. The facts are very interesting and can be briefly stated as follows: The defendant Hollins was convicted December 29, 1931, at a trial which was held in the basement of the prison in Sapula, Okla. He was charged with rape. There was no lawyer appointed for him and none to advise him on his rights and none to represent him at trial. He was found guilty of murder and sentenced to death. A stay of execution was had three days before his scheduled execution. The Supreme Court of Oklahoma reversed this conviction and sent it back for a new trial.

At the second trial of the case the question was raised in the lower court and argued in the United States Supreme Court on the jury panel called to try this defendant. The Supreme Court in a per curiam decision on the basis of earlier decisions declared this to be a denial of due process and therefore the conviction to be void.

Forced Confession of Defendants by Physical Violence

The extortion of confessions from defendants charged in criminal cases by force, physical torture, threats and violence has given rise to a long series of cases in the various Southern States, many of which have been appealed to the highest Federal tribunal. The most noteworthy of these cases and the one that has given a strong admonition to the States that have been guilty of such conduct is the case of Brown, Ellington and Shields v. State of Mississippi, 297 U. S. 278 (1936). In this case the defendants were indicted for the murder of one Raymond Stewart in April of 1934. They entered pleas of not guilty. The court appointed counsel to defend them and they were found guilty and sentenced to death.
